A Storybook Life Philip-Lorca DiCorcia, 2003 The disparate photographs assembled here were made over the course of twenty years. None of them were originally intended to be used in this book. By ordering and shaping them I tried to investigate the possibilities of narrative both within a single image and especially in relation to the other photographs. A Storybook Life is an attempt to discover the possibilities of meaning in the interaction of seemingly unrelated images in the hope that content can constantly mutate according to both the external and internal condition of the viewer, but remain meaningful because of its inherent, but latent content. The conscious and subconscious decisions made in editing the photographs is the real work of A Storybook Life. Phillip-Lorca diCorcia's pictures remind us, among other things, that we are each our own little universe of secrets, and vulnerable. Good art makes you see the world differently... wrote Michael Kimmelman in the New York Times. In the seventy odd pictures collected here by the artist the veracity of Mr. Kimmelman's observations is clearly apparent. We find ourselves landing somewhere in the story when we view these pictures, each of which is a clue and a cipher to the method and madness of A Storybook Life.

Fashioning Fiction in Photography Since 1990 Susan Kismaric, Eva Respini, Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 2004 Essay and Interview with Dennis Freedman by Susan Kismaric and Dennis Freedman.

Real Venice Elena Ochoa Foster, 2011 Fourteen renowned artists have created a series of photographic works about Venice and donated them to be sold to raise funds to preserve the city from decay. These photographic projects comprise the Real Venice exhibition, which will be shown as part of the 54th Venice Biennale.

Art, Lies and Videotape Adrian George, 2003 This book is an accessible look at key moments in the history of performance art. Featuring pieces by leading practitioners in the field, the art of performance is considered through objects, photography, reconstructions, film and video. Accompanies the exhibition at Tate Liverpool, Winter 2003/4.

A Triple Trilogy John Reseck, Jr., 2020-09-20 The three novellas in this book are about murders that take Ron and Sally, both Seattle Police officers, from their first meeting, The Man Who Died Twice, being married, The Invisible Assassins, and into retirement, The Cow Blood Case. One of the three short stories, The Weapon, is a retirement story also about Ron and Sally in France. The two remaining short stories are about how important our own self-image is to us, De Je Vu, and how Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, PTSD, can work its way into our life, How Can We Stop the Wind. The three very short stories all have happy endings, however, it may not seem like it until you think about it. All of the stories in this volume are meant to be light entertainment, however, a writer can only write what they know. The great thing about fiction is the writer can write about things they know but can't talk about. They can change names, dates, and places and tell real stories that couldn't be told otherwise. All these stories have a deeper meaning than just for entertainment. If it isn't buried too deep it may give the reader reason to look into the mirror and ask a question that starts with, Do I?, Should I?, Did I?, Could I?, Would I?, or something else that requires an honest answer about who they are. It may help us get to know ourselves just a little better.

Exposed Simon Baker, 2010 Catalogue published in conjunction with an exhibition held at the Tate Modern, London, May 28 to October 3, 2010; San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, October 30, 2010 to April 17, 2011; and Walker Art Center, Minneapolis, May 21 to September 11, 2011.

The One Minute Manager Builds High Performing Teams Ken Blanchard, Eunice Parisi-Carew, Donald Carew, 2009-03-24 Newly updated and backed by decades of research, this classic guide will equip leaders and team members alike to unleash the power of teamwork. Never before in the history of the workplace has the concept of teamwork been more important to the functioning of successful organizations. Ken Blanchard, bestselling coauthor of Raving Fans, The One Minute Manager® and Gung Ho!, teams up with Donald Carew and Eunice Parisi-Carew to explain how all groups move through four stages of development on their way to becoming high performing teams—orientation, dissatisfaction, integration and production. The authors then show how a manager can help any group become effective quickly and with a minimum of stress.

The New York Times Magazine Photographs Kathy Ryan, 2011 For over thirty years, the New York Times Magazine has presented the myriad possibilities and applications of photography. Aperture is pleased to present the upcoming publication and exhibition The New York Times Magazine Photographs, which reflects upon and interrogates the very nature of both photography and print magazines at this pivotal moment in their history and evolution. Edited by Kathy Ryan, long-time photo editor of the magazine, and with a preface by former editorial director Gerald Marzorati, this volume presents some of the finest commissioned photographs worldwide in four sections: reportage, portraiture, style, and conceptual photography, including photo illustration. Diverse in content and sensibility, and consistent in virtuosity, the photographs are accompanied by reproduced tear sheets to allow for the examination of sequencing and the interplay between text and image, simultaneously presenting the work while illuminating its distillation to magazine form. This process is explored further through texts offering behind-the-scenes perspective and anecdotes by the many photographers, writers, editors, and other collaborators whose voices have been a part of the magazine over the years. David Company contributes a critical essay that provides an in-depth history of the magazine's relationship to photography, contextualizing its contributions within the larger world of magazine work. Also addressed are issues of documentary photography in relation to more conceptual photography; the efficacy of story-telling; and what makes an image evidentiary, objective, subjective, truthful, or a tool for advocacy; as well as thoughts on whether these matters are currently moot, or more critical than ever. As such, The New York Times Magazine Photographs aims to serve as a springboard for a rigorous, necessary, and revitalized examination of photography as presented within a modern journalistic context.

The Polaroid Years Mary-Kay Lombino, Peter Buse, 2013 From its inception in 1947, the Polaroid system inspired artists to experiment - to dazzling effect - with the cameras' unique technologies. Edwin Land, the inventor of the first Polaroid instant camera, remarked on his discovery, Photography will never be the same. And he was right. This fascinating journey through the Polaroid era documents the evolution of instant photography. Hundreds of color images celebrate the myriad ways Polaroid photographs were used and ingeniously manipulated by Chuck Close, Walker Evans, David Hockney, Robert Mapplethorpe, Lucas Samaras, William Wegman, and others. In addition, the book features essays addressing the unique technology of instant photography and the marketing genius of the Polaroid Corporation. Interviews with artists reveal how Polaroids affected and, in many instances, forever changed the way artists captured the world around them. AUTHOR: Mary-Kay Lombino is the Emily Hargroves Fisher '57 and Richard B. Fisher Curator at the Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, New York. She has curated several exhibitions including Off the Shelf: New Forms in Contemporary Artists' Books and Utopian Mirage: Social Metaphors in Contemporary Photography. ILLUSTRATIONS: 230 photos

Twilight Martin Barnes, Kate Best, 2006 This volume draws together the work of contemporary photographers who have explored the visual and psychological effects of the transition from day to night. In placing the photographs in their broader historical, literary, meteorological and technical contexts, it reveals the timeless allure of the magic hour.
