Silver Dolphin

The Silver Rattle Karen Tunnell, 2017-04-30 Mattie Cochran discovers an antique baby rattle in the attic of her grandparent's Texas farmhouse. A search for the rattle's original owner takes her to the overgrown family plot where she loses her way in an alter-dimension-or perhaps she's simply lost her mind. When Mattie stumbles upon her grandmother's diary, she begins to piece together the unsavory secret that's plagued the women in her family for generations.

Infancy and Earliest Childhood in the Roman World Maureen Carroll, 2018-03-01 Despite the developing emphasis in current scholarship on children in Roman culture, there has been relatively little research to date on the role and significance of the youngest children within the family and in society. This volume singles out this youngest age group, the under one-year-olds, in the first comprehensive study of infancy and earliest childhood to encompass the Roman Empire as a whole: integrating social and cultural history with archaeological evidence, funerary remains, material culture, and the iconography of infancy, it explores how the very particular historical circumstances into which Roman children were born affected their lives as well as prevailing attitudes towards them. Examination of these varied strands of evidence, drawn from throughout the Roman world from the fourth century BC to the third century AD, allows the rhetoric about earliest childhood in Roman texts to be more broadly contextualized and reveals the socio-cultural developments that took place in parent-child relationships over this period. Presenting a fresh perspective on archaeological and historical debates, the volume refutes the notion that high infant mortality conditioned Roman parents not to engage in the early life of their children or to view them, or their deaths, with indifference, and concludes that even within the first weeks and months of life Roman children were invested with social and gendered identities and were perceived as having both personhood and value within society.

Nurturing Yesterday's Child Mary Spaulding, Penny Welch, 1994-06-30 A true collector's item, Nurturing Yesterday's Child offers an illustrated history of the care of children from early Greek, Roman and Egyptian times to the present – a history that will inform you and touch your heart. There is much to fascinate a parent and particularly those with medical connections and interests. Dr. Theodore Drake (1891-1959), co-inventor of Pablum, collected feeding vessels, rattles and teethingers, amulets, furniture, books, stamps, and coins during a lifetime of medical studies and practice in Canada and abroad. His collection encompasses some 3,000 artifacts, 1,500 rare books, 1,000 prints, 1,000 coins and medals, and all child welfare stamps up to the 1950s. Nurturing Yesterday's Child is a remarkable tribute to a remarkable man who showed the same amount of care and thoughtfulness when amassing this vast collection as he showed for the health of children throughout a long and distinguished medical career.

GIFT GIVING for Mommies Mommies Line,2008-11-21 GIFT GIVING for Mommies helps you overcome the dilemmas and to enjoy the art and practice of gift giving; becoming gifted in the art of selection, presentation, and reception of gifts. In the first Chapter, Gift Selection, the quandaries in choosing and giving the right gift are unraveled. Surprisingly, re-gifting can be done with a lot of class. In the second chapter, Gift Presentation, the reader is shown how to make exactly the right presentation of the gift. Cultures dictate that gifts must be presented in a particular manner to avoid offending the receiver. Knowing the protocol can mean the difference between making or breaking a personal or business relationship. In the third chapter, Gift Reception, the author enlightens the reader about the complications associated with being on the receiving end of a gift. We don't always receive a gift properly. Knowing how and when to decline a gift is as important as knowing how to select and properly present a gift.
