Telling Moments Lynda Hall, 2003-11-15 Telling Moments collects contemporary short stories by a diverse group of twenty-four lesbian writers. Engaging themes of life and death, aging, motherhood, race, love, work, and travel, the writers offer brief glimpses into lesbian lives. The stories are by well-known contemporary writers—Gloria Anzaldúa, Mary Cappello, Emma Donoghue, Jewelle Gomez, Karla Jay, Anna Livia, Valerie Miner, Lesléa Newman, Minnie Bruce Pratt, Ruthann Robson, Sarah Schulman, and Jess Wells—and exciting newer voices, such as Donna Allegra and Marion Douglas. There are also stories from performance artists Carmelita Tropicana, Peggy Shaw, and Maya Chowdhry. Anna Livia's protagonist appreciates her mother's artful garden creation. Ruthann Robson tells of a survivor of the health care system. In Marion Douglas's story a teenager dances with an alluring classmate. Donna Allegra's strong construction worker copes with the death of her mother. And Karla Jay sets her character forth to swim with sharks. Most of the stories are accompanied by an author photo, biographical sketch, and—a most significant feature—a commentary from the author on her writing process and the autobiographical nature of her story, illustrating the truth behind the fiction.

You and I Raven Elizabeth, 2019-07-08 In a world where most stories are told to you in the third person point of view, You and I flips the script and puts you in the shoes of the author and her partner. These first person-written lesbian short stories will make you feel like you are truly a part of what you have read. They are told in such a way that anyone can see themselves in the scenarios. Depending on your imagination, you can have experiences as if you are with the author or as if you are the author. If you want to have an interactive experience, you and your partner can read them aloud to each other. One night, you could be having your first lesbian experience in a friend's house, and the next night, you could be meeting someone in a club to release a little frustration. You could be going for a weekend of camping with your partner, or you could be headed to meet up with a new friend for a much-needed vacation. No matter your experience or taste, there is a story written just for you. Each story has its own personality and feel to it. They are written with very little personal details like names and physical descriptions for the sole purpose of allowing anyone to imagine themselves in the stories. I read them slow because I don't want to miss a detail! They are amazing and so freaking intense! Your short stories actually turn me on! It is the most exotic experiences in each story, and I can't explain it, but I can't stop reading (BB, Illinois).

Forgotten Love Sue-Anne, 2021-02-02 This is a page turner; you just want to read what happens next in the lives of Rusty and Donna. As you read their love story, you'll feel like you are part of their family of choice. Dementia doesn't care if you are a lesbian, gay, or straight. It doesn't care what your race is or how much money you make. It's more common than you think. I know three lesbian couples who are going through the journey of dementia together. This is a love story; actually two love stories. Part 1 of the book is Rusty and Donna's life together starting with the comical way they got together. It goes through the excitement of a new and maturing relationship as well as the trials of normal living--PMS, menopause, unaccepting family, friendship, marriage, and work. It shows the highs and lows every relationship experiences and how they dealt with it. Part 2 picks up in their 60s when they are thinking about retirement, traveling, and volunteering. But their life hits a landmine that they didn't see coming; dementia. When a friend asks Rusty how she is doing being a caretaker, Rusty quickly educates them that they are not just a caretaker; Donna is still her wife and lover; she just has to take on more responsibilities. When my Editor, Susan Rheingruber, was just editing Part 1, she said she couldn't wait to see what happened in Part 2. Yes, love can last forever... ~~~Other books by Sue-Ann: I Double Dare You! (A Coming-Out Story) Available in regular print, large print, and Kindle. Should I Give Love Another Chance Available in regular print and Kindle. Love Was Right Before My Eyes Available in regular print, large print, and Kindle. The Erotic Wishing Stone Available in regular print and Kindle. Granny's Wish This book was a lot of fun to write and my favorite book. It will make you smile and possibly laugh out loud! A heartwarming and comical lesbian light-reading romance. When Granny proposes something to Sarah, that is so outrageous, what does Sarah do? What would you do? What part does Marge & Lisa, an Army vet, Poopsey (Sarah's cat), purple hair, the baseball team, and Shirley have to do with Granny's plan--if any? Is Shirley really the villain in this story? Sue-Ann would like to see this book turned into a full-length movie and is writing the screenplay for this book. Running Away From Love (A Coming-Out Story) Alexandria had run away from her abusive husband. She faked a kidnapping to try and give her some extra time to get into hiding before he found her--and killed her. Your favorites, Marge and Lisa, are back to help Alexandria who assumes the runaway name of Frankie. With Frederick closing in on Alexandria, Marge and Lisa whisk her up to their cabin where they know Frederick won't find her. The problem is that Aggie is there recovering and the last thing that she wants to do is to babysit a straight rich married woman. Sam's First Love (A Coming-Out Story) I was born and raised between Fargo, ND and nowhere. A lot of people were leaving the county and I swore to myself that as soon as I graduated from high school I would be one of them. I kept that promise. The day after graduation I rode my motorcycle east into Minnesota. People thought I was a lesbian because of my motorcycle and the clothes I wore. I didn't tell them that this was just normal everyday farming work clothes. I worked for lesbians and hung around with lesbians. I felt like a fraud that was about to be exposed and I didn't have a clue how I was going to get out of this one. It's all Lyn's fault. She started to pursue me and at the auction I only glanced at her about 14 dozen times... This a really fun book and the author thinks you'll enjoy. Sue-Ann would like to see this book turned into a full-length movie. Pride Strength Large Blank Journal (8.5x11)~~~Some interesting
