Element Methacton Cap Club,2019-05-04 Creativity sets humans apart from other species. In a world of rules and restrictions, gates and latches, it is the key and the careful plan for an escape. It allows a person to be free from the walls of his or her own mind if he or she chooses to take down one brick at a time. It is a colorful understanding of a black and white story. It is the nourishment for thoughts to grow into ideas, and for ideas to turn into plans. We all possess it. Some have trained it better than others, and others haven't realized its full potential yet. It is displayed through daily problem-solving, the visual arts, music, theater, dance, and writing. In every issue of ELEMENT, you will find a collection of printed expressions of human creativity. Use it to inspire your creative actions, and continue to take apart the walls that keep you confined.

Missing Element, Hidden Strength Tisha Morris,2022-11-08 While all five Chinese elements are contained within our energy system, we each embody a primary element, which defines our natural strengths, and a weak or missing element, which reflects our untapped potential. When you embrace your missing element—water, wood, fire, earth, or metal—you can pull yourself out of a rut and bring more harmony and success into your life and work. Tisha Morris teaches you how to apply the ancient wisdom of Taoist principles, so you can identify and improve your most challenging element. Moving your desk to the power position and expressing your energy with clothing are just a couple of the ways to awaken dormant aspects of yourself and integrate your creative right-brain with your business left-brain. It's time to turn your missing element into your hidden strength.

Advances in Databases Brian Lings,Keith Jeffery,2003-06-26 After a decade of major technical and theoretical advancements in the area, the scope for exploitation of database technology has never been greater. Neither has the challenge. This volume contains the proceedings of the 17th British National Conference on Databases (BNCOD 2000), held at the University of Exeter in July 2000. In selecting the quality papers presented here, the programme committee was particularly interested in the demands being made on the technology by emerging application areas, including web applications, push technology, multimedia data, and data warehousing. The concern remains the same: satisfaction of user requirements on quality and performance. However, with increasing demand for timely access to heterogeneous data distributed on an unregulated Internet, new challenges are presented. Our three invited speakers develop the theme for the conference, considering new dimensions concerning user requirements in accessing distributed, heterogeneous information sources. In the first paper presented here, Gio Wiederhold reflects on the tension between requirements for, on the one hand, precision and relevance and on the other completeness and recall in relating data from heterogeneous resources. In resolving this tension in favour of the former, he maintains that this will fundamentally affect future research directions. Sharma Chakravarthy adds another dimension to the requirement on information, namely timeliness. He shares a vision of just-in-time information delivered by a push technology based on reactive capabilities. He maintains that this requires a paradigm shift to a user-centric view of information.
