The Pin Drop Principle David Lewis,G. Riley Mills,2012-05-01 Tap into the powerful techniques of professional actors and great communicators The Pin Drop Principle is a step-by-step master class for anyone wishing to become a more confident and credible communicator. Lewis and Mills believe all business professionals ought to deliver their message in such an engaging way that one could literally hear a pin drop when they speak. The secret to doing so comes from an unusual world: professional acting. By activating objective and intention—the main tools of actors (and great communicators)—business people can give their messages meaning and relevance, so the recipients walk away knowing why the message is important and what is in it for them. Empowers business professionals with performance-based delivery techniques—from storytelling to vocal dynamics—essential to becoming a great communicator Written for anyone wishing to engage listeners, establish instant credibility, influence key decision makers, and create a positive lasting impression Based on the Pinnacle Method, one of the most popular and groundbreaking communication skills training methods The Pin Drop Principle is an accessible resource for anyone who routinely needs to present ideas to large or small groups, convey feedback effectively, conduct difficult conversations, and persuade others.

Raccoons Are Hard to Come By Aimee Gray,Georgie Bean,Callum Guilfoyle,Jordan Fry,Jordan Matthews,Lille Sumun,Pindrop Productions,2020-12-11 Have you ever wondered what our world would look like in the future? Or how far some people will go to be noticed? Or perhaps you've looked at your dog one day and pondered what it's like to be them? Well, we have! Pindrop Productions presents 'Raccoons Are Hard To Come By' - a collection of short stories that travel across worlds, perspectives and explores what it means to embrace who we are.This unique collection of modern stories explore a wide range of genres, including fantasy, sci-fi, poetry, period, comedy and fictional tales.If, for example, one would ever dare to wonder at the complexity of the human mind, one might come to the conclusion that we are so deeply unchangeable that there is no use in trying to alter behaviours. But, working with this assumption, it would, in turn, be impossible to learn anything.If we look beneath the surface we might just be surprised at what we find.Look out for the raccoons popping up throughout!***Pindrop Productions strives to create inclusive work across many art platforms.

Night Watch Jonathan Totman,2020-11-24 Jonathan Totman's debut poetry collection is a bag of exquisite treasures. Lightly, discreetly, he takes us by the hand and shows us owls and fireworks, chores and spreadsheets, architecture, lichens and encounters with wild animals, in ways that make us see the world through fresh eyes. Poems about the grief of losing a parent are woven through others exploring the joys of new fatherhood - and ultimately about what it is to be human. Delicate and hauntingly beautiful, this is a collection by a poet who is going places. Totman has a gift for marrying the natural and the human - sparks of life from every source flare and soar into the darkness, scattering their fine traces on the imagination. Night Shift is a collection to warm the heart - a book rich in humanity, tenderness, colour and light. - Clare Best These bravely tender, beautifully intimate poems speak of the presences and the voids that shape our apprehensions: of 'the prayer-deep dark' and the heart's 'private lanterns'; of 'the rich soil of the night', and of 'the light // crashing through'. Whether 'trespassing' into the 'rickety barn' of fatherhood or acquiescing in a wood's 'rough shelter', Totman treads softly, inviting us to bear witness, to feel 'the flutter and kick of imagination / pushing against absence'. Night Shift is a vigil, and it is also an incitement to attend: to embrace life's 'grit' and 'balm', its 'slip and scrape' and the everyday 'kindnesses that stick like burrs'. - Rebecca Watts With an appropriately skilled language of poetic sensibility, and an often understated tenderness, Jonathan Totman with an open generosity invites the reader to share his experiences of Nature and family. 'Night Shift' is an impressive first collection. - John Lyons

Lemon in Orbit Ole Hagen,2021-05-25 Tuesday fell on a Friday / Doors fell off their hinges [...] These are not bad times / only badly behaved times ('London-Hong Kong'). Somewhere between the quirky wisdom of Dr. Seuss and the compressed surrealism of Selima Hill, these poems are cheeky and exhilarating, full of strange insights and eternal truths dressed up as onions strapped to the legs (to paraphrase a line from 'Globetrotter'). That Ole is an artist can be seen and felt viscerally in his mesmerizing debut collection. With what I could fit in a bucket / I made my way through the labyrinth // I was both the mover and the maze / as they say in these parts of the garden ('Millennium'). Comic, but deadly serious too, Hagen's poems are mythograms from another spacetime. Anyone looking for straightforward meaning will be frustrated here; these words are not for you but for something inside you. Reading Hagen's verses is like reading precise communiques from another world that is nevertheless within this one. Has poetry ever meant anything else? - Simon O'Sullivan, artist and co-author of Fictioning: The Myth-Functions of Contemporary Art and Philosophy
