Applied Pedagogies for Higher Education Dawn A. Morley,Md Golam Jamil,2020-11-05 This open access book critiques real world learning across both the curriculum and extracurricular activities. Drawing on disciplines as diverse as business, health, fashion, sociology and geography, the editors and authors employ a cross-disciplinary approach to examine how this concept is being applied in higher education. Divided into three parts, the authors and contributors analyse broader applications of real world learning, student experience of practicing in a real world setting, and how learning strategies can be employed to engage students in real world learning. The editors and contributors provide up-to-date, cross-disciplinary and international insights into how real world learning could be integrated into the higher education curriculum to support effective, relevant and life-long learning for 21st century students.

Transport Across the Boundaries of the Magnetosphere Bengt Hultqvist,Marit Øieroset,2012-12-06 The present volume is the second one in the Space Sciences Series of ISSI (Inter national Space Science Institute) and the October 1997 issue of Space Science Reviews. It contains the proceedings of the first workshop in the ISSI study project on Source and Loss Processes of Magnetospheric Plasma, which was held at ISSI in Bern on October 1-5, 1996. The participants in the project, the project team, numbered at that time 51, of whom 45 participated in the workshop. The main tasks of the first workshop were to provide a basis for the further work by means of presentation and discussion of those 16 review papers which are published in this volume and to prepare plans for the work of six working groups in the year up to the second workshop in October 1997. The ISSI study project on Source and Loss Processes of Magnetospheric Plasma was selected by ISSI in December 1995 as the first in the solar-terrestrial physics field after consulting a number of groups of senior scientists representing the international space physics community at large. The undersigned, Bengt Hultqvist, is the project leader. A Core Group, consisting of two co-chairs for each of six working groups and four ex-officio members from the Space Science Committee of ISSI (H. Balsiger, A. Galeev, G. Haerendel, and D. Southwood), convened at ISSI in March 1996.

MICAI 2000: Advances in Artificial Intelligence Osvaldo Cairo, Enrique L. Sucar, Francisco J. Cantu, 2006-12-30 Fifty years ago, A. Turing predicted that by 2000 we would have a machine that could pass the Turing test. Although this may not yet be true, AI has advanced significantly in these 50 years, and at the dawn of the XXI century is still an active and challenging field. This year is also significant for AI in Mexico, with the merging of the two major AI conferences into the biennial Mexican International Conference on Artificial Intelligence (MICAI) series. MICAI is the union of the Mexican National AI Conference (RNIA) and the International AI Symposium (ISAI), organized annually by the Mexican Society for AI (SMIA, since 1984) and by the Monterrey Institute of Technology (ITESM, since 1988), respectively. The first Mexican International Conference on Artificial Intelligence, MICAI 2000, took place April 11-14, 2000, in the city of Acapulco, Mexico. This conference seeks to promote research in AI, and cooperation among Mexican researchers and their peers worldwide. We welcome you all. Over 163 papers from 17 different countries were submitted for consideration to MICAI 2000. After reviewing them thoroughly, MICAI's program committee, referees, and program chair accepted 60 papers for the international track. This volume contains the written version of the papers and invited talks presented at MICAI. We would like to acknowledge the support of the American Association for Artificial Intelligence (AAAI), and the International Joint Conference on Artificial Intelligence (IJCAI). We are specially grateful for the warm hospitality and generosity offered by the Acapulco Institute of Technology.
