"Gone, but Not Forgotten" LaDon Vinnett-Thompson,2016-08-19 This book pays tribute to my father, Alvin Charles Copeland, Sr. My father was a great man with a great heart for people. He loved life and winning in life. He was successful because he prioritized people and family over materialistic things. He was a winner that lived for a challenge. As the eldest son, I am proud and humbled to have the opportunity to continue his legacy and fulfill the tasks he left behind. I am honored to endorse this book as a motivational tool for anyone who may be facing a challenge, setback, or obstacle in this life. My father never gave up on life in spite of disappointments; he was relentless about making the best of any situation. During his battle with cancer, my father never gave up. He was a born leader, motivating father, and a man of influence. As you read the pages of this book, I know you will be encouraged to live your life to the fullest. I know that something in my father's life will help motivate you to face every circumstance, or setback with a winning attitude. Today I challenge you to take on the attitude of a champion. Champions are determined risk-takers that are often the center of attraction. Champions never die; they just live out their lives through others once they pass away. Thank you for helping me pay tribute to a true champion, Al Copeland, Sr.

It considers both the use of computers and databases to support decisions as well as human aids to building analyses and some fast and frugal tricks to aid more consistent decision making. In its exploration of decision support it draws together results and observations from decision theory, behavioural and psychological studies, artificial intelligence and information systems, philosophy, operational research and organisational studies. This provides a valuable resource for managers with decision-making responsibilities and students from a range of disciplines, including management, engineering and information systems.
