Edward Stone Lawrence

UltraLight Steel Edward Opbroek, 2013 This is a compelling story about how a large group of diverse steel companies from around the world came together to achieve major technological breakthroughs in development of Advanced High Strength Steels and lightweight automotive design. Although the technical achievements were of keen interest to global automakers, this is also a fascinating story about the issues concerning cultural, language, and differing commercial interests that had to be overcome and adapted in order to create an unprecedented global consortium of competing companies and different personalities.

It includes a discussion on how welding can alter the microstructure in the heat affected zone, producing either excessive hardening or softening, and how these local changes create potential weaknesses that can lead to failure. This text reviews the range of welding and other joining technologies for AHSS and how they can be best used to maximize the potential of AHSS.
