Safe Boating Weather Tips-- Because You Know the Weather United States. National Weather Service,1998

Wind, Weather & Waves Arjen Verkaik,Canada. Environment Canada,1998 This guide for boaters in the Great Lakes region begins with basic information about the weather, the atmosphere, clouds, fog, regional and near-shore wind effects, and waves. It also reviews the hazards from thunderstorms, intense lows, and winter conditions, and what boaters can do to face them. It then outlines how to prepare for possible marine emergencies and the hazards associated with immersion in cold water. This is followed by a guide to local conditions on Lake Ontario, Lake Erie, Lake Huron and Georgian Bay, Lake Superior, and smaller lakes such as Simcoe and Nipigon. The final section describes marine weather services available in the Great Lakes region and how to access marine weather forecast information. Includes index.

Marine Weather Forecasting J. Frank Brumbaugh,2000 Have you ever listened to a weather forecast stating there may be a slight chance of showers but the rain is coming down so hard you are seriously considering a lifejacket while standing on the dock? During such times, one suggestion to the forecaster runs through everyone's mind: Look out the window!! That is certainly one of the most accurate methods to forecast the immediate weather. Everyone knows the look of the sky when a thunderstorm or squall is moving in, but few know how to determine what is in store more than a few hours ahead. Frank has taken the mystery out of weather forecasting in his book Marine Weather Forecasting. He explains how to tell more about the weather, for hours and days to come, than any broadcast. But you must know what to look for when you go on deck. The wind, clouds, moon and sun all tell the story and Frank explains how to read these signs. Anyone can understand Frank's detailed descriptions of forecasting and the illustrations add to the ease. Caution: After reading this book you may never rely on another broadcast report. Illustrated
