“Weston, Weston, Rah-Rah-Rah!” P. S. Marshall, 2012-12-12 “Not Grant nor Sherman, nor any of our country’s heroes, were ever made the subject of more ardent curiosity on the part of our citizens than the hero of a thousand-mile walk. The excitement at times reached almost to the point of frenzy and in their eagerness to gain a standing point right in front of the window at which the beaming countenance of the great man was seen, the crowd came in sharp collision with the police.” – Chicago Tribune – November, 1867 “He moved through a greater mass of people than was on the streets when William H. Taft, as President of the United States was here, or when Theodore Roosevelt came the day after. Crowds that blocked all traffic in the neighborhood greeted the veteran pedestrian. The side streets were choked and every roof had a fringe of humanity.” – New York’s The Sun – August, 1913 In a professional career spanning just over 60 years, one man would capture the imagination and the hearts of the people of the sporting world. Born in 1839, the enigmatic and eccentric American from Providence, Rhode Island, would become the “walking sensation” of both Britain and the USA, where he would “wow” the enormous crowds that filled the arenas and lined the roadsides with his performances on the tracks and highways. Handsome, immaculately dressed, well-spoken and intelligent, the “Wily Wobbler” would be watched by hoards of adoring fans throughout his career, which would see him compete against “time” and other athletes in the most amazing competitions. Everyone wanted to see him in action. Whenever he was pacing around a sawdust track, or scurrying along a dirt road, they clapped him, they cheered him, they loved him – and he loved them! Without them, he was a nobody, but with their support and his gutsy determination to succeed against all the odds, he became the...

Your Life Experiences with Rah Rahul K Maharaj, 2022-08-02 My biggest advice to people, especially those who fall into today’s mental challenges and feel they can’t move forward is, never give up. Anything worth fighting for takes time, commitment, and a lot of positive thoughts. Don’t ever think you can’t; instead, always say to yourself, “I can, I shall and I will.” Say to yourself (I want this, I need to work at this, I need to climb the ladder, and when I get worth all the struggles, tears, and sweat; all the hard work,) then, when you make it, you will turn and advise others with your story, saying the same words “never give up” & “fight for your dreams.” Rahul K Maharaj

The Life Of Rah Rahimah S. Phillips, 2022-01-15 Have you ever thought that you found the love of your life--only to find out that he wasn't? Have you ever thought that your only child would be your one saving grace--only to find out that he wasn't? Have you ever thought that the one man in your life, the only man that you've ever known as a father, would be there to protect you forever--only to find out that he wasn't? Have you ever wished for the perfect mother--only to find out that she wasn't, or the perfect family--only to find out that that they weren't? Have you ever felt like you just want to be normal--only to find out that you aren't? Have you ever felt all alone in the world--only to find out that there are others who feel the same way? Have you ever felt like you wanted to die--only to realize that you have so much to live for? Rahimah shares this compelling story about her life as an amazing young Black girl, who came of age when she was a daughter, a granddaughter, a motherless child, and a mother. Take this journey with her, as she attempts to walk by faith while learning how to live with love and hate; while coping with life and death; while seeking to understand race and religion; while determining the difference between truth and lies, and while overcoming trials and tribulations. Throughout her life, Rahimah has struggled with fear, rejection, and abandonment. This is a story about vulnerability, insecurity, sexuality, and spirituality. This is a story about being torn between loyalty and integrity; and choosing between self-destruction and self-awareness. This is a story about determination and inspiration. Everyone has a story. This is Rahimah's story. This is her life--(The Life of Rah).
