Dream Trippers David A. Palmer, Elijah Siegler, 2017-11-27

Anthropologists David A. Palmer and Elijah Siegler explore the globalization of Daoism: the interactions between international spiritual tourists, traditional Chinese monks, and American scholar-practitioners at the sacred Daoist mountain of Huashan, China. Palmer and Siegler show how the spiritual and religious histories of China and the West intersect, collide, and interpenetrate, revealing the paradoxes and dilemmas of the search for spiritual authenticity in a globalized world.--Provided by publisher.

Back is a non-fiction book that takes you to six continents and many diverse places and cultures. It covers a 35 year period from 1969 to 2004. It is about a man who develops an interest in geography in college. He lives a conventional life while having a dream of seeing the world. He travels by working and saving his money for vacation trips of a few days to a month long over a lifetime. The book tells of adventure on the Yangze River, an African photo safari, the outback of Australia, seeing the pyramids of Egypt, traveling solo by train through Europe, train travel in the USA and Canada, and more. It takes you around the world traveling alone with few advance reservations as well as going on organized group tours.

Dream Vacations Around the World Simona Stoppa, 2012

Readers who hold this book in their hands feel as if they have booked a passage on a fabulous journey to 80 of the world's best-loved destinations. The dream getaways on five continents were selected for their natural beauty, attractive accommodation, abundant charm, and their historical or artistic treasures. The trip begins in the high-class ski resorts and castles of Europe, wending its way to the lush resorts and archaeological pearls of the Mediterranean, where one can breathe history. Onward we trek to spectacular safari sites in the national parks of Africa, to the jewels of antiquity in the Middle East, the sun-drenched beaches of Southeast Asia and Polynesia, onward and upward to the planet's highest mountain tops, finally landing in the Americas for expeditions to the Caribbean, Florida Keys, the Rocky Mountains, California, and the ruins of ancient Amazonian civilizations. This illustrated itinerary with an unprecedented collection of dazzling photos and an exhilarating text, will fulfill all our exotic travel dreams and remind us how fantastic our world is.

A Young Man's Dream/An Old Man's Reality Wyveda I.

Philbert, 2006-12 This is a day to day journal about the 5000 mile boat trip known as The Loop or The Great Circle. A young man dreamed of doing this trip one day after reading a book about it. After working on the sailboat for five years it was ready to make the trip. Meeting a couple by accident, they encouraged us to start back with them. It made sense to me to travel with another couple on a boat that had made the trip several times before, so we all started off together. There are some hair-raising experiences and a lot of fun times spent as we grew closer together as a couple.

Stopping in the different marinas along the intercoastal you find nice people and interesting towns to visit. Dolphins swam along side us many times. And one encounter with a swan in a place called Glimmer Glass. You talk about a beautiful sight, there were so many you will have to read to learn about all of them. The world is as different from the water, as it is from the highway or air. There is so much history and beauty on the water you have to see to appreciate. We didn't always see eye to eye but we did have a wonderful time and would encourage everyone to follow their dream whatever it might be. I hope you enjoy reading this story as much as we did experiencing it. Let me know at joephilbert@aol.com.

Come Dream with Me Inese Civkulis, 2019-03-15 In her fictionalized memoir, Come Dream With Me, Inese Civkulis retraces a real-life odyssey from Summer of Love Berkeley to mid-seventies Laos in thrall to the Pathet Lao. After exploring the delights and perils of sex, drugs, and rock and roll, Inese and her partner Ben map out a journey that takes them through eighteen countries in six years. The relationship flows and ebbs. Was she follower or leader? Victim or hero? Only time and self-realization would tell. Inese's memoir invites everyone, from flower child to Generation Z, to experience first-hand the freedom found along trails first blazed during the Summer of Love.
