Staff, 1998-07-01 Have you ever seen a haboob? Can you tell the difference between a UFO and a lenticular cloud? This calendar -- from The Weather Channel, cable television's only national all-weather network -- has the answers to these and many other fascinating facts and trivia tidbits. Fantastic photography, selected and approved by professional meteorologists, chronicles extraordinary weather conditions around the globe. The Weather calendar also shares significant weather history, from the coldest recorded temperatures to the most devastating tornadoes on record. With the Weather calendar, 1999 promises to be a year of extreme weather for the millions of Weather Channel watchers -- and for anyone interested in our natural environment. -- Spectacular weather photography from around the globe, selected and approved by professional meteorologists for originality and scientific interest -- From the authoritative leader in reliable weather reporting -- Engaging weather facts and trivia, including descriptions of unique weather phenomena and historical weather events -- Perfect for obsessive Weather Channel devotees, along with the average wa

The Weather Channel Pioneers Joseph D'Aleo, John

Coleman,2018-03-02 A collection of personal stories and memories from the individuals that worked at The Weather Channel in its start-up days of the early 1980s; among these Weather Channel Pioneers, special focus is given to the leadership and vision of the channel's early champions John Coleman and Joe D'Aleo.

Television Weathercasting Robert Henson,1990 Will it rain tomorrow? That perennial question has made weather the most popular segment of local television news for years. Yet weathercasters do far more than simply convey the latest outlook. Depending on the circumstances, they may inject humor into the forecast (having a Lhasa apso pant and wag its tail during the forecast, for instance), warn of a life-threatening tornado or hurricane, or instruct viewers on the science behind weather. This book, the first critically to examine weathercasters and their craft, is based on years of research and covers both the lighthearted and serious aspects of television weather. Chapters include pioneer weathercasters of the 1940s and 1950s, technical advances, interaction with the National Weather Service, severe weather coverage, celebrities who began with television weather, and the status of women and minorities in weathercasting.

Weather on the Air Robert Henson,2013-01-22 From low humor to high drama, TV weather reporting has encompassed an enormous range of styles and approaches, triggering chuckles, infuriating the masses, and at times even saving lives. In Weather on the Air, meteorologist and science journalist Robert Henson covers it all—the people, technology, science, and show business that combine to deliver the weather to the public each day. Featuring the long-term drive to professionalize weathercasting; the complex relations between government and private forecasters; and the effects of climate-change science and the Internet on today's broadcasts. With dozens of photos and anecdotes illuminating the many forces that have shaped weather broadcasts over the years, this engaging study will be an invaluable tool for students of broadcast meteorology and mass communication and an entertaining read for anyone fascinated by the public face of weather.

The Weather Channel Frank Batten, 2002 Told by one of the key figures in the network's success, former Chairman and CEO Frank Batten, this is at once a deeply personal account of high-stakes entrepreneurship and a fascinating case study of a media business both experiencing and driving major change.--BOOK JACKET.

Our American Weather George Herbert Tinley Kimble, 1955 Gives a month by month, coast to coast, account of the changing and recurring weather patterns that affect our lives.
