Itinerari energètic integral Carles Riba Romeva, 2022-02-01 Avui dia, els humans ens encaminem a una doble crisi relacionada amb els combustibles fòssils: per un costat, el col·lapse de l'economia del creixement continu i, per l'altre, l'alteració de l'equilibri climàtic a causa dels gasos d'efecte hivernacle; a més, aquesta doble crisi s'acompanya de l'amenaça d'exhauriment de matèries primeres estratègiques. Si som capaços de fer un canvi de rumb, el col·lapse és evitable; però caldrà modificar la nostra actitud envers el planeta i la resta dels éssers vius, mitjançant canvis radicals en els valors, els comportaments, les tecnologies i les formes d'organització econòmica, social i política i, alhora, dotar-nos de noves eines. Aquest text exposa el nou concepte de itinerari energètic integral, que inclou en una mateixa eina tant la incidència dels rendiments de les transformacions de l'energia des de les fonts fins a l'energia útil i els usos com els efectes de la taxa de retorn energètic (TRE; en anglès EROI), que relaciona l'energia de sortida de cada etapa amb l'energia grisa dels inputs, equips i infraestructures que la fan possible. A fi d'establir un balanç energètic integral, es proposa descomptar, en termes d'equivalència, les energies grises de l'energia disponible a la font. Finalment, amb l'objectiu de consolidar el canvi de paradigma mental que exigeix la transició energètica, on l'emmagatzematge tindrà una importància cabdal, s'enuncien tres principis que el nou sistema energètic renovable hauria de complir: el principi d'equivalència energètica, el principi de guany energètic i el principi de d'autoreproducció energètica.

Criticising the Critics Aidan Nichols, 2010 The Catholic Church has always been well-supplied with critics, but very often their criticisms are rooted in fundamental misunderstanding, or in a failure to grasp just what the Church teaches and why. It is these critics upon whom Fr Aidan Nichols OP turns his attention in this book: those who are inspired by modernist rationalism to reject the supernatural; those who regard the New Age as an acceptable surrogate for the Christian doctrine of salvation; academic theologians who reject the historical and biblical basis for Christianity. Also coming under scrutiny are feminists who see the Church as an expression of a patriarchal society; Protestants who play down Christ's nature as a priest; progressive Catholics who hesitate about proclaiming the Gospel of Life; and those who regard the Church's sexual ethics as 'unrealistic' ... Insightful and forthright, Fr Nichols delivers a comprehensive set of apologies to define the Catholic faith from its most vocal critics -- both inside and outside the Church.--Back cover.

Pierre Bonnard Guy Cogeval, Isabelle Cahn, Paul-Henri Bourrelier, Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco, 2016 Pierre Bonnard is often considered a painter of idyllic scenes, replete with colour and serenity, however, this view overlooks many of the most striking aspects of Bonnard's oeuvre. Over the course of his career, Bonnard worked within - often expanding and challenging - many genres and techniques. Alternating between the traditions of Impressionism and the abstract visual modes of modernism, Bonnard addressed elements present within many movements in order to synthesize a world worthy of his utopian vision. As this volume reveals, Bonnard's work evolved radically over the course of his career. Includes in its pages are illustrations of well-known examples alongside rarely exhibited pieces, which represent the many thematic and stylistic compositions of Bonnard's work.

The Routledge Handbook of Transregional Studies Matthias Middell, 2018-11-08
The Routledge Handbook of Transregional Studies brings together the various fields within which transregional phenomena are scientifically observed and analysed. This handbook presents the theoretical and methodological potential of such studies for the advancement of the conceptualization of global and area-bound developments. Following three decades of intense debate about globalization and transnationalism, it has become clear that border-crossing connections and interactions between societies are highly important, yet not all extend beyond the borders of nation-states or are of truly world-wide reach. The product of extensive international and interdisciplinary cooperation, this handbook is divided into ten sections that introduce the wide variety of topics within transregional studies, including Colonialism and Post-Colonial Studies, Spatial Formats, International Organizations, Religions and Religious Movements, and Transregional Studies and Narratives of Globalization. Recognizing that transregional studies asks about the space-making and space-formatting character of connections as well as the empirical status of such connections under the global condition, the volume reaches beyond the typical confines of area and regional studies to consider how areas are transcended and transformed more widely. Combining case studies with both theoretical and methodological considerations, The Routledge Handbook of Transregional Studies provides the first overview of the currently flourishing field of transregional studies and is the ideal volume for students and scholars of this diverse subject and its related fields.

Medical Empiricism and Philosophy of Human Nature in the 17th and 18th Century Claire Crignon, Carsten Zelle, Nunzio Allocca, 2014-02-20 Empiricism has many different faces. The Leibniz-Stahl Controversy Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm Freiherr von Leibniz, Georg Ernst Stahl, 2016-01-01 The first unabridged English translation of the correspondence between Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz and Georg Ernst Stahl detailing their opposing philosophies The correspondence between the eighteenth-century mathematician and philosopher G. W. Leibniz and G. E. Stahl, a chemist and physician at the court of King Friedrich Wilhelm I of Prussia, known as the Leibniz-Stahl Controversy, is one of the most important intellectual contributions on theoretical issues concerning pre-biological thinking. Editors François Duchesneau and Justin E. H. Smith offer readers the first fully annotated English translation of this fascinating exchange of philosophical views on divine action, the order of nature, causality and teleology, and the soul-body relationship.

Divine Machines Justin E. H. Smith, 2011-05 his book provides a comprehensive survey of G. W. Leibniz's deep and complex engagement with the sciences of life, in areas as diverse as medicine, physiology, taxonomy, generation theory, and paleontology. It is shown that these sundry interests were not only relevant to his core philosophical interests, but indeed often provided the insights that in part led to some of his most familiar philosophical doctrines, including the theory of corporeal substance and the theory of organic preformation--

Nicolaus Steno Troels Kardel, Paul Maquet, 2012-12-13 This is by far the most exhaustive biography on Niels Stensen, anatomist, geologist and bishop, better known as Nicolaus Steno. We learn about the scientist's family and background in Lutheran Denmark, of his teachers at home and abroad, of his studies and travels in the Netherlands, Belgium, France, Italy, Austria, Hungary, Bohemia and Germany, of his many pioneering achievements in anatomy and geology, of his encounters with Swammerdam, Malpighi and with members of the newly established Royal Society of London and the Accademia del Cimento in Florence, and with the philosopher Spinoza. It further treats Stensen's religious conversion. The book includes the full set of Steno's anatomical and geological scientific papers in original language. The editors thoroughly translated the original Latin text to English, and included numerous footnotes on the background of this bibliographic and scientific treasure from the 17th century.

Spinoza's Metaphysics Yitzhak Y. Melamed, 2015-03 This text offers a new and radical interpretation of the core of Spinoza's metaphysics. The first half of the book, which concentrates on the metaphysics of substance, suggests a new reading of his key concepts of substance and mode, of his pantheism and monism, and of his understanding of causation. The second half addresses his metaphysics of thought.
