Evaluation of Construction-zone Pavement Marking Materials

Kenneth R. Agent, Jerry G. Pigman, 1987 The objectives of this study were to evaluate available foil-back and removable tapes as well as construction-zone raised pavement markers and to recommend materials that should be included on approved lists for use by the Kentucky Department of Highways. Tapes and markers were placed on transverse test sections and the reflectivity, durability, and appearance were observed. Tapes to be included on the approved lists for foil-back and removable tapes were recommended. Tapes manufactured by 3M, Flex-O-Lite, Cataphote, and Swarolite were included on the list of acceptable foil-back tapes. Recommended removable tapes were the 3M and Cataphote removable tapes. Stimsonite 66 and Flex-O-Lite construction-zone markers were included on the approved list for construction-zone raised pavement markers. More specific guidelines were developed to use in future evaluations of construction-zone preformed tape and markers.

A Guidebook for Nighttime Construction Jennifer Sue Shane, Amr Ahmed Kandil, Cliff J. Schexnayder, 2012 TRB's National Cooperative Highway Research Program (NCHRP) Report 726: A Guidebook for Nighttime Construction: Impacts on Safety, Quality, and Productivity provides suggested guidance on the conduct of nighttime highway construction and maintenance operations. These guidelines are based on best practices and strategies for nighttime operations that relate to the personnel and traveling public safety and the quality of the as-built facility. The guide also addresses work-zone risk analysis planning and implementation, construction nuisances to both neighbors and workers, and work-zone illumination methods.--Publisher's description.

National Conference on Work Zone Safety ,1994 The National Conference on Work Zone Safety was designed to explore ways in which the highway construction industry and Federal, State and local governments can reduce accidents and fatalities in work zones. Attending the Conference were more than 200 people representing diverse safety areas, including educators, engineers, corporate and government officials. The two-and-a-half-day agenda was designed to offer a broad perspective from several disciplines as to the contributing factors causing accidents in work zones and possible remedies. During the Conference, participants separated into workshop groups that addressed the following topics: philosophy of traffic control; work zone safety implementation; contractors construction management; interaction with public highway users; and advanced technologies. This proceedings document summarizes the events of the Conference.
