Testing the Ice Sharon Robinson, 2009 Sharon Robinson, the daughter of baseball legend Jackie Robinson, has crafted a hearwarming, true story about growing up with her father. When Jackie Robinson retires from baseball and moves his family to Connecticut, the beautiful lake on their property is the center of everyone's fun. The neighborhood children join the Robinson kids for swimming and boating. But oddly, Jackie never goes near the water. In a dramatic episode that first winter, the children beg to go ice skating on the lake. Jackie says they can go--but only after he tests the ice to make sure it's safe. The children prod and push to get Jackie outside, until hesitantly, he finally goes. Like a blind man with a stick, (contd.)

The Package Tracker Billy Squid, 2019-09-17 Do a lot of shopping at sites like Amazon and Ebay? Want to keep record of your orders and how much you spent? This journal might be for you! There are nearly 100 pages for you to write about what you bought, when you bought it, how much you paid, and what your experience was. At the back of this journal, there is a page meant for writing months and your budget for those months. Once a month has passed, tally up the amount you spent from your recorded purchases and compare that amount with the original budget. Even if budgets aren't your concern, you can still use this journal to keep track of what you've bought and rate your experiences (for instance, would you buy a certain item again?). It might prove helpful!

Pattern Recognition, Tracking and Vertex Reconstruction in Particle Detectors Rudolf Frühwirth, Are Strandlie, 2021 This open access book is a comprehensive review of the methods and algorithms that are used in the reconstruction of events recorded by past, running and planned experiments at particle accelerators such as the LHC, SuperKEKB and FAIR. The main topics are pattern recognition for track and vertex finding, solving the equations of motion by analytical or numerical methods, treatment of material effects such as multiple Coulomb scattering and energy loss, and the estimation of track and vertex parameters by statistical algorithms. The material covers both established methods and recent developments in these fields and illustrates them by outlining exemplary solutions developed by selected experiments. The clear presentation enables readers to easily implement the material in a high-level programming language. It also highlights software solutions that are in the public domain whenever possible. It is a valuable resource for PhD students and researchers working on online or offline reconstruction for their experiments.
