Weird Radio and Television Charles River Editors, 2019-07-08
*Includes pictures *Includes a bibliography for further reading For more than a century, radio has been a part of people's lives. No one alive today remembers a time when it hadn't always been there as a familiar, reliable source of information and entertainment. Today, it seems a bit mundane, overtaken by the Internet and satellite television. Even in the 1980s, the development of cable television (50 channels instead of five) and the start of MTV made radio seem quaint, and as many once claimed, Radio is dead. It wasn't, of course.

Radio is still popular today, with as many stations as ever, and it remains a part of the world that is taken for granted. While not dead, its familiarity has made it seem a bit mundane, but people shouldn't think of it that way. In fact, the airwaves have always been a place of mystery, a battleground of competing ideologies, and a source of anonymous voices. Radio has been used to support war efforts, topple governments, communicate secretly, and even attempt to communicate with the dead. Likewise, for more than two generations, television has been a part of most people's lives, and few could remember a time when it wasn't there. Today, viewers are accustomed to broadcasts running seamlessly with commercials following programming before more programs come on. The occasional glitch might happen here or there, including temporary blackouts due to storms, but for the most part, television runs incredibly smoothly. Of course, that wasn't all the case. At times, pranksters or political activists hacked into satellite feeds, protestors took over studios while live and on air, and intriguing paranormal events with few good explanations have been seen. Weird Radio and Television: A Collection of Spy Transmissions, Unidentified Stations, Paranormal Activities, and other Mysteries across the Media includes strange stories that will make these famous forms of media seem a bit less familiar and far more interesting. Along with pictures of important people, places, and events, you will learn about some of the world's strangest radio and television stories like never before.

Living in the Shadows of Paranormal Tina Hicks Lano, 2016-10-31
Author Tina Hicks Lano is a Paranormal Researcher from Ft. Wayne, Indiana with over 13 years of investigating experience, along with her team, The Original ParaSisters. Tina has been seen on two episodes of a television series, A Haunting, on Destination America, as well as being the co-host of a paranormal radio program called Pushing The Limits, on Ztalk Radio. Her entire life she has had many paranormal experiences, and doesn't sit quietly idle, but devotes most of her time, and life, to research of the paranormal. Tina tries to reach as many people as she can through her writings, investigations, lectures, tours, events and her radio program. A spine chilling, true story of not only a paranormal researcher, but someone that lived through her own paranormal activity on the daily basis. From whispers, breath in her ear, voices, seeing faces of unknown people, interacting with a spirit, and even a UFO. This was her reality, and the reality that she had no choice but to live in. Paranormal for most, but normal for her, she was left to cope with the activity around her alone, starting at the age of 5 years old!! Living with a skeptical family in a haunted house, she quickly learned to adjust to her life with the spirits. Her journey has led her to many places throughout her paranormal career, with many new exciting experiences that have been added along the way. She has learned that it's not about the evidence, it's about the person involved. It's about the validation that comes along with seeking help. She has included her favorite investigations of all time. Two of our most extreme cases have been showcased on the television show A Haunting series, both airing in 2016. The most extreme of the two Fear Feeders will air in November of 2016, and Tina has included the Investigators log from this case included in chapter 11 of Living In The Shadows Of Paranormal. Author Tina Hicks Lano allows you to become up close and personal into her life, and thoughts. At times feeling crazy, and feeling as though no one would believe her, she had to deal with, and figure out what was going on not only around her, but in her head. This is what ultimately led her to become the paranormal researcher she is today.

Behind the Paranormal Paul Eno,Ben Eno,2017-01-28 Journey through the paranormal from prehistory to the planets and our future, with over 50 bizarre cases of ghosts, poltergeists, demons, cryptids, UFOs, and other out-of-the-ordinary phenomena. Based on CBS and WOON 1240 radio scripts broadcast by a world-famous father-and-son team of paranormal investigators, their research has revealed bizarre connections not only between seemingly unrelated occurrences but also between the paranormal and our everyday lives, the history of our species, and our possible future as a race. Meet inter-world parasites that might be farming your family or community, encounter disappearing buildings, and ghosts of people who aren't dead. Push the boundaries as you find out what the Bible and other ancient documents might really mean, and what UFOs, invisible friends, and those footsteps in the attic could really be. Explaining the paranormal is not the problem. It's handling the explanations. Everything you know is wrong.

Haunting Experiences Diane Goldstein,Sylvia Grider,Jeannie Banks Thomas,2007-09-15 Ghosts and other supernatural phenomena are widely represented throughout modern culture. They can be found in any number of entertainment, commercial, and other contexts, but popular media or commodified representations of ghosts can be quite different from the beliefs people hold about them, based on tradition or direct experience. Personal belief and cultural tradition on the one hand, and popular and commercial representation on the other, nevertheless continually feed each other. They frequently share space in how people think about the supernatural. In Haunting Experiences, three well-known folklorists seek to broaden the discussion of ghost lore by examining it from a variety of angles in various modern contexts. Diane E. Goldstein, Sylvia Ann Grider, and Jeannie Banks Thomas take ghosts seriously, as they draw on contemporary scholarship that emphasizes both the basis of belief in experience (rather than mere fantasy) and the usefulness of ghost stories. They look closely at the narrative role of such lore in matters such as socialization and gender. And they unravel the complex mix of mass media, commodification, and popular culture that today puts old spirits into new contexts.

Scathing and tender, it lifts often into poetry, but comes down hard when it must. Through it all runs the river: sluggish, ancient, dangerous, freighted with America's sins." —Robert Macfarlane, author of Underland Kerri Arsenault grew up in the small, rural town of Mexico, Maine, where for over 100 years the community orbited around a paper mill that provided jobs for nearly everyone in town, including three generations of her family. Kerri had a happy childhood, but years after she moved away, she realized the price she paid for that childhood. The price everyone paid. The mill, while providing the social and economic cohesion for the community, also contributed to its demise. Mill Town is a book of narrative nonfiction, investigative memoir, and cultural criticism that illuminates the rise and collapse of the working-class, the hazards of loving and leaving home, and the ambiguous nature of toxics and disease with the central question; Who or what are we willing to sacrifice for our own survival?
