The Days of Our Years Milton Eng, 2011-10-14 This study is an investigation into the lexical meanings of Hebrew terms for the human life cycle in the Old Testament. The investigation differs from previous studies in that the terms are studied from the perspective of a specific semantic domain (age) and not in isolation from each other. In addition, other modern linguistic approaches are applied, including syntagmatic and paradigmatic analysis.

Tutti i romanzi e i racconti Howard Phillips Lovecraft, 2011-01-14 · Tutte le storie dell'orrore puro · Tutte le storie oniriche e fantastiche · Tutte le storie del Ciclo di Cthulhu · Miscellanea e Saggi A cura di Gianni Pilo e Sebastiano Fusco Edizioni integrali Terrore insondabile e soprannaturale, inquietanti e apocalittiche visioni: tutto l'immaginario di follia e orrore di Howard P. Lovecraft è raccolto in queste pagine densissime. Interi universi prendono forma dalla sua sapiente penna, governati da leggi fisiche ignote, popolati da creature inimmaginabili e da terrificanti minacce. L'uomo è solo al centro di un cosmo nel quale il terrore proviene dagli abissi della mente come dai più remoti recessi dello spazio, un mondo nel quale la paura è la dimensione dell'essere. Tutto ciò sottintende la teoria lovecraftiana secondo cui smascherare e affrontare i propri incubi più angoscianti è l'unico modo per esorcizzarli. Incubi, sogni e miti creati da un maestro dell'orrore e del fantasy per turbare le notti dei lettori. In questo volume è presentata tutta la produzione del "solitario di Providence", compresi capolavori famosi che ancora oggi ispirano scrittori e sceneggiatori, come Le montagne della follia, Lo strano caso di Charles Dexter Ward, L'orrore di Dunwich, La ricerca onirica dello Sconosciuto Kadath. Howard P. Lovecraft nacque il 20 agosto del 1890 a Providence nel Rhode Island. Vissuto in un ambiente familiare ben poco felice, dopo un'infanzia trascorsa in totale solitudine, fin da giovane dovette lottare con una serie di difficoltà economiche e si guadagnò da vivere con il mestiere ingrato e mal pagato di revisore dei testi narrativi di aspiranti scrittori. Grazie ai suoi romanzi e racconti, ispirati a una concezione del Cosmo particolare e singolarissima, è l'unico scrittore americano a poter rivaleggiare con Edgar Allan Poe. Divenuto, ancora vivente, una vera e propria "leggenda", morì nella sua Providence, alla quale era legato in maniera viscerale, il 5 marzo del 1937. Moriva l'uomo, nasceva il mito.

Message in a Shell Ghazi Kaddouh, 2018-12-27 Sami Badroni grew up in poverty but flourishes to become friend and smuggling partner of a high-ranking Palestine Liberation Organization official in Beirut in the 1980s. However, his world crumbles when Israeli forces invade and Sami's girlfriend inadvertently implicates him in the murder of two Mossad agents in London months prior. A drug lord working for the Mossad kills Sami's partner, Israel's number one enemy, and so removes Sami's protection. He now faces the unrelenting wrath of the most powerful spy agency in the world all on his own. His life of power and dirty money crumbles under the murder accusations, and Sami goes on the run. Although Sami may be innocent of the crime he's accused of, he might also be inadvertently involved. It's no matter to his hunters. With the airport closed and the city under siege, Israeli agents begin to close in. Unable to escape, Sami's luck has run out and he now has no other choice but to confront his checkered past and face a ruthless adversary.

A Family of Noblemen : The Gentlemen Golovliov Mikhaïl Saltykov, 1917 A Family of Noblemen : The Gentlemen Golovliov The head of the family, Vladimir Mikhailych Golovliov, was known from his youth as a dissolute, quarrelsome fellow, with nothing in his character that would be sympathetic to a serious, active woman like Arina Petrovna. He led a lazy, good-for-nothing existence, usually stayed locked up in his room, where he imitated the warble of the starlings, the crowing of cocks, and the like, and composed ribald doggerel. In bursts of confidence he would boast that he had been a friend of the poet Barkov, intimating that the poet had blessed him on his deathbed. Arina Petrovna disliked her husband's verses from the very first. Nasty stuff! Trash! she called them. And since Vladimir Mikhailych's very object in marrying had been to have someone ever at hand to listen to his poetry, the result was that quarrels soon began, which grew worse and worse and more frequent until they ended with Arina Petrovna utterly indifferent and contemptuous of her clown husband, and Vladimir Mikhailych hating his wife sincerely, with a hatred considerably mixed with fear. The husband called the wife a hag and a devil; the wife called the husband a windmill and a balalaika without strings. They lived together in this way for more than forty years, and it never occurred to either of them that there was anything unnatural in such a life. Time did not diminish Vladimir Mikhailych's quarrelsomeness; on the contrary, it took on a still sharper edge. Apart from the poetical exercising in Barkov's spirit that he did, he began to drink and to lie in wait eagerly for the servant girls in the corridors. At first Arina Petrovna looked on this new occupation of her husband's with repugnance. She even got wrought up over it, not so much from jealousy as that she felt it to be an interference with her authority. After a while, however, she shrugged her shoulders, and merely watched out that the dirty wenches should not fetch brandy for their master.

