I know one thing; there wouldn't be a need for a Naughty and Nice list anymore. Can you imagine all those children and their sad little faces? I could never give up this cause because the children are so angelic with those bright and cheery smiles when they look at you or the presents you leave on Christmas morning. -- Santa Claus

A Department Store Santa Claus a Christmas Play, in Three Scenes and a Tableau (Classic Reprint) Ernest Godfrey Hoffsten, 2015-07-03 Excerpt from A Department Store Santa Claus a Christmas Play, in Three Scenes and a Tableau Having erected the window and door frames, cover the entire space with a screen of dark stiff paper or cloth, leaving the window and door spaces open. Allow for entrances at the extreme right and left sides. The door frame should have a swinging door inserted and the window front should be covered with mosquito netting. Across the back of the window stretch burlap or heavy cloth or paper, capable of holding toys and Christmas decorations, suspended upon it. The baseboard of the window, twelve inches deep, allows space for the installation of lighting effects, incandescent lamps being the best and safest. The front platform represents the sidewalk. The name of the firm, Dobs and Snobs, should be lettered above the window frame. Footlights add very much to the effectiveness of the scene. The second and third scenes present an easy interior. Emphasis should be placed upon the fire place, allowing an opening large enough through which Santa Claus and his angel children may enter. One entrance is sufficient for this room, for which the door used in Scene I is suitable. In order to add to the illusion of the Santa Claus-Fairy scene of the Tableau, it is effective to drop a curtain of neutral-tinted (gray or light brown) netting across the front of the stage.
