Giorgio Vasari and the Birth of the Museum MaiaWellington Gahtan,2017-07-05

Giorgio Vasari and the Birth of the Museum offers the first dedicated and comprehensive study of Vasari's original contributions to the making of museums, addressing the subject from the full range of aspects - collecting, installation, conceptual-historical - in which his influence is strongly felt. Uniting specialists of Giorgio Vasari with scholars of historical museology, this collection of essays presents a cross-disciplinary overview of Vasari's approaches to the collecting and display of art, artifacts and memorabilia. Although the main focus of the book is on the mid-late 16th century, contributors also bring to light that Vasari's museology enjoyed a substantial afterlife well into the modern museum era. This volume is a fundamental addition to the museum studies literature and a welcome enhancement to the scholarly industry on Giorgio Vasari.

Bronzino's Chapel of Eleonora in the Palazzo Vecchio Janet Cox-

Rearick,2023-12-22 Do the sacred decorations of a Florentine Renaissance chapel—saints, symbols, and scriptural stories—hold personal and political meanings? Cox-Rearick's ground-breaking book explores the message hidden in the frescoes and altar panels of the Chapel of Eleonora di Toledo, painted in the early 1540s by Agnolo Bronzino for the Spanish-born wife of Duke Cosimo I de Medici. Bronzino, then the chief painter to the Medici court, was largely responsible for the invention in Florence of the highly self-conscious, elegant Maniera style. Cox-Rearick interweaves her account of the Medici biography with an examination of Bronzino's commission in the broader context of his oeuvre. Cox-Rearick reveals the Chapel of Eleonora as an intimately devised decorative program that transmits messages about its patrons and Medici rule. Detailed color photographs of the newly restored art splendidly document this early tour de force of a major artist whose works are still relatively unexamined.

"The" Twentieth Century, 2023 The history of the City of Florence Art Collections takes shape through a complex and exciting season of relaunches and setbacks, acquisitions and missed opportunities, reconstructed here until the birth of Museo Novecento, with the first museum project in 2014. The history of the City of Florence Twentieth-Century Art Collections began in 1907, when the Società Leonardo da Vinci, acting through Ugo Ojetti and the company Chair Francesco Gioli, addressed a formal petition for the establishment of a Gallery of Modern Art in Florence. It would be inaugurated in Palazzo Pitti in 1914. The diffident stance of Ojetti towards any artistic experimentation not aligned with the Tuscan figurative culture encouraged the development of the collections in the name of continuity. In the second half of the twentieth century, Carlo Ludovico Ragghianti strove to link artistic legacies and contemporary art collections to Florence in the hope that the city did not close in on itself or circumscribe into an archaeological cabotage?, to qualify instead as a ?hub of contemporary artistic life?. The dramatic flood of 1966 would be a seminal moment to give the right momentum to the project of Museo Internazionale di Arte Contemporanea, an institution being different from and complementary to Galleria d'Arte Moderna. In February 1967, the Artisti per Firenze exhibition, curated by Ragghianti in Palazzo Vecchio, testified to the artists' generous response to the appeal for the creation of MIAC, till the opening of Alberto Della Ragione Collection to the public in 1970. This complex and exciting season of relaunches and setbacks, acquisitions and missed opportunities is reconstructed here until the birth of Museo Novecento, with the first museum project in 2014.

The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Tourism Melanie Smith, Greg Richards, 2013-01-17 The Routledge Handbook of Cultural Tourism explores and critically evaluates the debates and controversies in this field of Tourism. It brings together leading specialists from a range of disciplinary backgrounds and geographical regions, to provide state-of-the-art theoretical reflection and empirical research on this significant stream of tourism and its future direction. The book is divided into 7 inter-related sections. Section 1 looks at the historical, philosophical and theoretical framework for cultural tourism. This section debates tourist autonomy role play, authenticity, imaginaries, cross-cultural issues and inter-disciplinarity. Section 2 analyses the role that politics takes in cultural tourism. This section also looks at ways in which cultural tourism is used as a policy instrument for economic development. Section 3 focuses on social patterns and trends, such as the mobilities paradigm, performativity, reflexivity and traditional hospitality, as well as considering sensitive social issues such as dark tourism. Section 4 analyses community and development, exploring adaptive forms of cultural tourism, as well as more sustainable models for indigenous tourism development. Section 5 discusses Landscapes and Destinations, including the transformation of space into place, issues of authenticity in landscape, the transformation of urban and rural landscapes into tourism products and conservation versus development dilemmas. Section 6 refers to Regeneration and Planning, especially the creative turn in cultural tourism, which can be used to avoid problems of serial reproduction, standardisation and homogenisation. Section 7 deals with The Tourist and Visitor Experience, emphasising the desire of tourists to be more actively and interactively engaged in cultural tourism. This significant volume offers the reader a comprehensive synthesis of this field, conveying the latest thinking and research. The text is international in focus, encouraging dialogue across disciplinary boundaries and areas of study and will be an invaluable resource for all those with an interest in Cultural Tourism. This is essential reading for students, researchers and academics of Tourism as well as those of related studies in particular Cultural Studies, Leisure, Geography, Sociology, Politics and Economics.

The Mapping of Power in Renaissance Italy Mark Rosen, 2015 This well-illustrated study investigates the symbolic dimensions of painted maps as products of ambitious early modern European courts.
