Doing business in Africa / druk 2 Marjolein Lem,Rob van Tulder,Kim Geleynse,2013-06-05 More than 2,000 Dutch firms are engaged in business in sub-Saharan Africa. The majority are involved in imports and exports. Their strategies require relatively little investment and allow for quick withdrawals if circumstances require. This approach was well-suited to the days of great political and economic instability that have characterised many African countries for many years, but it is becoming increasingly less appropriate to the Africa of today: an emerging continent with booming business opportunities. This book argues that what is needed in the strategies of Dutch firms is innovation and partnerships with governments and NGOs.This will enable them to seize chances, contribute to development and obtain a sustainable competitive position in Africa.The book describes a novel approach to internationalisation, in which firms manage a large variety of distance dimensions at the same time, while taking three different types of risks into account: operational, strategic and sustainability. -Publisher description.

Unlocking Africa's Business Potential Landry Signé,2020-04-07 Africa welcomes business investment and offers some of the world's highest returns and impacts Africa has tremendous economic potential and offers rewarding opportunities for global businesses looking for new markets and long-term investments with favorable returns. Africa has been one of the world's fastest-growing regions over the past decade, and by 2030 will be home to nearly 1.7 billion people and an estimated $6.7 trillion worth of consumer and business spending. Increased political stability in recent years and improving regional integration are making market access easier, and business expansion will generate jobs for women and youth, who represent the vast majority of the population. Current economic growth and poverty-alleviation efforts mean that more than 43 percent of the continent's people will reach middle- or upper-class status by 2030. Unlocking Africa's Business Potential examines business opportunities in the eight sectors with the highest potential returns on private investment—the same sectors that will foster economic growth and diversification, job creation, and improved general welfare. These sectors include: consumer markets, agriculture and agriprocessing, information and communication technology, manufacturing, oil and gas, tourism, banking, and infrastructure and construction. The book's analysis of these sectors is based on case studies that identify specific opportunities for investment and growth, along with long-term market projections to inform decision-making. The book identifies potential risks to business and offers mitigation strategies. It also provides policymakers with solutions to attract new business investments, including how to remove barriers to business and accelerate development of the private sector.

Africa's Business Revolution Acha Leke,Musta Chironga,George Desvaux,2018-10-30 The Definitive Guide to Doing Business in Africa For global and Africa-based companies looking to access new growth markets, Africa offers exciting opportunities to build large, profitable businesses. Its population is young, fast-growing, and increasingly urbanized--while rapid technology adoption makes the continent a fertile arena for innovation. From senior leaders in McKinsey's African offices and a leading executive on the continent, this book draws on in-depth proprietary research by the McKinsey Global Institute as well as McKinsey's extensive experience advising corporate and government leaders across Africa. Brimming with company case studies and exclusive interviews with some of Africa's most prominent executives, this book comes to life with the vibrant stories of those who have navigated the many twists and turns on the road to building successful businesses on the continent. Combining an unrivalled fact base with expert advice on shaping and executing an Africa growth strategy, this book is required reading for global business executives looking to expand their existing operations in Africa--and for those seeking a road map to access this vast, untapped market for the first time.