Selections from Virgil's Aeneid Books 1-6 Ashley Carter, 2020-01-23 This reader of Virgil's text features passages from the first half of the Aeneid and is designed to help students understand and appreciate Virgil's poem, as well as improve their Latin reading skills. Each Latin passage is accompanied by running vocabulary, on-page commentary notes and targeted questions. The book can be used as a source of one-off unseen passages or as a reader for students working through individual books or the whole poem. The commentary notes explain references to characters, places and events, provide linguistic and grammatical help on more challenging Latin phrases, and point out stylistic features. The questions test students' comprehension of the characters and storyline, and give them practice in handling literary terms. The passages are linked by summaries of the continuing plot, so students can grasp the progression of the poem as a whole. An in-depth introduction sets the story of the Aeneid in its mythological, literary and historical contexts; a glossary of literary devices and sections on style and metre are included. At the end of the book is a complete alphabetical vocabulary list.

The Age of Deer Erika Howsare, 2024-01-02 A masterful hybrid of nature writing and cultural studies that investigates our connection with deer—from mythology to biology, from forests to cities, from coexistence to control and extermination—and invites readers to contemplate the paradoxes of how humans interact with and shape the natural world Deer have been an important part of the world that humans occupy for millennia. They're one of the only large animals that can thrive in our presence. In the 21st century, our relationship is full of contradictions: We hunt and protect them, we cull them from suburbs while making them an icon of wilderness, we see them both as victims and as pests. But there is no doubt that we have a connection to deer: in mythology and story, in ecosystems biological and digital, in cities and in forests. Delving into the historical roots of these tangled attitudes and how they play out in the present, Erika Howsare observes scientists capture and collar fawns, hunters show off their trophies, a museum interpreter teaching American history while tanning a deer hide, an animal-control officer collecting the carcasses of deer killed by sharpshooters, and a woman bottle-raising orphaned fawns in her backyard. As she reports these stories, Howsare's eye is always on the bigger picture: Why do we look at deer in the ways we do, and what do these animals reveal about human involvement in the natural world? For readers of H is for Hawk and Fox & I, The Age of Deer offers a unique and intimate perspective on a very human relationship.

The Downfall (La Debacle. The Rougon-Macquart) Emile Zola, 2015-01-07 In The Downfall Zola tells the story of a terrific land-slide which overwhelmed the French Second Empire: It is a story of war, grim and terrible; of a struggle to the death between two great nations. In it the author has put much of his finest work, and the result is one of the masterpieces of literature. The hero is Jean Macquart, son of Antoine Macquart and brother of Gervaise. After the terrible death of his wife, as told in La Terre (The Soil), Jean enlisted for the second time in the army, and went through the campaign up to the battle of Sedan. After the capitulation he was made prisoner, and in escaping was wounded. When he returned to active service he took part in crushing the excesses of the Commune in Paris... The Downfall has been described as a prose epic of modern war, and vast though the subject be, it is treated in a manner that is powerful, painful, and pathetic.

Light within the Shade Zsuzsanna Ozsvath, Frederick Turner, 2014-07-02 The pure verbal energy characterizing Hungarian poetry may be regarded as one of the most striking components of Hungarian culture. More than 800 years ago, under the inspiration of classical and medieval Latin poetry, Hungarian poets began to craft a rich chain of poetic designs, much of it in response to the country's cataclysmic history. With precision, depth, and great intensity, these verses give accounts of their authors' vision of themselves as participants in history and their most personal experience in the world. Light within the Shade includes 135 of the most important Hungarian poems ranging from the fourteenth to the twenty-first century. Organized in chronological order, the poems are followed by an essay by Ozsváth providing the historical, biographical, and cultural background of the poets and the poetry. The book concludes with Turner's essay on the special thematic and literary qualities of Hungarian poetry, as well as notes on translation practices. This essential volume exposes English-speaking readers to Hungarian poetry's artistic achievement in history and culture, its evolutionary development as a tradition, and its significance within the context of world literature.

