Historical Dictionary of Track and Field Peter

Matthews,2012 While the earliest evidence of organized running can be traced back to Egypt in 3800 BCE, the modern sport of track and field evolved from rural games and church and folk festivals, and rules were drawn up in the final quarter of the 19th century in those advanced societies where enough people had the leisure time to indulge their fancies. Today, in addition to the running events, track and field includes such events as the high jump, pole vault, long jump, shot, discus, javelin, hammer, and decathlon. The Historical Dictionary of Track and Field covers the history of this sport through a chronology, an introductory essay, appendixes, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 500 cross-referenced entries on key figures, places, competitions, and governing bodies within the sport. This book is an excellent access point for researchers, students, and anyone wanting to know more about the history of track and field.

Athletics 2013 Peter Matthews, Association of Track & Field Statisticians,2013-05-10 August 4 2012 became a golden night for British athletes as in the London Olympic stadium, Jessica Ennis, Mo Farah and Greg Rutherford all won gold medals. But none of the trio grace the cover page of Athletics 2013. That honour goes to Kenyan David Rudisha.

The book is the International Track and Field Annual and the editor, and other experts, considered Rudisha's 800 metres victory to be the performance of the Games. His time of 1 min 40.91 sec was described by Games supremo Sebastian Coe as "one of the greatest Olympic victories". Lord Coe, of course, know a thing or two about that, being the only man to have successfully defended the Olympic 1500 metres title. He also knows about 800 metres running, having held the world record for 16 years from 1981.

Athletics Association of Track & Field Statisticians, 2003-06-01 The 'Bible' of Track & Field, the AFTS Annual has been in print for eighteen years. This year's brand new edition, edited by eminent TV commentator Peter Matthews, contains a comprehensive review of the Edmonton World Championships, a statistical analysis of the career of recently retired 200/400 metres Olympic champion Michael Johnson, biographies of 700 leading athletes country by country, exhaustive lists of performances both in 2002 and of all-time, and the results from the 2003 World Cross Country Championships.

Track and Field Nathan Aaseng, 2002 Examines the origin of track and field, traces the evolution of the rules, strategy, philosophy of the game, and the people who participate.

Athletics 2011 Peter Matthews, 2011 Allyson

Felix, the cover girl of Athletics 2011, focused on running more one lap races in 2010 and in winning the overall titles in the 200m and the 400m, became the first person ever to secure top prize in two IAAF Diamond League events in the same year. She continued her dominance by winning 21 races out of 22 starts, losing only to Veronica Campbell-Brown in New York in June. As ever, Athletics 2011 contains unrivalled coverage of the events of the previous year as well as chronicling the early events of 2011.

Masters Track and Field Leonard T.

Olson, 2000-11-29 With some 50,000 men and women competing worldwide, and spectators numbering in the tens of thousands, Masters-level track and field proves that athletes of any age may be recognized by their passion for sports, their interest in fitness, and their skill. In this book-length account of track and field competition by men over 40 and women over 35, the leaders of the Masters program discuss its growth since 1968 and the role of the older athlete in the world of sport. The work also reviews the effects of aging on performance and explains the adjustments of standards and scoring.

Gerald Lawson, 1997 Presents profiles and statistics on record-breaking track and field athletes

Athletics Peter Matthews, 1987

Athletics 2012 Peter Matthews, 2012-05 As usual the Athletics 2012 annual contains unrivalled coverage of the events of the previous year as well as chronicling the early events of 2012. It is now in its 60th year. The cover this year features Mo Farah, who will be one of Britain's leading hopes for a gold medal at the London Olympic Games. This vital reading for anyone who wants to follow athletics at the Games.

Athletics 1992 Association of Track & Field Statisticians,1992

Black Meteors Basil A. Ince,2012 Traces the performance of Caribbean athletes on the international stage from the 1948 London Olympics when they first burst onto the scene to their present dominance in the sprint events with world record and Olympic titles in the 100m, 200m and 4 x 100m relay for men. Complete with photos of the leading athletes, Black Meteors is a dream for statisticians and track and field buffs.

Athletics 2000 Peter Matthews,2000 This edition of the annual contains comprehensive review of the 1999 World Championships in Seville, articles on aspects of the sport, biographies of 700 leading athletes country-by-country and with performance results, and the results of the 2000 World Cross-Country Championships.

The International Track and Field Annual, 1988
