Continents of the World for Kids Nishi Singh,2016-01-07 Continents of the World for Kids: Geography for Kids: World Continents Do you want to teach your children about the continents of the world? If yes then this is the book for you! It's important that children appreciate the planet as the home land of mankind so that they can take wise decisions when they grow older about how the planet's resources should be used. In this book, children will learn about the various continents of the world, about its people, their societies, economies, cultures and the environment. This book is more than just a factual look through. It is a book that will make children appreciate why each continent is important and why they should be preserved for as long as possible. With the increase in global warming and climate change that is currently affecting the world, the current state of the continents is subject to change as well. Soon Antarctica might not be a place that is considered to be icy and cold. If the ice caps keep melting then the continent of Antarctica may disappear all together and become flooded with water. But if children never had knowledge about Antarctica then they would never understand the significance of this change. That is why learning about the continents now is crucial. Let this book be their guide to the current state of the continents. Then in the next 30 years they can look back upon and see how much they've truly changed over the years.

Geographic Terms Donald Silver,Patricia J. Wynne,2009 Build essential geographic vocabulary and knowledge with this unique collection of easy-to-make mini-books. People & Planet Michelle Copher,Karen Loutzenhiser,2023-01-03 People & Planet is a geography course that covers maps & globes, physical geography of landforms, climates, natural disasters, soil & rocks, ecological issues, water, biomes, and natural resources as well as a tour to each continent, the oceans, and the polar regions. A mentor uses People & Planet to custom tailor learning to the students. The mentor chooses from among the library book recommendations, video recommendations, and activity ideas presented in the book. Mentors and students learn together as they read, watch, craft, cook, play, and create. To complete the activities you will need craft supplies and some household items. This course was designed for multiple ages or abilities of students to learn together in a homeschool or classroom. People & Planet includes nine units, one for each month of your school year. They are: Maps & Globes, Africa, Asia, South America, Oceania, North America, Europe, Polar Regions, and Oceans. Each unit intentionally contains more information and activities than you will be able to complete. The mentor chooses among the options to design a course just for his or her students. Then, in four years, once the entire Layers of Learning cycle has been completed, you all return to the book and do new activities at a higher level of learning. This course was designed for multiple ages or abilities of students to learn together in a homeschool or classroom and contains activities that will appeal to little ones and to high schoolers, often at the same time. A Printable Pack of worksheets, paper crafts, foldables, maps, and activities is included with this book. To retrieve the Printable Pack for free visit Layers-of-Learning.com and enter the coupon code found inside this book.

Charting the World Richard Panchyk,2011-08-01 As soon as early humans began to scratch images on cave walls, they began to create maps. And while these first drawings were used to find hunting grounds or avoid danger, they later developed into far more complex navigational tools. Charting the World tells the fascinating history of maps and mapmaking, navigators and explorers, and the ways that technology has enhanced our ability to understand the world around us. Richly illustrated with full-color maps and diagrams, it gives children an in-depth appreciation of geographical concepts and principles and shows them how to unlock the wealth of information maps contain. It also features 21 hands-on activities for readers to put their new skills to the test. Children will: build a three-dimensional island model using a contour map, engrave a simple map on an aluminum "printing plate," determine the elevation of hills in their neighborhood, draw a treasure map and have a friend search for the hidden stash, create a nautical chart of a small puddle, survey their backyard or local park, navigate a course using a compass, and much more. Now more than ever, the study of geography is crucial to understanding our ever-changing planet, from political change and warfare to environmental conservation and population growth.
