A Visit from St. Nicholas Clement Clarke Moore,1848 T'was the night before Christmas, when all through the house Not a creature was stirring-not even a mouse. This timeless poem is so well known to children and so often recited by adults it is virtually a part of our common heritage. Written on Christmas Eve in 1822-in a horse-drawn sleigh with jingling bells according to legend-it evokes the excitement and good cheer of Christmas Eve like no other work of American literature. Paired with Thomas Nast's drawings of St. Nicholas, from which we derive the classic image of Santa Claus, this lovely edition may well become the quintessential American Christmas book for children of all ages.

Moore, Daniel Kirk reimagines the story from a fresh perspective—and readers of Kirk's Library Mouse series may discover a familiar friend, too!

The Teachers' Night Before Christmas Layne, Steven L., 2001-09-30 Teachers, and students and parents will laugh out loud at this parody of the frenetic pace of holiday happenings at schools.--Copley News Service What do excited students, craft projects, room mothers, nursing home visits, harried shopping, and near-disastrous pageants have in common? They are all a part of a teacher's pre-Christmas experience. In this energetic romp through a school's last days before the Christmas break, the students are full of energy and are up to all manners of mischief. The teachers are pulling out their hair trying to keep the students busy, while they despair over their own Christmas preparations. Who should come to the rescue? Santa himself, of course! He arrives at the helm of a flying school bus, with presents for all the teachers and a promise to take care of their shopping for them.