Sport, Memory and Nationhood in Japan Andreas Niehaus, Christian Tagsold, 2013-09-13 This book clarifies and verifies the role sport has as an alternative marker in understanding and mapping memory in Japan, by applying the concept of lieux de mémoire (realms of memory) to sport in Japan. Japanese history and national construction have not been short of sports landmarks since the end of the nineteenth century. Western-style sports were introduced into Japan in order to modernize the country and develop a culture of consciousness about bodies resembling that of the Western world. Japan's modernization has been a process of embracing Western thought and culture while at the same time attempting to establish what distinguishes Japan from the West. In this context, sports functioned as sites of contested identities and memories. The Olympics, baseball and soccer have produced memories in Japan, but so too have martial arts, which by their very name signify an attempt to create traditions beyond Western sports. Because modern sports form bodies of modern citizens and, at the same time, offer countless opportunities for competition with other nations, they provide an excellent ground for testing and contesting national identifications. By revealing some of the key realms of memory in the Japanese field of sports, this book shows how memories and counter-memories of (sport) moments, places, and heroes constitute an inventory for identity. This book was originally published as a special issue of Sport in Society.

My Real Life Julian Novitz, 2016-02-01 This prize-winning collection of short stories playfully questions what 'real life' is and, more importantly, where it can be found. Philip is a New Zealander, born and raised; the trouble is that no one will believe him. He travels widely, though his brother Dan has no intention of going anywhere - why leave when everything you hate is here? His ex-girlfriend, Kumiko, drifts between universities, enrolling in every course she can find in an effort to hold on to her student visa. Her father is searching for her, but like every other character in this collection, he has a problem and a story of his own . . . The characters in this funny and astute book of short stories span genders, generations and identities. Whether at home or abroad, they are often lost, wandering in and out of each other's lives, never quite coming together. Moving convincingly between differing perspectives, these stories are deftly handled, offering flashes of sharp insight and unexpected humour. This book won the New Zealand Society of Authors Hubert Church Best First Book of Fiction Award (2005).

Lars Von Trier Jack Stevenson, 2019-07-25 With the international success of Breaking the Waves (1996) and Dancer in the Dark (2000), Lars von Trier has established himself as a one of the most provocative and daring film directors working today. The founding father of Dogma 95, he made the movement's most controversial film, The Idiots (1998), and has played a leading role in the recent resurgence of Danish cinema. Yet despite his success, von Trier remains something of an polarising and enigmatic figure hailed as the new Godard by some and a charlatan by others. In this new study, Jack Stevenson explores the achievements as well as the paradoxes of Lars von Trier, assessing his life, work, and critical reception. The book follows von Trier from his early life as a troubled son of 'Cultural Radical' parents through to his student days at the Danish Film School, diligently spent making films that were as innovative and disturbing as his later features have proved to be. These films (consisting of the Europa and Gold-Hearted trilogies) are fully examined together with considerations of his creative detours into other media and his current work in progress, Dogville. Based in Denmark, the author brings a unique perspective to Lars von Trier creating a multi-dimensional portrait of the director. Utilising sources heretofore unavailable in English, Stevenson's lively yet fact-filled narrative is accessible to students and film enthusiasts alike. The book is indispensable to anyone interested in Lars von Trier and the broader issues that surround modern Danish film and its current renaissance.

Hope Amanda Berry, Gina DeJesus, Mary Jordan, Kevin Sullivan, 2015-04-27 The #1 New York Times Bestseller A bestselling book that is inspiring the nation: "We have written here about terrible things that we never wanted to think about again . . . Now we want the world to know: we survived, we are free, we love life." Two women kidnapped by infamous Cleveland school-bus driver Ariel Castro share the stories of their abductions, captivity, and dramatic escape On May 6, 2013, Amanda Berry made headlines around the world when she fled a Cleveland home and called 911, saying: "Help me, I'm Amanda Berry. . . . I've been kidnapped, and I've been missing for ten years." A horrifying story rapidly unfolded. Ariel Castro, a local school bus driver, had separately lured Berry, Gina DeJesus, and Michelle Knight to his home, where he kept them chained. In the decade that followed, the three were raped, psychologically abused, and threatened with death. Berry had a daughter—Jocelyn—by their captor. Drawing upon their recollections and the diary kept by Amanda Berry, Berry and Gina DeJesus describe a tale of unimaginable torment, and Pulitzer Prize-winning Washington Post reporters Mary Jordan and Kevin Sullivan interweave the events within Castro's house with original reporting on efforts to find the missing girls. The full story behind the headlines—including details never previously released on Castro's life and motivations—Hope is a harrowing yet inspiring chronicle of two women whose courage, ingenuity, and resourcefulness ultimately delivered them back to their lives and families.
