Letters from Linda M. Montano Linda Montano, 2005 This an anthology of writings provides an autobiographical record of Montano's artistic practice over the last thirty years, a collection of stories, letters, interviews, manifestos and other previously unpublished writings.

Crowning Glories Harriet Stone, 2019-04-08 Crowning Glories integrates Louis XIV's propaganda campaigns, the transmission of Northern art into France, and the rise of empiricism in the eighteenth century - three historical touchstones - to examine what it would have meant for France's elite to experience the arts in France simultaneously with Netherlandish realist painting. In an expansive study of cultural life under the Sun King, Harriet Stone considers the monarchy's elaborate palace decors, the court's official records, and the classical theatre alongside Northern images of daily life in private homes, urban markets, and country fields. Stone argues that Netherlandish art assumes an unobtrusive yet, for the history of ideas, surprisingly dramatic role within the flourishing of the arts, both visual and textual, in France during Louis XIV's reign. Netherlandish realist art represented thinking about knowledge that challenged the monarchy's hold on the French imagination, and its efforts to impose the king's portrait as an ideal and proof of his authority. As objects appreciated for their aesthetic and market value, Northern realist paintings assumed an uncontroversial place in French royal and elite collections. Flemish and Dutch still lifes, genre paintings, and cityscapes, however, were not merely accoutrements of power, acquisitions made by those with influence and money. Crowning Glories reveals how the empirical orientation of Netherlandish realism exposed French court society to a radically different mode of thought, one that would gain full expression in the Encyclopédie of Diderot and d'Alembert.

Linda Lin's Original Art Paintings Linda Lin, 2013-08-19 Hello and I'm pleased to share my art collection with you. I love everything in nature that's simple and beautiful in this world. Flowers, birds, butterflies, animals, and pretty women have always captured my senses, and have remained in my dreams for so long. After the age of 40, I started to assemble them on paper in my spare-time. I only painted when I felt passion and inspiration. Each time I painted, I was reminded of a newborn baby fostering great enjoyment, fulfillment and happiness to my life. I cherished each one of them, regardless of the perception from another's taste or preference. All of my creations are precious to me even though I know some pieces will be viewed by some with subjective reserve or appreciated by others as exceptional perfection. Individual tastes have its own means of discovering and identifying a relationship with one's personal artworks. All of the pieces in my art collections are distinctive and one-of-a-kind; yet many will be perceived differently by my onlookers. They are all very personal to me as if they were my only family. These are my babies, my masterpieces. Finally, my daughter introduced me to an opportunity to publish my first book. I've composed 47-pieces of my original art paintings and I am finally presenting them. I've created my artwork using acrylics and/or watercolor on paper; the original sizes are 22 wide x 28 tall. Others I completed using acrylic on various sized canvas. My unyielding collections of fine art depict vivid, colorful, deco, and abstract styles. I'd love to share them with everyone. Hopefully you will feel partial to the original nature paintings as well. And thank you for enjoying my artwork collection. Warm regards, Linda, ArtistEmail: bookmark288@yahoo.com www.etsy.com/shop/YanYanLingiftshop www.saatchionline.com Artist name: Linda Lin

Tables of Knowledge Harriet Amy Stone, 2006 Tables of Knowledge shows that Dutch genre paintings and still lifes enact in visual form a process of recording information similar to that of science, with intriguing results. Stone investigates such diverse topics as seventeenth-century advances in optics and the attendant explosion of data about the natural world; the proliferation of material goods in prosperous Dutch homes; and the compelling realism of Golden Age paintings.--Jacket.

Liza Lou Liza Lou, Linda Nochlin, Robert Pincus-Witten, 2008 Combining visionary, conceptual and craft approaches, Los Angeles-based artist Liza Lou makes mixed-media sculptures and room-size installations that are suggestive of a transcendental reality. Lou's work often employs familiar, domestic forms, crafted from a variety of materials such as steel, wood, papier-mâché and fibreglass, which is then covered with tiny glass beads that are painstakingly applied, one at a time, with tweezers. Her sculptures are dazzling and opulent and constantly glistening with refracted light.

The Artist and the Orchard: A Memoir Linda Hoffman, 2021-11 Artist Linda Hoffman saved an orchard and reshaped her life at Old Frog Pond Farm in Harvard, Massachusetts. When she moved to the farm she didn't know anything about apple-growing. More than twenty years later, the farm is one of the few organic pick-your-own orchards in New England, as well as a hub for a thriving community of visual artists, writers, and spiritual seekers. Hoffman, the mother of three children, a Zen practitioner, and a breast cancer survivor, has now written about her extraordinary journey in The Artist and the Orchard: A Memoir.
