Just Right: Searching for the Goldilocks Planet Curtis

Manley, 2019-01-29 Do you wonder if humans are the only beings who wonder if they are alone in the universe? Our sun is a star. Planet Earth is not too big, not too small, not too hot, and not too cold. It's just right. Our very own Goldilocks planet Follow a young girl as she explores these questions in this gorgeous book about the wondrous search for another Goldilocks planet.

Manly States Charlotte Hooper, 2001-02-22 Much has been written on how masculinity shapes international relations, but little feminist scholarship has focused on how international relations shape masculinity. Charlotte Hooper draws from feminist theory to provide an account of the relationship between masculinity and power. She explores how the theory and practice of international relations produces and sustains masculine identities and masculine rivalries. This volume asserts that international politics shapes multiple masculinities rather than one static masculinity, positing an interplay between a hegemonic masculinity (associated with elite, western male power) and other subordinated, feminized masculinities (typically associated with poor men, nonwestern men, men of color, and/or gay men). Employing feminist analyses to confront gender-biased stereotyping in various fields of international political theory—including academic scholarship, journals, and popular literature like The Economist—Hooper reconstructs the nexus of international relations and gender politics during this age of globalization.

Introduction to Decumbiture Wanda Sellar, 2014-09-01 A decumbiture chart, taken from the time a patient 'takes to their bed' (Latin decumbere, to lie down), is a traditional technique used in medical astrology to help discover the causes of an illness and to ascertain if the treatment is working and whether recovery is likely. Very few of us have the luxury of taking to our beds these days but the time for a doctor's appointment or the onset of a fever for example are equally valid and the resulting chart can be very informative. Wanda Sellar teaches the techniques in a clear and easily understandable format then demonstrates their use in a wide variety of case histories

Science-fiction Everett Franklin Bleiler,Richard Bleiler,1998 Complementing Science-Fiction: The Early Years, which surveys science-fiction published in book form from its beginnings through 1930, the present volume covers all the science-fiction printed in the genre magazines--Amazing, Astounding, and Wonder, along with offshoots and minor magazines--from 1926 through 1936. This is the first time this historically important literary phenomenon, which stands behind the enormous modern development of science-fiction, has been studied thoroughly and accurately. The heart of the book is a series of descriptions of all 1,835 stories published during this period, plus bibliographic information. Supplementing this are many useful features: detailed histories of each of the magazines, an issue by issue roster of contents, a technical analysis of the art work, brief authors' biographies, poetry and letter indexes, a theme and motif index of approximately 30,000 entries, and general indexes. Science-Fiction: The Gernsback Years is not only indispensable for reference librarians, collectors, readers, and scholars interested in science-fiction, it is also of importance to the study of popular culture during the Great Depression in the United States. Most of its data, which are largely based on rare and almost unobtainable sources, are not available elsewhere.

West Point, 3000 A. D. and Holy City of Mars Manly Wade Wellman, Ralph Milne Farley, Al P. Nelson, 2016-09-24 Armchair Fiction presents illustrated, extra large editions of classic science fiction double novels. The first novel, West Point 3000 A.D. is by Manly Wade Wellman. In the year 3000 New York City had changed dramatically--and not for the best. No longer did the common citizen roam the streets in pursuit of a good life. No--the average person was now subjugated to life in the Underways, a world beneath the metropolitan streets where men had mutated into creatures with weak bones and sickly pale skin. But unlike most of his fellow citizens, Garr Devlin was no simple dweller from the Underways. He was strong and smart, and before long his life took a series of twists and turns that eventually landed him at West Point for training in intelligence. In the hallowed halls of this famed military school he soon found himself caught up in a web of interplanetary conspiracy--a conspiracy that would pit the forces of Earth against Martian revolutionaries and the people of the Underways. And for Garr Devlin the question remained...where would his loyalty lie? The second novel, The Holy City of Mars is a science fiction adventure, written by Ralph Milne Farley. It is the sequel to his earlier tale, City of Lost Souls. Only terror lay in the Martian holy city of Daloss, better known as the City of Lost Souls; but Earthman Don Warren, after three long years, returned to its forbidden gates to find Esta, the daughter of the chieftain--and to avenge the death of his entire regiment. What he found, though, was a plot that would set the planet Mars spinning on its head. Only the help of an old foe, long thought to be dead, could save

Warren from a fate worse than death and prevent Mars from falling into the hands of a madman.

Men, Masculinities, and Earth Paul M. Pulé, Martin

Hultman, 2021-08-03 This book considers issues of social and ecological significance through a masculinities lens. Earth – our home for aeons – is reeling. The atmosphere is heating up, causing reefs to bleach, fisheries to collapse, regions to flood and dry, vast tracts to burn, the polar ice caps to melt, ancient glaciers to retreat, biodiversity to decline exacerbated by the sixth great extinction, and more. Meanwhile, social and economic disparities are widening. Pandemics are cauterising glocal communities and altering our social mores. Nationalism is feeding divisiveness and hate, especially through men's violence. Politically extreme individuals and groups are exalting freedom while scapegoating the marginalised. Such are the symptoms of an emerging (m)Anthropocene. This anthology contends with these alarming trends, pointing our attention towards their gendered origins. Building on our monograph Ecological Masculinities: Theoretical Foundations and Practical Guidance (2018), this collection of essays is framed as a dinner party conversation grouped into six discursive themes. Their views reflect a growing community of practice, whose combined efforts capture the most recent perspectives on masculine ecologisation. Together, they aim to help create a more caring world for all, moving the ecological masculinities conversation forward as it becomes an established, international, and pluralised field of study.

The original text, Ghāyat al-Ḥakīm, was compiled in Arabic from over two hundred sources in the latter half of the tenth century. It was translated into Castilian Spanish in the mid-thirteenth century, and shortly thereafter into Latin. Based on David Pingree's edition of the Latin text, this translation captures the spirit of Picatrix's role in the European tradition. In the world of Picatrix, we see a seamless integration of practical magic, earnest piety, and traditional philosophy. The detailed introduction considers the text's reception through multiple iterations and includes an enlightening statistical breakdown of the rituals described in the book. The Maya Book of Life Michael Owen, 2011-03 THE MAYA BOOK OF LIFE: UNDERSTANDING THE XULTUN TAROT is the companion book to the Xultun Tarot Classic Edition. It explores the archetypes and alchemy of the major arcana of the Xultun Tarot through indigenous teachings and the analytical psychology of C G Jung and casts new light on the meaning of 2012. The Xultun Tarot was created by Peter Balin in 1976 based on images from Maya history and culture. Taken from a single painting, it is the only tarot deck where the major arcana form a complete picture. This picture is a symbolic image of the alchemical marriage of spirit and matter and a map of what Jung called the individuation process. Only 500 copies of the original Xultun Tarot were ever printed. Now Kahurangi Press (xultun.com) has recreated this classic, long out-of-print deck true to its original large size and vibrant colours together with a book that explains the profound symbolism of the cards. Michael Owen is a clinical psychologist in private practice and author of Jung and the Native American Moon Cycles. He lives in New Zealand.
