An Engraved Landscape: Rock carvings in the Wadi al-Ajal, Libya Tertia Barnett,2023-02-23 An Engraved Landscape is a contextual analysis of a substantial new corpus of engravings from the Wadi al-Ajal, situated in the Central Saharan region of south west Libya. The wadi is renowned as the heartland of the Garamantian civilization, which emerged from local mobile Pastoral communities in the 1st millennium BC, and dominated trans-Saharan trade and politics for over a thousand years. Extensive archaeological and palaeoenvironmental investigations in recent years have provided detailed insight into the later prehistory and protohistory of the wadi and surrounding areas. However, prior to the fieldwork detailed in this work, only a handful of carvings had been recorded in the wadi. This work is based on systematic survey, conducted between 2004 and 2009, which recorded around 2,500 previously unknown or unpublished engraved and inscribed rock surfaces. All forms of engraving, whether figurative or surface markings, were viewed as significant residues of human interaction with the rock surface and were recorded. The resulting database provides an opportunity to analyze the engravings in relation to their changing physical and cultural contexts, and the discussion offers a fresh interpretation of Saharan rock art based on this substantial new evidence. An Engraved Landscape also captures in detail a unique heritage resource that is currently inaccessible and threatened. This record of the fragile engravings provides an important source of information for researchers and students.

Horse Photography Carol J. Walker,2010 Why photograph horses? Because, in the words of author Carol Walker, they fill our hearts, and capturing them on film or in digital images expresses that relationship. We want to catch and hold -- and show -- their spirit, their tremendous joy in living, their unique personalities, and of course, their incomparable beauty. And we want the quality of our images to honour our glorious subjects. Photographing horses presents a double challenge, the first being the technical aspects -- the lenses, the setting, the light and speed, and how all those relate to the subject. The second element is more elusive; it is horse knowledge -- the educated ability to see how a horse moves, sense its moods, and understand its psychology as a prey animal. This book presents the tools to master both technique and subject matter. More than that, the book will stir your creativity and inspire you to spend more time focusing on these animals you admire. Carol Walker has travelled the world photographing animals for almost 30 years, and since 2000 has concentrated on horses, including the object of her greatest passion, America's wild horses. Carol's stunning images illuminate the relationship between horses and their people, as well as showcase the beauty of horses at liberty. She teaches equine photography workshops for amateurs, and her commercial work includes fine art, magazine covers, and calendars. Her first book, Wild Hoofbeats: America's Vanishing Wild Horses is in its second printing and has won numerous awards for the quality of images and evocative writing. This book will be the reference of choice for any photographer aspiring to do justice to that most appealing of animals, the horse.

The Rocking Horse Diary Alan Combes, My name is Kirk Ellis. I am nine years old. This is my story. So begins the Rocking Horse Diary, penned by Kirk who wants to tell the story of his grandad, Sidney Mudge, who is “a very special man and possibly the world’s best grandad”. Although Kirk and his grandad are fictional characters, Alzheimer’s is not, and Alan Combes’ story is based on real events. There is a strong vein of comedy in the story. As Alan says, ‘Without humour, coping with dementia would be an impossible task.’ It was the author’s intention that love and affection would shine through the moments of tragedy, and indeed it does. His goal, which we believe readers will agree he has achieved, was to help young people towards a better understanding of a horrible illness. ‘Feeling connected is such a vital part of our wellbeing and people living with dementia can often feel isolated. For Kirk and his Grandad building a “Magic Rocking Horse” together, while sharing stories and jokes along the way helps them to understand each other and allows them to maintain a positive connection as Grandad’s dementia progresses. This is such an important message for families who care for someone living with dementia.’ Dr Lynne Corner, Director of Newcastle University’s Dementia Innovation Hub

In Celebration of the Horse Moira C. Harris,2007-08 A gorgeous photographic tribute to one of nature’s most noble creatures, A CELEBRATION OF THE HORSE features stunning photographs of horses by world-renowned photographer Bob Langrish. All ages and breeds are seen here running free, cantering in the snow, quenching their thirst in mountain streams, frolicking in the surf, and trotting through fields of flowers. Mares nuzzle their foals; herds fly across the plains; and stallions fight for dominance in these breathtaking images. Accompanying these magnificent pictures are wonderful quotes and sayings about horses from men and women throughout the centuries, including William Shakespeare, Anna Sewell, Albert Einstein, Arthur Conan Doyle, and more. Also celebrating this most regal of creatures and the special bond between a horse and rider are meaningful Hindi, Arabic, Irish, and Polish proverbs. Revel in the horse’s most intangible quality—his spirit—with these thrilling images and heartwarming sayings. Together, they honor this most majestic of animals Without a horse and a dog and a friend, a man would perish. —Rudyard Kipling Honour lies in the mane of a horse. —Arabic proverb Good horses make short miles. —George Herbert
