Let's Learn and Play! Construction Priddy Books,Roger Priddy,2023-06-06
Explore the construction site with Let's Learn & Play! Construction by Priddy Books. This interactive non-fiction title is aimed at children aged three and over. Packaged in a sturdy case with a magnetic fastening, there is a board book with die-cut spaces to fit in over 20 shaped puzzle pieces. These pieces complete the busy scenes of four different construction sites, from building a house and fixing the road to creating an outside play area and working in a quarry. Each of the illustrated pages is full of things for children to spot and look for as they learn about how construction sites work. This book is great for encouraging problem solving skills as well as hand-eye coordination. There are bitesize facts to learn and questions to answer as children explore each scene.

Construction Walter Foster Custom Creative Team,2014-09-13 This interactive book introduces young children to the world of the bustling construction site. Vibrantly illustrated background, stickers, and punch-outs come together to provide hours of imaginative fun. The background scene, a stand-up panorama of the construction site, is perfect for stickering as the child envisions his very own site, and then serves as the backdrop to punch-out playtime. The sturdy punch-outs are perfectly sized for little hands, and include boy and girl workers and machinery. Stickers include jackhammer, hard hats, toolboxes, and more. All together, it makes for interactive play and limitless fun.

A Primer of Stagecraft Henning Nelms,1941 A practical, thorough and simple explanation of all the necessary processes connected with the building of theater sets. A standard working text for high schools, colleges and little theaters.

On building a theatre Irving Pichel,2022-08-21 On building a theatre: Stage construction and equipment for small theatres, schools and community by Irving Pichel was first published in 1920, but it's managed to retain a surprising amount of relevance. It's a manual that aims to help schools and community theater programs build a proper stage and bring their stories to life through captivating performances, even if you have to build it from scratch.

Construction Zone Cheryl Willis Hudson,2017-08 Put on your hard hat and step inside the construction zone: you're invited on a virtual tour of a building in progress. Put on your hard hat and step inside CONSTRUCTION ZONE! Caution! Construction zone ahead! Anyone who has ever stopped to watch a big building going up - and who hasn't? - will be thrilled by this behind-the-scenes look at an amazing construction project. Young readers are invited to come on a virtual tour of a building in progress, led by award-winning photographer Richard Sobol. It takes hundreds of workers, thousands of trucks and machines, and millions of nails and bolts to transform an idea on paper into an actual building in which people will live, play, shop, or work. Every single piece of the construction puzzle - big and small - must fit together flawlessly. With a clear, direct narrative and handy definitions of construction-related jobs, machines, and terms, Cheryl Willis Hudson distills this most complex of projects into language a young child can grasp. The building itself - the Stata Center at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, designed by Pritzker Prize-winning architect Frank O. Gehry - is playful and colorful, sculpted to excite, delight, and surprise. Richard Sobol's vivid color photographs capture all the excitement of the busy construction site, while offering a close-up view of its breathtaking genius.

The Museum Educator's Manual Anna Johnson,Kimberly A. Huber,Nancy Cutler,Melissa Bingmann,Tim Grove,2017-08-09 The Museum Educator's Manual addresses the role museum educators play in today's museums from an experience-based perspective. Seasoned museum educators author each chapter, emphasizing key programs along with case studies that provide successful examples, and demonstrate a practical foundation for the daily operations of a museum education department, no matter how small. The book covers: volunteer and docent management and training; exhibit development; program and event design and implementation; working with families, seniors, and teens; collaborating with schools and other institutions; and funding. This second edition interweaves technology into every aspect of the manual and includes two entirely new chapters, one on Museums - An Educational Resource for Schools and another on Active Learning in Museums. With invaluable checklists, schedules, organizational charts, program examples, and other how-to documents included throughout, The Museum Educator's Manual is a 'must have' book for any museum educator.

Deconstructing LEGO Jonathan Rey Lee,2020-09-08 This book investigates a paradox of creative yet scripted play—how LEGO invites players to build ‘freely’ with and within its highly structured, ideologically-laden toy system. First, this book considers theories and methods for deconstructing LEGO as a medium of bricolage, the creative reassembly of already-significant elements. Then, it pieces together readings of numerous LEGO sets, advertisements, videogames, films, and other media that show how LEGO constructs five ideologies of play: construction play, dramatic play, digital play, transmedia play, and attachment play. From suburban traffic patterns to architectural croissants, from feminized mini-doll bodies to toys-to-life stories, from virtual construction to playful fan creations, this book explores how the LEGO medium conveys ideological messages—not by transmitting clear statements but by providing implicit instructions for how to reassemble meanings it had all along.
