U.S. Department of Transportation National Highway Traffic Safety Administration , 1996 The Office of Vehicle Safety Compliance (OVSC) provides contracted laboratories with Laboratory Test Procedures (TPs) which serve as guidelines for obtaining compliance test data. The data are used to determine if a specific vehicle or item of motor vehicle equipment meets the minimum performance requirements of the subject Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard (FMVSS). The purpose of the TP is to present a uniform testing and data recording format, and provide suggestions for the use of specific equipment and procedures. Any contractor interpreting any part of a TP to be in conflict with a FMVSS or observing any deficiencies in a TP is required to advise the Contracting Officer's Technical Representative (COTR) and resolve the discrepancy prior to the start of compliance testing. The TPs are not intended to limit or restrain a contractor from developing or utilizing any testing techniques or equipment, which will assist in procuring the required compliance test data. Contractors must develop detailed in-house working procedures applicable to their specific use.

Global Status Report on Road Safety World Health Organization. Violence and Injury Prevention, World Health Organization, 2009-06-05 Over 1.2 million people die each year on the world's roads, and between 20 and 50 million suffer non-fatal injuries. In most regions of the world this epidemic of road traffic injuries is still increasing. In the past five years most countries have endorsed the recommendations of the World report on road traffic injury prevention which give guidance on how countries can implement a comprehensive approach to improving road safety and reducing the death toll on their roads. To date, however, there has been no global assessment of road safety that indicates the extent to which this approach is being implemented. This Global status report on road safety is the first broad assessment of the status of road safety in 178 countries, using data drawn from a standardized survey conducted in 2008. The results provide a benchmark that countries can use to assess their road safety position relative to other countries, while internationally the data presented can collectively be considered as a global baseline against which progress over time can be measured. - p. [v11]

Vehicle Systems Panel Report on the Status of NASA Vehicles Systems Program
National Research Council (U.S.). Panel on the Review of NASA's Vehicle Systems Program, 2004 In November 2003, ASEB released a report, An Assessment of NASA's Aeronautics Technology Programs. After the release, NASA requested the NRC to reconvene the Panel on Vehicle Systems Program, which had been established as part of the study infrastructure for the report. Specifically, NASA wanted an evaluation of the progress made by the Program in formulating and directing its activities over the past nine months (since March 2003). This letter report presents the findings of that review. In almost all cases, the recommendations contained in this letter report, amplify and reinforce those contained in the full report.

European Status Report on Road Safety Francesco Zambon, Dinesh Sethi, Francesca Racioppi, 2009 This report presents the status of road safety in the WHO European Region and provides a baseline assessment of how far 49 countries have come in implementing the recommendations of the World Report on Road Traffic Injury Prevention. In the Region, road crashes result annually in 120,000 deaths, 2.4 million injuries and a great economic burden, which may be up to 3% of a country's gross domestic product. Road traffic injuries are the leading cause of death among people 5-29 years old. Vulnerable road users such as pedestrians, cyclists and users of motorized two-wheelers constitute 39% of all road traffic injury fatalities, with pedestrians being more at risk in the eastern part of the Region. Countries differ greatly in mortality rates for road traffic injuries; the average in low- and middle-income countries is twice that in high-income countries. Countries policy responses in providing road safety for their citizens have differed. This report proposes the following areas of action: narrow the gap between countries with the lowest and highest mortality rates; provide better protection for vulnerable road users; develop a well-resourced multisectoral road safety strategy in each country; design and enforce comprehensive legislation; and develop and implement healthier transport policies. In addition, country profiles on the current status of road safety are presented for the 49 participating countries.

Global Status Report on Road Safety 2018 World Health Organization, 2019-01-10 The Global status report on road safety 2018 launched by WHO in December 2018 highlights that the number of annual road traffic deaths has reached 1.35 million. Road traffic injuries are now the leading killer of people aged 5-29 years. The burden is disproportionately borne by pedestrians, cyclists and motorcyclists in particular those living in developing countries. The report suggests that the price paid for mobility is too high especially because proven measures exist. Drastic action is needed to put these measures in place to meet any future global target that might be set and save lives.

How To Save Money Buying A Car The Hyperink Team, 2012-02-05 ABOUT THE BOOK Buying a car involves hard work, time, discipline, and learning as much as possible. Preparing yourself properly is the key to any negotiation, whether in business or while buying a car. The more facts you have, the more informed a customer you become. Information gives you the ability to carry on an intelligent conversation, ask pertinent questions, and determine the legitimacy of the answers you receive. Knowledge protects you, your money, and your buying decision. MEET THE AUTHOR The Hyperink Team works hard to bring you high-quality, engaging, fun content. If ever you have any questions about our products, or suggestions for how we can make them better, please don't hesitate to contact us! Happy reading! EXCERPT FROM THE BOOK Be certain to have a qualified and trained professional run a vehicle history summary report for you. This is especially true when buying a car from an independent seller such as estate sales and any number of auctions, where you do not know the previous owner. Many online companies perform this service for a minimal fee, such as the online site found at AutoCheck.com. These reports include a title check, odometer check and highlight any negative areas you need to concern yourself with. If you feel comfortable enough to understand the information given, this may be your best route. If you feel insecure with your automotive knowledge in understanding reports, your best bet may be to work with a qualified professional. Unless you know and trust the person who you are purchasing the car from, like a personal friend or family member, you can save a ton of money on your used car by purchasing from a car dealership. Many dealerships perform a vehicle history summary as part of the sale and go over these facts in detail with you so you have a full understanding about your potential purchase. The first section of a Vehicle History Summary will give you a report summary of the car's history in general terms. Other sections include the title and problem check, odometer check, a use and event check plus a final summary. The final summary, according to Auto Check.com, lists events such as vehicle title registrations, title renewals, emissions test results and reported odometer readings. This section would also highlight any reported problems. Buy a copy to continue reading!
