Medizinökonomie 1 Christian Thielscher, 2014-12-10 Medizinökonomie ist die Anwendung ökonomischer Methoden auf die Medizin, insbesondere auf die medizinische Versorgung. Ziel ist die Verbesserung der medizinischen Behandlung, denn die erfolgreiche Behandlung gilt in der Medizin wie in der Medizinökonomie als oberste Maxime professionellen Handelns. Die Komplexität der medizinischen Versorgung in Deutschland mit ihren zahlreichen Akteuren, unterschiedlichen Zuständigkeitsbereichen und Verflechtungen erfordert viele Regularien und Abstimmungsprozesse, die für Außenstehende oft nur schwer zu durchschauen sind. Der wissenschaftliche ebenso wie der praxisbezogene Austausch von Wirtschaft und Medizin gestaltet sich aufgrund der manchmal uneinheitlichen Sicht auf die Dinge schwierig und führt nicht selten zu Missverständnissen. Namhafte Experten aus den Bereichen Ökonomie und Gesundheitswesen machen in diesem Buch der jeweils anderen Seite die Bedeutung ihrer Disziplin in verständlicher Weise klar. Als Autoren aus Wissenschaft und Praxis sorgen sie für eine fachlich abgesicherte und zugleich anwendungsbezogene Darstellung der medizinökonomisch relevanten Themenfelder aus Wirtschaft, Medizin, Politik, Recht, Verwaltung und (Selbst-)Organisation. Der Leser erhält einen fundierten Überblick über den Status quo und die aktuellen Fragen des deutschen Gesundheitssystems. Die zweite Auflage wurde aktualisiert und um weitere Beiträge ergänzt und richtet sich Studierende und Dozenten der Medizin und Gesundheitsökonomie, an Angehörige der Heilberufe sowie an Entscheidungsträger im Gesundheitswesen.

Bureaucratic, Societal, and Ethical Transformation of the Former East Germany Jean Claude García Zamor, 2004 This book analyzes the state of the bureaucracy in the eastern part of Germany prior to reunification and discusses changes that occurred after 1990. The contributors review the impact of these changes on the bureaucracy and other sectors of society where a new ethic seems to have emerged, guiding practitioners involved in restructuring East German institutions. Issues discussed include: the performance of the administrative structures, the transformation of the Eastern German university system, the various affirmative action policies implemented after 1990, compensation to victims of abuses by the former socialist regime, changes in public relations policy after 1990, and an ethic guiding the models of restructuring institutions for industrialized and developing countries.

The Leipzig Model Jean Claude García Zamor, 2008 The Leipzig Model describes how civil servants in Leipzig, a city in the former East Germany, cope with the challenges stemming from the uneven economic conditions that continue to exist after the reunification. The analysis reviews a series of recent successes achieved by the managerial leaders of Leipzig who have been able to compete and excel in comparison with civil servants in Western Germany and the bureaucracies of several other European Union countries. The book also investigates the local civic culture that is behind the driving forces of the city's leaders. Leipzig's local political culture is outlined and its key elements are defined. In addition to examining the professional strength of the city's civil servants, the book analyzes the strategies being used by the mayor and city managers of Leipzig to achieve such successes and compares these strategies to some current organizational theories and models.

Teilhabe an Hochschulbildung Carsten Bender, Laura Bühner, Birgit Drolshagen, 2023-11-30 Mit der Ratifizierung der UN-Behindertenrechtskonvention und der zeitnah verabschiedeten Selbstverpflichtung der Hochschulrektorenkonferenz haben die Hochschulen die Aufgabe angenommen, mit der Schaffung barrierefreier Bedingungen und der Sicherstellung angemessener Vorkehrungen ein inklusives Hochschulsystem aufzubauen, das eine chancengleiche, gleichberechtigte und diskriminierungsfreie Teilhabe an Hochschulbildung und somit ein selbstbestimmtes Studium ermöglicht. Am Beispiel von acht am Dortmunder Arbeitsansatz orientierten Projekten der TU Dortmund gibt der Sammelband Hochschulen Anregungen, wie sie im Sinne der UN-BRK bedarfsgerechte Beratungs- und Unterstützungsangebote für Studierende mit Behinderungen aufbauen und inklusive Strukturen entwickeln können. Die Projekte adressieren sowohl den Übergang Schule / Hochschule, die Phase des Studiums als auch den Übergang Hochschule / Berufstätigkeit. Praktiker*innen wird ein Ideen- und Erfahrungspool zur Verfügung gestellt, der Anregungen für Veränderungen und Weiterentwicklungen an Hochschulen bietet und es den Hochschulen ermöglicht, sich dem Ziel der Teilhabe an Hochschulbildung weiter anzunähern.

Healing Architecture Christine Nickl-Weller, Hans Nickl, 2013 How can architecture contribute to healing and recovery? And how do our surroundings - both built and unbuilt - influence our prospects of staying healthy?. This title addresses the development and design of spaces for hospitals and other healthcare institutions, how they are perceived, and their overall impact on combating illnesses. This volume presents in detail the principles of this field of study and all the major issues involved, using a range of international projects as illustrative examples. In order to present a comprehensively interdisciplinary analysis of the subject matter, architects, medical practitioners, economists, artists, urban planners and communication scientists discuss the various aspects of 'Healing Architecture'. This book thus makes an important contribution to achieving an architecture that is attuned to people's needs and helps to promote the recovery process.

