Moving Toward the Light Lanie Goodman, Betsy Dillard Stroud, David Pagel, 2015 There will be a traveling exhibits of Joseph Raffael's work: * Nancy Hoffman Gallery, NYC - September 10 through October 31, 2015 * Canton Museum, Canton Ohio - December 2015 through early March 2016 * Southern Ohio Museum, Portsmouth, Ohio - March through June 2016 * Flint Institute of Arts, Flint, Michigan - June through August, 2016 Extraordinary in scale, infinitesimal in detail, and sumptuous in color, the paintings of master watercolorist Joseph Raffael plumb the depths of nature's beauty. Eighty-eight works of deep reflection, awe, and joy selected for this volume were created in his home and garden in Cap D'Antibes, France, overlooking the sparkling Mediterranean Sea. Raffael's radiant vision of the natural world, including flowers, fish and water, has garnered critical praise throughout his long career. Despite their iconic serenity when seen from a distance, wrote art critic Robert Hughes, Raffael's paintings disclose a bejeweled profusion of incident close up, concluding that the artist's color-drenched canvases display a tender virtuosity without parallel in other American figurative painting today. It might be said that water, a symbol of life and constant change, is both Raffael's muse and teacher. The artist becomes its conduit as his colour-saturated brush glides along the surface of the white paper. Watercolors have a mind of their own. I just need to show up and be present, he tells Betsy Dillard Stroud in her interview with the 81-year old artist. Lanie Goodman, a fellow resident in the South of France, visits Raffael at work in his light-filled studio, which she describes, in her biographical profile of the artist, as his haven and heaven. With tables of brushes and glass dishes of paint, the carefully cultivated garden by his wife Lannis, and the blue sea beyond, Raffael joins the long legacy of artists - Cezanne, Matisse, Leger among them - nourished by this life and vista. Raffael's home, where artist and nature are in constant dialogue, accounts for the artist's luminous painting, their symphonic color, and the splendour we behold in them. In his essay A Walk in Beauty, David Pagel identifies Raphael's worlds within worlds as profound instances of big-picture thinking - the best possible experience of both Nature and Art.

Light Moving in Time William Charles Wees, 1992 To view a film is to see another's seeing mediated by the technology and techniques of the camera. By manipulating the cinematic apparatus in unorthodox ways, avant-garde filmmakers challenge the standardized versions of seeing perpetuated by the dominant film industry and generate ways of seeing that are truer to actual human vision. Beginning with the proposition that the images of cinema and vision derive from the same basic elements--light, movement, and time--Wees argues that cinematic apparatus and human visual apparatus have significant properties in common. For that reason they can be brought into a dynamic, creative relationship which the author calls the dialectic of eye and camera. The consequences of this relationship are what Wees explores. Although previous studies have recognized the visual bias of avant-garde film, this is the first to place the visual aesthetics of avant-garde film in a long-standing, multidisciplinary discourse on vision, visibility, and art. Living In Light: Journey of a soul, moving from darkness to light Zankhana Tambi, 2020-06-11 In December 2019 when in one part of the world, the Pandemic had started to spread its darkness; there were many parts where the Divine light had started to spread. Living in Light is a story of a woman who after having gone through a series of heartaches and struggles finally arrives in a place of Divine light & Wisdom. As the world outside was caught in fear and uncertainties, her world was filled with love and the light of the Divine Masters, whom she now communed with daily in her meditation. They guided her and insisted her to write this book and share with the world her journey of moving from darkness to light. The book Living in Light will serve as GPS (God's Positioning System) for each and every one of you, to choose light over darkness and begin Living in Light. Wisdom of her soul beautifully shared in this book Where it will uplift the lives of many - Master Pallavi For those who want to walk the path keep living in light, close to you. - Ruzsbeh N Bharucha
