Integrated Business Models in the Digital Age Sumesh Singh Dadwal,Hamid Jahankhani,Azizul Hassan,2022-06-21 Many scholars have argued that technology, entrepreneurship, integrated business models and marketing are key to the success of any business, but in particular to the success of unicorn companies. However, there is a need to further investigate interdisciplinary approaches to techno entrepreneurial business strategy, which remains a neglected area of research. In this edited volume, authors explore and develop principles, models and other theoretical and practical concepts to develop better guidance on how to adapt business models using new technologies such as AI, cloud computing, blockchain, cybersecurity, and infrastructure. Underpinned by established academic theories, the book explores integrated business models that are both defensive and offensive in strategic outlook. Ultimately, it will help students, researchers and entrepreneurs to design, develop and implement technology-enabled integrated business models.

Digital Space and Embodiment in Contemporary Cinema Jennifer Kirby,2022-09-30 Digital Space and Embodiment in Contemporary Cinema examines how contemporary cinema has represented and engaged with the experience of simultaneously inhabiting digital and material spaces (i.e. composite spaces) in the context of the growing ubiquitousness of digital media and culture. Bringing together a range of key cinematic texts, the book examines how these films represent composite space by depicting—often subtly and without explicit reference to technology—what it feels like to live in a world of ubiquitous digital media. The book explores composite spaces through the striking use of elements like colour, symbolic graphics, and music and covers topics like: music as mediator between levels of experience/perception in visionary films such as Sucker Punch (2011) and Spring Breakers (2012); digital colour as an interface in films including Under the Skin (2013); the integration of digital graphical elements drawn from game spaces into material spaces in films such as Scott Pilgrim vs The World (2010) and Nerve (2016); and films that take place on a computer screen including 2020's widely discussed, Zoom-produced pandemic horror film Host. Through the close analysis of these films, the book offers fresh perspectives on conceptual issues of embodiment, digital agency, and subjectivity. This book is a valuable resource for advanced undergraduates, postgraduates, and scholars in the fields of film studies, digital aesthetics and film theory, digital culture, and digital media.

The Magic Mirror Cindie Gonzales,2007-12 Taylor stood there staring at the mirror. She was hypnotized. It was as if someone had sprinkled bright colors of glitter into a fog that danced around and around. Taylor Kirke is an adventurous ten-year-old girl who hates history and dreads writing her history paper. One October afternoon on the way home from school, Taylor and Zach take a detour to an old haunted house. They get the history lesson of a lifetime when they are drawn into the colorful fog of a mirror inside the run-down home. Once the fog clears, Taylor and Zach realize they are in a completely different world. Very frightened and confused, they soon discover they are in the year 1903! They meet a family of their ancestors who comfort the children by taking them under their wing and helping them adjust to a new way of life. Taylor and Zach learn firsthand what it was like to live in the early 1900s while they try to figure out how to get back home. Little does Taylor know that her attempts to return to 2003 will forever alter the course of someone else's life. The Magic Mirror is a charming tale of learning to appreciate family bonds, mixed with plenty of time-traveling, and life-changing adventure.

The Magic Mirror Elizabeth M. Baeten,1996-10-17 In this book, Elizabeth M. Baeten analyzes the theories of myth propounded by Cassirer, Barthes, Eliade, and Hillman and juxtaposes the insights of these very different perspectives to form a coherent account of myth. She then shows that these theories perform the same function the authors ascribe to myth itself. Moreover, not only do the theories of myth function mythically; the myth embedded in each theory is the same: the telos of human existence is absolute freedom, an unbounded power to constitute the subjective and objective features of existence. The correlate of this myth of absolute creative freedom, Baeten argues, is that the truly human must transcend natural determinations. Baeten understands this to be a dangerous myth and offers an alternative original account of myth-making as an essential strand of cultural production demarcating the human process within the setting of broader natural processes.