The Problem-Centred Interview Andreas Witzel, Herwig Reiter, 2012-06-22 This book provides the first English language account of the interview method known as the PCI. Offering a way of collecting knowledge by means of involving people actively in the research process, the interviewer takes the role of a well-informed traveller. With careful preparation and planning, the interviewer sets out with priorities and expectations, but the story the interviewer tells about his journey depends on the people encountered along the road. Novice and experienced interview researchers across the social, educational and health sciences will find this an invaluable guide to conducting interviews. Andreas Witzel is senior researcher (retired) at the University of Bremen and former director of the Bremen Archive for Life Course Research. Herwig Reiter is senior researcher in the Department of Social Monitoring and Methodology of the German Youth Institute in Munich.

Universities in Change Andreas Altmann, Bernd Ebersberger, 2012-09-13 Universities find themselves in dynamic change. They are confronted with growing expectations from their stakeholders, increasing international competition, and new technological challenges. Featuring insights and in-depth case studies from leading researchers and university decision makers from around the world, this book argues that institutions of higher education, in order to be successful, have to actively reflect on circumstances, visions, and strategies to master the future. Drawing from their experiences across a diverse array of institutions in Europe, Asia, and the Americas, the authors explore the pressures on today's universities and the opportunities for excelling in the contest for resources. They discuss operational issues, such as strategic management, IT governance, leadership development, and entrepreneurial culture, and broader concerns, such as the roles and responsibilities of universities in promoting technology transfer and economic and social development. The result is a resource that not only reveals and analyzes universities from an organizational perspective, but presents best practice models and concrete inspiration for management and policymaking.

Regulating Artificial Intelligence Thomas Wischmeyer, Timo Rademacher, 2019-11-29 This book assesses the normative and practical challenges for artificial intelligence (AI) regulation, offers comprehensive information on the laws that currently shape or restrict the design or use of AI, and develops policy recommendations for those areas in which regulation is most urgently needed. By gathering contributions from scholars who are experts in their respective fields of legal research, it demonstrates that AI regulation is not a specialized sub-discipline, but affects the entire legal system and thus concerns all lawyers. Machine learning-based technology, which lies at the heart of what is commonly referred to as AI, is increasingly being employed to make policy and business decisions with broad social impacts, and therefore runs the risk of causing wide-scale damage. At the same time, AI technology is becoming more and more complex and difficult to understand, making it harder to determine whether or not it is being used in accordance with the law. In light of this situation, even tech enthusiasts are calling for stricter regulation of AI. Legislators, too, are stepping in and have begun to pass AI laws, including the prohibition of automated decision-making systems in Article 22 of the General Data Protection Regulation, the New York City AI transparency bill, and the 2017 amendments to the German Cartel Act and German Administrative Procedure Act. While the belief that something needs to be done is widely shared, there is far less clarity about what exactly can or should be done, or what effective regulation might look like. The book is divided into two major parts, the first of which focuses on features common to most AI systems, and explores how they relate to the legal framework for data-driven technologies, which already exists in the form of (national and supra-national) constitutional law, EU data protection and competition law, and anti-discrimination law. In the second part, the book examines in detail a number of relevant sectors in which AI is increasingly shaping decision-making processes, ranging from the notorious social media and the legal, financial and healthcare industries, to fields like law enforcement and tax law, in which we can observe how regulation by AI is becoming a reality.

The Wolves are Coming Back Rebecca Pates, Julia Leser, 2020 The wolves are returning to Germany, while German politics are shifting to the right. The rising nationalist Alternative for Germany (AfD) draw much of their support from places that have been referred to as the 'post-traumatic places' in East Germany, structured by realities of disownment, disenfranchisement, and a lack of democratic infrastructure. While nationalist parties are on the rise everywhere in Europe, this is a case study of East German fringe political movements, splinter parties, and agitation against both migrants and wolves. The authors move beyond easy stereotypes and strive to unravel the deep story of why East German politics is shifting to the right. The returning wolves serve both as metaphor and analytical tool to further an understanding of the logics and sentiments that underlie the rise of the right in East German politics.

Social Neuroeconomics Jens Harbecke, Carsten Herrmann-Pillath, 2020-09-23 Neuroeconomics has emerged as a paradigmatic field where neuroscience and the social sciences are integrated in one analytical and empirical approach. However, the different disciplines involved often only relate to each other via the shared object of research, and less through the constructing of precise models of integrative mechanisms. Social Neuroeconomics explores the potential of philosophical and methodological reflections in the neurosciences and the social sciences to inform those efforts at cross-disciplinary integration, with a special focus on recent contributions to mechanistic explanations. The collected essays are drawn from the fields of neuroscience, psychology, economics, sociology and philosophy, and examine the ways and methods of constructing unified conceptual frameworks that can guide empirical work and hypothesis building. This is demonstrated in a range of applications, particularly regarding finance and consumer behavior. The concept of the 'social brain' is also explored; a multilevel framework in which complex analytical categories such as emotions or socially mediated cognitive processes connect neuronal and social phenomena in specific mechanisms that generate behavior. This book addresses a wide audience across the various disciplines, reaching from the neurosciences to the social sciences and philosophy.
