A Multichannel Personal Telemetry System Using Pulse Position Modulation Adolf R. Marko, Miles A. McLennan, Edward G. Correll, 1961 A personal telemetry system using the pulse position modulation technique was developed. The laboratory model transmits heart rate, respiration rate, and body temperature within a range of 100 feet. Compared with FM - FM Systems this system has the advantage of very low power consumption (20 milliwatts), light weight (6 ounces with batteries for 80 hours continuous operation), small size (4-3/4 by 3-1/2 by 1 inches), and sufficient accuracy and stability (2 percent baseline stability) for physiological measurements. An inexpensive, small, singletrack tape recorder may be used for recording; and an extremely simple and inexpensive playback system can be used for scope display. Although more complex equipment is required for the playback system to standard penwriters, this penwriter decoding unit is not any more complicated than standard FM discriminators. Simple, reliable, switching-type circuits which work over a wide temperature range are used, and there is no problem with crosstalk between channels. The limitations of this personal telemetry system are: (a) the frequency capability for each channel is 0 to 40 cps; (b) it is limited to a maximum of 6 channels; and (c) special playback equipment is required.

IBM System z Personal Development Tool: Volume 1 Introduction and Reference Bill Ogden, IBM Redbooks, 2013-06-24 This IBM® Redbooks® publication introduces the IBM System z® Personal Development Tool (zPDT), which runs on an underlying Linux system based on an Intel processor. zPDT provides a System z system on a PC capable of running current System z operating systems, including emulation of selected System z I/O devices and control units. It is intended as a development, demonstration, and learning platform and is not designed as a production system. This book, providing an introduction, is the first of three volumes. The second volume describes the installation of zPDT (including the underlying Linux, and a particular z/OS® distribution) and basic usage patterns. The third volume discusses more advanced topics that may not interest all zPDT users. The IBM order numbers for the three volumes are SG24-7721, SG24-7722, and SG24-7723. An additional volume (SG24-7859) describes the use of zPDT in a Parallel Sysplex configuration. The systems discussed in these volumes are complex, with elements of Linux (for the underlying PC machine), z/Architecture® (for the core zPDT elements), System z I/O functions (for emulated I/O devices), and z/OS (providing the System z application interface), and possibly with other System z operating systems. We assume the reader is familiar with general concepts and terminology of System z hardware and software elements and with basic PC Linux characteristics.

Work the System Sam Carpenter,2011-01-10 A Simple Mindset Tweak Will Change Your Life. After a fifteen-year nightmare operating a stagnant service business, Sam Carpenter developed a down-to-earth methodology that knocked his routine eighty-hour workweek down to a single hour—while multiplying his bottom-line income more than twenty-fold. In Work the System, Carpenter reveals a profound insight and the exact uncomplicated, mechanical steps he took to turn his business and life around without turning it upside down. Once you “get” this new vision, success and serenity will come quickly. You will learn to: • Make a simple perception adjustment that will change your life forever. • See your world as a logical collection of linear systems that you can control. • Manage the systems that produce results in your business and your life. • Stop fire-killing. Become a fire-control specialist! • Maximize profit, create client loyalty, and develop enthusiastic employees who respect you. • Identify insidious “errors of omission.” • Maximize your biological and mechanical “prime time” so that you are working at optimum efficiency. • Design the life you want—and then, in the real world, quickly create it! You can keep doing what you have always done, and continue getting mediocre, unsatisfactory results. Or you can find the peace and freedom you’ve always wanted by transforming your business or corporate department into a finely tuned machine that runs on autopilot!
