Arsenal of History R. Alan Stello Jr.,2013-03-05 The Powder Magazine was completed circa 1713 as an arsenal to safely store munitions in the South Carolina colonial capital of Charles Town, serving continuously in defense through the 1740s and periodically until the 1820s. Rescued from destruction in 1902, the building has served as a museum for more than a century, inspiring countless other historic conservation efforts. Museum Director Alan Stello presents the story of the state's oldest public building by establishing connections between the arsenal and the significant episodes it has witnessed. Readers will enjoy an introductory look at South Carolina colonial military history while gaining an appreciation for this icon of history and preservation.

Powder Days Heather Hansman,2021-11-09 A Boston Globe Bestseller! An Outside Magazine Book Club Pick! Winner of the International Ski Association's Ullr Book Award! A sparkling account.—Wall Street Journal An electrifying adventure into the rich history of skiing and the modern heart of ski-bum culture, from one of America's most preeminent ski journalists The story of skiing is, in many ways, the story of America itself. Blossoming from the Tenth Mountain Division in World War II, the sport took hold across the country, driven by adventurers seeking the rush of freedom that only cold mountain air could provide. As skiing gained in popularity, mom-and-pop backcountry hills gave way to groomed trails and eventually the megaresorts of today. Along the way, the pioneers and diehards—the ski bums—remained the beating heart of the scene. Veteran ski journalist and former ski bum Heather Hansman takes readers on an exhilarating journey into the hidden history of American skiing, offering a glimpse into an underexplored subculture from the perspective of a true insider. Hopping from Vermont to Colorado, Montana to West Virginia, Hansman profiles the people who have built their lives around a cold-weather obsession. Along the way she reckons with skiing's problematic elements and investigates how the sport is evolving in the face of the existential threat of climate change.

The Powder Magazine at the Benicia Arsenal H. Allan Gandy,2021-04-20 The Powder Magazine at the Benicia Arsenal by H. Allan Gandy, is intended for historians, museum visitors, military enthusiasts, architects, teachers, and students. It is a presentation about the history, design, construction, builders, and preservation of the Powder Magazine, built in 1857. Many of the interesting facts are summarized from the Army Benicia Arsenal log from the 1850s, not previously researched in detail. There is no other book covering this subject. The Powder Magazine is unique because of its design and materials. Local sandstone was used to construct four-foot-thick walls. Beautiful, vaulted ceilings and carved capitals on the pillars reflect the stone mason's skill and creativity. The building of the Powder Magazine in 1857 is presented in detail—from the quarrying of the sandstone and laying of the foundation and walls, to the installation of its beautiful interior columns and arches.

Arsenal of History R. Alan Stello,2013 Historical account of the Powder Magazine in Charleston, South Carolina, recognized as the state's oldest public building.

The Powder Magazine Jerry W. Gardner,1999-01-01 Brockington and Associates, Inc., conducted historical research and administered architectural maintenance of the Powder Magazine in Montgomery, Alabama, between April and September 1999. The Powder Magazine is located in Powder Magazine Park, overlooking R.E. Bob Woodruff Lake (also known as Jones Bluff Lake), formerly the Alabama River. This work was conducted under an indefinite delivery order contract with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Mobile District (USACE). Investigations and maintenance work were conducted in compliance with Sections 106 and 110 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (NHPA, as amended), and implementing regulations of the USACE (33 CFR part 325, Appendix C: Procedures for the Protection of Historic Properties). The Alabama State Historic Preservation Office(SHPO)/Alabama Historical Commission (AHC) concurred with the level of effort for building maintenance on June 8th, 1999. This project provided historical and architectural documentation of the building and repaired/restored deteriorating structural elements. Maintenance activities followed The Secretary of Interior's Standards and Guidelines for Architectural and Engineering Documentation, Historic American Building Survey (HABS) and Historic American Engineering Resources (HAER) standards, Rehabilitating Historic Buildings, and relevant Preservation Briefs. Maintenance tasks included correcting on-going structural deterioration (from excessive moisture) by removing concrete and brick pavers around the building, grading to reestablish positive drainage, repointing and repairing exterior brickwork, rust treating interior iron supports, and floor cleaning. Management recommendations for periodic inspections and additional maintenance and restoration are also provided.

