A clay door-lock sealing from the Middle Bronze Age III temple at Tel Haror, Israel Baruch Brandl,Pirhiya Nahshoni,Eliezer D. Oren,2017-03-07T00:00:00+01:00 Among the various practices in antiquity designed for administrative control of storage facilities and archives is the stamped clay sealing applied to the wooden lock of a closed door. This specialized type of door-lock sealing is still quite rare in the archaeological record. The discovery during the 1992 excavation season of an exceptionally preserved clay door-lock sealing in the late Middle Bronze Age (MB III; 1590-1530 BCE) sacred precinct at Tel Haror, Israel, is the first to be identified in this region and the first to be recorded in a temple context and is the subject of this study. This unique find qualifies for a detailed description, and for a reconstruction of its lock, key and sealing, as well as a discussion of the locking mechanism system, following the pioneering research on the outstanding corpus of such sealings from Arslantepe, Malatya. In addition, the archaeological context of the sealing and its possible association with the temple will be discussed.

Empowering the Citizen Data Scientist in Everyone David Guggenheim,2023-10-26 This book contains our citizen data science philosophy, theories of machine learning explained in plain English, practical applications for many types of predictive and interpretable models, and the software and datasets required for doing real data science without becoming a data scientist. The data mining process flows, hosted in Jupyter notebooks along with the datasets in the cloud, are complete, and templates are fully populated for all main types of models. In fact, this book is where template-driven data analytics gets its start, but you will decide where it ends as it can be applied to limitless situations. While the backend technology is very advanced, you can use a Chromebook to build, run, and analyze professional-grade machine learning models using this guide.
