The Real Estate Mogul Domico,Robert,2012-07-18 When I got out of the service at age 21 ,I decided I was going to make my fortune in Real Estate , so I purchased with my discharge pay a large house with 7 bedrooms and two bathrooms and made my first rooming house. I converted the porch and the Dining room into 2 more bedrooms, making a total of 9 bedrooms which I rented out in whose days for $50.00 a week each. I didnt give anyone use of the kitchen and I didnt allow anyone to have company, you just went directly to your room and basically went to sleep and that was it. I allowed no food in rooms or any loud noise after 10 PM. It was a great place if you had a job and you were making minimum wage. My mortgage payment was $250.00 a month , my electric bill was $165.00, My gas bill averaged 150 a month year around and because I had a well and septic tank , even getting them pumped out and serviced a couple times a year, only cost me an average of $35.00 a month. My Insurance ran me only $50.00 a month, about $25.00 a month for maintenance, so the expenses were $ 670.00 per month. My Income was $1330.00 a month on my first property net. There I was back in the late 1950s making over $17,000 a year ,not working for anybody. It was very important to get a lot of information about your tenants such as next of kin, Mother and fathers name and address, social security #,Employers Name, Landlord history, last job ect. I always had an application ready for them to full out. That way if they do any damage to your property you can chase them down.

Newspaper-Real Estate Schemes of the 1920s Margaret B. Barker, 2021-01-14 In the 1920s, newspapers and real estate developers colluded in a scheme to sell tiny vacation lots to subscribers. A zealous advertising campaign spawned a land-buying frenzy that sprouted dozens of waterfront summer colonies across the country. The resulting legal, social and environmental mayhem caused some of these communities to disappear or be drastically altered in character, while others managed to survive more or less intact. Drawing on newspaper accounts of the day, this book explores how the scheme eluded accusations of fraud, creating an assembly line for middle class resorts through a lucrative merger of real estate and journalism. Pell Lake, Wisconsin, serves as a case study that yields the best evidence for determining if it was all a scam. Told here for the first time, the story of this unusual alliance and the communities it created offers lessons for today's entrepreneurs, journalists, advertisers, real estate developers, environmentalists and anyone who has ever lived in a resort community.

Real Estate Good Life Bart Vickrey, 2016-02-02 What if you read this book and it finally clicked? How different can your life be if you stopped acting as the warden of your own prison? If for once in your life you finally gave it your all. Stopped being afraid. Acted with authority and authenticity. What would your life look like?
Today I challenge you to look at yourself in the mirror and be honest. Stop making excuses and skirting the obvious. No longer running from, but to. You've got to be willing to answer your own questions. Be accountable to your greatness. No longer willing to accept mediocrity. No longer will you allow the mediocre path to be your map. No longer will weakness be allowed to exist in your life. The scraps you have settled for will not suffice. Royalty is your path. Discipline is your vehicle. You will from this moment forward write your own script, edit your role, and star in each scene as it plays out into what will now be an Oscar worthy performance.
You've suffered long enough. And to your surprise, it's YOU to the rescue. Not luck. Not the government, not your spouse, or the economy. It's YOU. It's always been you. Up until now you willingly rode shotgun while mediocrity drove the car. The wait is over. You now realize that you don't need more money, or a new computer, or a different circumstance, or more education, or whatever the excuse has been. You don't need to be young, or old, or black, or white, or tall, or thin, or have more hair. You are all that is needed for success and greatness. Your freedom awaits you. Your conscious thought is now focused. The haze lifted. Personal freedom will not consent to fear. Choices no longer influenced by others. This very moment. This very second. This very instant is all we've got. Now you slow to smell roses. Hurry no longer whips at your back. The fulfillment of our dreams, our hearts, and all our desires stands before us with clear eyes. This moment, second, instant includes everything. Stop looking. Start having. Open the prison door. You hold the key. Reach inside and grab it. This book is the story of a real estate agent. From a broken home and dead broke, to self-made and living the Real Estate Good Life. Inside you will find stories from childhood through my early real estate career. I will describe in detail how I finally made the decision to treat real estate as a business instead of only as a job. The book then describes all of the specific marketing programs my team and I have implemented. Each designed specifically for return on investment. As a bonus, I've created a website to compliment this book. The website offers FREE copies of my expired listing campaign, Craigslist program, Shock and Awe listing lead generation magnet (I consistently average 100 listings at any given time), our database Proper Communication plan, my monthly newsletter program, and much more. The web address is www.realestategoodlife.com The business I've been fortunate enough to build allows me to work No Evenings, No Weekends, and No Fridays. And to top it off, I currently make ZERO cold calls! Thank you so much for your interest! Feel free to contact me directly anytime: bart@bartsellshouses.com.

The Dirty Truth Tucker Merrihew, 2015-02-12 What is real estate investing? Glitz? Glamour? And profits of $10,000 a day from your laptop on a beach? No. No. And, no. Real estate investing requires hard work and dedication. Tucker Merrihew, Host of 'The Real Dealz Podcast' and owner of TTM Development Company knows this. How? Located in Portland, Oregon, Tucker has been running his own successful real estate investing company for 10 years. How has he accomplished this? By skipping over foreclosures and MLS listings and marketing directly to homeowners for the best deals! During his tenure, Tucker has seen thousands of homes and witnessed hundreds of odd, ugly situations in homeownership. Did he buy? Maybe. Did he see the inside? Yes. Did he get his hands dirty? Always! This book is a down and dirty wild ride through the Real Estate Investing Trenches. Want to know what REI is really about? Take a look inside! Be careful. It isn't pretty in here. It's just The Dirty Truth!

Real Estate Agent Earnings and Local Housing Prices

Barry T. Hirsch, David A. Macpherson, Zichong Qu, 2022 Real estate agents typically receive commissions based on a fixed percentage of home price purchases. Because housing prices vary across markets, one might expect that realtors have higher earnings in high-priced markets. Prior work by Hsieh and Moretti (2003) suggests that entry among realtors leads to roughly equivalent earnings across markets. We examine evidence from U.S. metro areas during 1996-2021 using Zillow housing price indices, coupled with realtor microdata (the CPS and ACS) including realtors' location, earnings, and work hours. Realtors' earnings elasticity with respect to local home prices is roughly 0.30, so that 10 percent higher home prices lead to 3 percent higher earnings. The positive wage-price relationship is not unique to realtors. The overall workforce has wage-price elasticities (conditioned on covariates) of about 0.20, two-thirds the size of realtors' elasticity. Realtors receive slightly higher earnings in higher-priced cities, about 1 percent for each 10 percent difference in housing prices. Weekly work hours across markets vary little with respect to metro housing prices, both for realtors and non-realtors. Evidence supports Hsieh and Moretti's conclusion that over-entry in high-priced markets is due to the inefficiency of fixed percentage commissions. Realtors have higher hourly earnings (and variance) than do similar non-realtor workers within the same labor markets, on the order of 10 percent. Evidence supports the view that real estate agents (on average) realize wage premiums. We suspect that higher earnings reflects both unmeasured personal attributes and compensating differentials for risk (e.g., variable earnings).