Downriver Heather Hansman,2022-01-21 The Green River, the most significant tributary of the Colorado River, runs 730 miles from the glaciers of Wyoming to the desert canyons of Utah. Providing water for thirty-three million people, it flows through ranches, cities, national parks, and some of the most significant natural gas fields in the country. Stopped up by dams, slaked off by irrigation, and dried up by cities, the Green is crucial, overused, and at risk, now more than ever. Fights over the river's water, and what's going to happen to it in the future, are long-standing, intractable, and only getting worse as the West gets hotter and drier and more people depend on the river with each passing year. Former raft guide and environmental reporter Heather Hansman knew the issues but felt driven to see the situation firsthand and from a different perspective - from the river itself. So she set out on a journey, in a one-person inflatable pack raft and with an open mind, and see what the experience might teach her. Mixing lyrical accounts of quiet paddling through breathtaking beauty with nights spent camping solo and lively discussions with farmers, city officials, and other people met along the way, Downriver is the story of that journey, a foray into the present-and future- of water in the West. --

In Search of Powder Jeremy Evans,2010-11-01 As a recent college graduate and fledgling newspaper reporter in the Lake Tahoe area, Jeremy Evans became immersed in ski bum culture—a carefree lifestyle whose mantra was simply: ?Ski as much as possible.? His snowboarding suffered when he left for a job in the Portland area; and when, at twenty-six, he suffered a stroke, he reexamined his priorities, quit his job, moved back to Tahoe, and threw himself into snowboarding. But while he had been away, the culture had changed. This book is Evans's paean to the disappearing culture of the ski bum. A fascinating look at a world far removed from the larger culture, it is also a curious account of a passion for powder and what its disappearance means. ø Evans looks at several prominent ski towns in the West (including Crested Butte, Jackson Hole, Telluride, Lake Tahoe, Park City, and Mammoth) and the ski bums who either flourished or fled. He chronicles the American West transformed by rising real estate costs, an immigrant workforce, misguided values, and corporate-owned resorts. The story he tells is that of quintessentially American characters?rejecting materialism, taking risks, following their own path?and of the glories and pitfalls their lifestyle presents.

Arsenal Cannon Arsenal Technical Schools,2017-05-23 Excerpt from Arsenal Cannon: Powder Magazine; January, 1918 Hours will be arranged so the afternoons are free either to pursue the training course or to complete otherwise unfinished work in other subjects. No credits are given for preliminary training. However two credits may be given for the two calendar months work during the summer provided the pupil receive the approval of Mr. Hoffman. The students will not receive credit for their regular studies unless these are completed before May the first. A plan is under way by which this work may be made up in advance. So the energetic student who plans ahead may get his regular credits and two extra ones, besides helping Uncle Sam win the war. Historic Powder Houses of New England Matthew E. Thomas,2013-11-05 In the turbulent history of colonial New England, more than two hundred powder houses were built to store gunpowder, guns and armaments. Even the spark from a metal shoe nail could ignite their contents, so they often sat in remote sections of town. These volatile storehouses played a vital role in earning and preserving American independence. It was, after all, to a powder house in Concord, Massachusetts, that the British army marched in April 1775 to seize colonists' gunpowder. The British were thwarted, and the colonists' defense of the powder house ignited the Revolutionary War. Add to this the duels, murders, public hangings and tragic explosions that checkered the history of these structures, and the reader will discover a fascinating and forgotten aspect of our New England heritage. Using meticulous research, Matthew Thomas narrates the colorful histories of New England's powder houses as he resurrects their historical significance in early American history.
