Making Health Public Charles L. Briggs, Daniel C. Hallin, 2016-05-20 This book examines the relationship between media and medicine, considering the fundamental role of news coverage in constructing wider cultural understandings of health and disease. The authors advance the notion of 'biomediatization' and demonstrate how health knowledge is co-produced through connections between dispersed sites and forms of expertise. The chapters offer an innovative combination of media content analysis and ethnographic data on the production and circulation of health news, drawing on work with journalists, clinicians, health officials, medical researchers, marketers, and audiences. The volume provides students and scholars with unique insight into the significance and complexity of what health news does and how it is created.

Not illustrated. 1919 Excerpt: ...which proved fatal, have occurred in the vicinity of Randolph (Cattaraugus County) within the last few weeks. The health officer, Dr. C. N. Snover, has published a statement warning owners of live stock of the presence of the disease and instructing them how to protect themselves from infection and how to dispose properly of the carcasses of infected animals. Community nursing districts established in Monroe County. Fifteen community nursing districts have been organized in Monroe County and these districts have been filled from a list of nurses who took Dr. Wakeman's Course on Community Nursing at the University of Rochester. This service was put in effect, May 5, under the supervision of Miss Leslie, supervising nurse for Monroe County. Lieutenant-Colonel Homer Folks honored. Lieutenant-Colonel Homer Folks, a member of the Public Health Council, has been made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the French Government and a Commander of the Order of the White Eagle by the Serbian Government. These decorations are in recognition of his services as Director of the Department of Civil Affairs of the American Red Cross. Director of Child Hygiene Division resigns. Lieutenant-Colonel H. L. K. Shaw, Director of the Division of Child Hygiene, has resigned his position with the State Department of Health in order to devote all his time to private practice. Dr. Shaw became connected with the Department in 1912 as lecturer on Child Hygiene. In January 1914, he became Director of the newly created Division of Child Hygiene, and has served in that capacity since with the exception of the time spent in military service. During his incumbency the death rate among children less than 1 year of age has dropped from 120 per 1000 living births to 97. Central New York Public ...

When the News is Bad Ann Faulkner, 1998 Communicating bad news is part of any health care professional's daily work, yet it causes difficulties for those who see their role in terms of cure and care -- towards restored mental health and physical health. If news is given badly, it can cause pain and confusion for the recipient and stress and regret in the messenger. Skills of information-giving need to be combined with the ability to reflect the needs of the recipients are essential, enabling the recipient to take it in and move forward. Case studies illustrate the thinking behind the approach presented in this book. the guidelines make compelling reading as they are the fruit of this well-known author's wide experience in both the clinical and teaching fields of health care.

Public Health 101 Richard Riegelman,Brenda Kirkwood,2023 Public Health 101: Improving Community Health introduces undergraduate students to not only the profession of public health, but the ways of thinking encompassed by population health. Population health prepares students for the challenges in our society related to public health, helping frame the issues and analyze options to intervene. Population health requires an evidence-based approach to collecting and using facts to develop and implement approaches to improve community health. This text utilizes a unique approach to introducing students to key concepts, and students come away with a clear understanding of how public health affects their everyday lives--

Today's Health Care Issues Robert B. Hackey,Todd M. Olszewski,2021-08-25 This book provides a comprehensive introduction to significant U.S. health policy controversies, including Democratic and Republican responses to the coronavirus pandemic. It explores partisan divisions, major challenges, and policy preferences of key Democratic and Republican stakeholders. This volume provides readers with a broad overview of a variety of issues in contemporary health policy that span health care reform, health insurance, pharmaceuticals, public health, health care for underserved populations, and responses to the COVID-19 pandemic. The book explores the politics of each issue, drawing upon historical evidence, legislative research, public opinion polls, and the views of key decision makers from both Democratic and Republican perspectives. This coverage provides readers with a clear sense of how policymakers from each party think about the issues involved. This resource devotes special attention to the COVID-19 public health crisis, providing authoritative coverage of the actions, rhetoric, and policy choices of President Trump and his administration, governors across the nation, and leaders of Congress from both parties. This chapter, like all others in the book, is written so that it is accessible to readers from a variety of audience levels, including students and general readers.

Healthy Communities Institute of Medicine,1997-01-23 The Future of Public Health, issued in 1988, set forth a vision of public health and a specific role for the governmental public health agency within that vision, including the mission and content of public health, and an organizational framework. In the eight years since the report was released, there has been a significant strengthening of practice in governmental public health agencies and other settings. Substantial social, demographic, and technological changes in recent years, however, have made it necessary to reexamine governmental public health agencies' efforts to improve the public's health. Drawing on the activities and discussions initiated by the Institute of Medicine (IOM) Committee on Public Health, the current report addresses two critical public health issues that can greatly influence the opportunity for our public to be healthy as the United States enters a new century-(1) the relationship between public health agencies and managed care organizations, and (2) the role of the public health agency in the community-and their implications for the broader issues raised in The Future of Public Health.

Understanding Health Inequalities and Justice Mara Buchbinder,Michele Rivkin-Fish,Rebecca L. Walker,2016-09-19 The need for informed analyses of health policy is now greater than ever. The twelve essays in this volume show that public debates routinely bypass complex ethical, sociocultural, historical, and political questions about how we should address ideals of justice and equality in health care. Integrating perspectives from the humanities, social sciences, medicine, and public health, this volume illuminates the relationships between justice and health inequalities to enrich debates. Understanding Health Inequalities and Justice explores three questions: How do scholars approach relations between health inequalities and ideals of justice? When do justice considerations inform solutions to health inequalities, and how do specific health inequalities affect perceptions of injustice? And how can diverse scholarly approaches contribute to better health policy? From addressing patient agency in an inequitable health care environment to examining how scholars of social justice and health care amass evidence, this volume promotes a richer understanding of health and justice and how to achieve both. The contributors are Judith C. Barker, Paula Braveman, Paul Brodwin, Jami Suki Chang, Debra DeBruin, Leslie A. Dubbin, Sarah Horton, Carla C. Keirns, J. Paul Kelleher, Nicholas B. King, Eva Feder Kittay, Joan Liaschenko, Anne Drapkin Lyerly, Mary Faith Marshall, Carolyn Moxley Rouse, Jennifer Prah Ruger, and Janet K. Shim.
