The Insider's Guide to Real Estate Adam Williams, 2020-10-24 The goal of this book is to help you discover some of the secrets in real estate that the average person is not aware of. Knowing these secrets - or tricks - or inside scoop - whatever you want to call it, will give you that edge and turn you into a smart investor. You see, real estate is one activity where curiosity does NOT kill the cat. The more you're curious about the business of selling and buying property, the better will be your grasp of the mysteries that only a select few have unravelled through their diligence and hard work. Many of them will not share these mysteries with you...because they're worried that you might cut into their slice of the profit pie. Untold fortunes have been made in real estate; it would not be surprising if during the last 5-7 years, some ordinary mortals have become instant millionaires, thanks to the feverish upswing in the industry. The world of real estate has changed; people are now considering going into it as one of the sure fire ways to a golden future. So...we ask: how do they do it? For a few, it's sheer luck, given the recent real estate boom; for most others, however, it's that they have legal inside knowledge - the kind that outsiders are not privy to. Success coaches and motivators will tell you that to be successful in any endeavour - real estate included - you must get the TOTAL picture, not just half of it. You must get to know the TWO SIDES OF THE COIN, and discover a hidden third side, if there's one. This insider's guide to real estate therefore provides guiding principles that you can tap to your advantage. You'll get the whole piece of pie, not just a half-baked tart (no pun intended), the two to three sides of the coin, or both ends of the spectrum, if you will. So we searched far and wide to get into the minds of not only sellers but also buyers and real estate brokers. We'll also throw in some facts on the financing options in real estate.

Turning Myths into Money H. Richard Steinhoff, 2011-03-25 What would you do if your real estate wealth suddenly dropped 30 percent? Well, that is exactly what happened to the American homeowner in 2009-2010. Real estate in America today is a disaster! Property values have fallen dramatically, resulting in a loss of real estate wealth averaging over $70,000 per household, with a total loss nationwide of 5.5 trillion dollars. Foreclosures are on the rise, and short sales are rampant. Homeowners are in trouble, homebuyers are afraid, and they all need help. Turning Myths into Money: An Insider's Guide to Winning the Real Estate Game will provide that help. This is a "one-source" text filled with insider secrets-- plus answers, tips, and real solutions to guide homeowners, homebuyers, and investors through these turbulent times. Insight is provided into the topics of agent selection, buying a house, and selling a house as well as: Short sales, Foreclosures, Investing, and Financing. The author also reveals insider secrets and tips to protect and build wealth.

Home Buying & Selling Adam Williams, 2020-10-15 You're at the point in your life where you're seriously considering purchasing your first home. You're sick of paying high rental costs when you know that you'll never own that property and it simply makes sense to start investing in your own future. Buying a home is an exciting adventure, and whether this is your first home or your second, it's important that you take your time when evaluating potential properties so that you end up with a property that truly reflects your style, your preferences, your lifestyle and of course, the size of your family. When considering properties, you also need to think outside of just the property itself. While that Cape Code on the corner may look like your dream home, what about the neighborhood? The property costs in certain divisions? Are land taxes reasonable? Are you responsible for water charges? Sewer charges? Recycling costs? Are there any zoning regulations or restrictions that you should be aware of? You should also consider your own personal lifestyle and make sure that the neighborhood is reflective of where you are in your life and what you are comfortable with. For instance, perhaps you're retired and looking to settle down in a quiet, mature neighborhood only to discover that the majority of families around you are all younger couples, with small children. It's important to look at the big picture when choosing a property so that it truly offers you the setting and the atmosphere that you are most comfortable with. After all, this is your home and you are going to spend many years building a life there!
