Libr@ries Cushla Kapitzke, Bertram C. Bruce, 2013-02-01 This volume is the first to examine the social, cultural, and political implications of the shift from the traditional forms and functions of print-based libraries to the delivery of online information in educational contexts. Libr@ries are conceptualized as physical places, virtual spaces, communities of literate practice, and discourses of information work. Despite the centrality of libraries in literacy and learning, the study of libraries has remained isolated within the disciplinary boundaries of information and library science since its inception in the early twentieth century. The aim of this book is to problematize and thereby mainstream this field of intellectual endeavor and inquiry. Collectively the contributors interrogate the presuppositions of current library practice, seek to understand how library as place and library as space blend together in ways that may be both contradictory and complementary, and envision new modes of information access and new multimodal literacies enabled by online environments. Libr@ries: Changing Information Space and Practice is intended for advanced undergraduate and graduate students, researchers, and educators in the fields of literacy and multiliteracies education, communication technologies in education, library sciences, information and communication studies, media and cultural studies, and the sociology of computer-mediated space.

Corporate Ties That Bind Martin J. Walker, 2017-03-28 In the 21st century, corporations have worked their way into government and, as they become increasingly more powerful, arguments about their involvement with public health have become increasingly black and white. With corporations at the center of public health and environmental issues, everything chemical or technological is good, everything natural is bad; scientists who are funded by corporations are right and those who are independent are invariably wrong. There is diminishing common ground between the two opposed sides in these arguments. Corporate Ties that Bind is a collection of essays written by influential academic scholars, activists, and epidemiologists from around the world that scrutinize the corporate reasoning, false science and trickery involving those, like in-house epidemiologists, who mediate the scientific message of organizations who attack and censure independent voices. This book addresses how the growth of corporatism is destroying liberal democracy and personal choice. Whether addressing asbestos, radiation, PCBs, or vaccine regulation, the essays here address the dangers of trusting corporations and uncover the lengths to which corporations put profits before health.

TRUSTING MOBILE PAYMENT Andrea Bauer, 2017-07-18 In this book Andrea Bauer examines the apparently simple question of the role of trust in the development and establishment of mobile payment services. The proliferation of new payment instruments was always associated with the condition of trustworthiness. Even if the form of payment has changed constantly in the past (e.g. cowrie shells, stones, coins, paper notes, plastic cards or electronic digits), the demand for trustworthiness was always an essential factor regarding its market acceptance. What trust exactly is, which functions trust has in the use of technical solutions and which aspects and determinants of trust are crucial regarding mobile payment services, Andrea Bauer will analyze in the present work.

Big Business, Big Responsibilities A. Wales, M. Gorman, D. Hope, 2016-04-30 Big business is often seen as the villain in terms of the environment or social wellbeing. But some leading businesses are becoming leaders in the fight against climate change and protectors of human rights. This book explains why this is now a core part of strategy and not just philanthropy for these businesses.

Investment Report - Fundamental Analysis/ Ratio Analysis Panagiotis Papadopoulos, 2011-04-11 Scientific Study from the year 2010 in the subject Business economics - Controlling, grade: 71%, University of Westminster (Westminster Business School), course: MSc Finance and Accounting, language: English, abstract: The purpose of our analysis is to advise a potential investor who is considering the entrance in the telecommunication sector in the UK. Our investor is a Pension Fund which is looking for constant long-term performance and steady/stable streams of cash in order to carry out its short-term liabilities with its depositors. We classify our investor as a low risk profile investor, whose preference is high dividend income rather than capital gain. Under this perspective, our report will analyze Vodafone Group (Vodafone) and BT Group plc (BT), the largest telecommunication companies in the UK. Our aim is to compare and critically analyze both companies to reach an investment decision, considering our investor needs.

Infrastructure to 2030 Telecom, Land Transport, Water and Electricity OECD,2006-06-29 This long-term examination of future infrastructure needs examines what will be required, how it will be financed, and how such factors as climate change, globalisation, and urbanisation will affect these needs.

Fostering freedom online: the role of Internet intermediaries MacKinnon, Rebecca,Hickok, Elonnai,Bar, Allon,Lim, Hae-in,2015-01-29 Internet intermediaries play a unique role in linking authors of content and audiences. They may either protect or jeopardize end user rights to free expression, given their role in capturing, storing, searching, sharing, transferring and processing large amount of information, data and user-generated content. This research aims to identify principles for good practices and processes that are consistent with international standards for free expression that Internet intermediaries may follow in order to protect the human rights of end users online.
