Export Best Kept Secrets Luis Mulet, 2020-04-16

DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE FOR STUDENTS, UNIVERSITIES, BUSINESS SCHOOLS AND TRADE ASSOCIATIONS (Term and Conditions apply) Each year, UK companies export well over 2 trillion pounds of goods and services. If you want your business to get in on the action, it's crucial to figure out the best way to expand to new markets. Luis MULET has traded all over the world for the last 20 years and has developed a comprehensive export manual to help your business become better equipped to enter the exciting exporting world. WHY EXPORT? The UK has 0.8% of the world population and without International Trade your business is missing out the other 99.22% of potential buyers for your product/service - Luis MULET. Why Export? and indeed why should you? If your home market still offers as much opportunity as your firm can cope with, you might be wiser to cover that demand first. Exporting does, of course, spread the risk. Declining demand in one market may be replaced by increasing demand in another. And once you are established in export markets, you will be meeting overseas competition on its home ground and will have more confidence that your home market is not suddenly going to be undermined by imports. The decision to commence exporting is neither easy nor one which should be taken lightly. The export market must be seen as an extension of your natural market, not one you can sell to when the home market is a little slow and then forget about when it picks up again. You must, from the start, be as committed to the export market as you are to the home market. Remember that if there is a demand it will be satisfied. If you do not satisfy it, your competitors will be there, ready and more than willing. I could go on here, but I think you better digest this first. Once you have decided and want more advice on where and how to start you can
