The Perdue Chicken Cookbook Mitzi Perdue,2013-05-05 Want to know a high stress situation? Try being a food writer and cookbook author, and then marry Frank Perdue. You come home from the honeymoon, everything has been wonderful and then...it's time to Cook the First Meal! Frank wants to eat chicken and you're supposed to be a good cook. I remember that afternoon so vividly. I knew he'd be coming home around six and that he'd be hungry. Now up until that day, I had always felt fairly confident in the kitchen. After all, I love cooking and trying new recipes is my favorite pastime. But cooking chicken for Frank Perdue? I began to get stage fright. As I was trying to find where the pots and pans were in his kitchen, I started calculating that there were probably few people in the world who've eaten chicken more times than my husband. He's been eating chicken almost daily for his entire life I thought, he likes it, he cares about it, and my cooking is about to be judged by a world class expert. As I rummaged around looking for the right herbs and spices$and couldn't find the ones I liked $ my stage fright grew worse. This man must be one of the world's greatest experts on cooked chicken, I thought to myself. He's attended dozens and dozens of chicken cooking contests, he's been part of hundreds and hundreds of taste testings for Perdue products. Everywhere he goes, people know he likes chicken and the best chefs and hostesses in the world have served it to him. In my mind I ran through some of the times when together we'd driven an hour out of the way to go to a restaurant that cooked chicken particularly well, and how he always seemed to have lists of the restaurants he wanted to visit. Help! My stage fright was getting still worse. The thirty year old oven didn't seem to be heating right, but I couldn't be sure because there wasn't any oven thermometer. The elbow test, which our grandmothers used to use before the days of thermometers (you stick your elbow in the oven and feel how hot it is), told me that things weren't right, but I didn't know how far off the oven was so I didn't know how to compensate. As I rubbed my elbow with my other hand, I thought of Frank's reputation for being demanding. If you've seen the ad that we call Boot Camp, you know what I mean. (He plays the part of a drill sergeant in this ad and teaches the new Perdue recruits the 57 quality points that they have to inspect - and then he's all over one recruit for missing what seems like an invisibly small hair.)

Does Your Rabbi Know You're Here? Anthony Clavane, 2012-09-27 Jews don't do football. Or, at least, they don't play it. This, at any rate, is the myth. Apart from the relatively recent appearance of high-profile foreign owners like Roman Abramovich, Randy Lerner and the Glazers, the Jewish impact on the game has appeared to be on the light side. Anthony Clavane uncovers a secret history of Jewish involvement in English football. Featuring interviews with fans, directors, agents, hangers-on, players and managers it analyses and explains, but above all it entertains. Does Your Rabbi Know You're Here? takes a long hard look at how and why Jews - from Gutmann to Grant, from Goldberg to Glazer - have changed the game; and been changed by it in turn.

Chicken A La King Heidi Jacobsen, 2019-04-01 An Elvis Impersonator meets a farm girl from Iowa and takes on a fast food conglomerate in order to save the animals. Ali is a farm girl from Iowa who meets Scott, an Elvis impersonator from Las Vegas. They fall in love..... Sam Fullbein is known as the King Of Wings, a rich chicken mogul who will do everything to protect his secret recipe. Scott and Ali take a trip across the country only to be followed by a private investigator as they battle against the evil fast food empire only to save a few chickens from their fate and discover each other. Ali strode past the lounge where an Elvis impersonator was crooning Suspicious Minds to a crowd of white haired ladies in bright leisure clothes. He had a head of thick black hair and was wearing a white jumpsuit with multi-colored rhinestones in the front, with a white cape flowing in back and white shoes. Scott Raymond was in his late thirties and had been impersonating Elvis all his life. It started back in the seventies when he would watch Elvis movies on TV and listen to The King's records. His dream was to become as rich and famous as the King. That dream was being fulfilled every day as he worked Vegas to crowds of seniors and die hard Elvis fans. Scott sang his heart out. We're caught in a trap, I can't walk out...Because I love you too much baby....Why can't you see, what you're doing to me...When you don't believe a word I say....We can't go on together, with suspicious minds....And we can't build our dreams...On suspicious minds.....

The Cook, the Crook, and the Real Estate Tycoon Liu Zhenyun,2015-08-04 The Cook, the Crook, and the Real Estate Tycoon, by prize-winning Chinese novelist Liu Zhenyun is a novel of Beijing that paints a microcosm of contemporary China, dealing with classes at the two extremes: the super rich and the migrant workers who make them rich through deceit and corruption. The protagonist, Liu Yuejin, is a work site cook and small-time thief whose bag is stolen. In searching for it he stumbles upon another bag, which contains a flash disk that chronicles high-level corruption, and sets off a convoluted chase. There are no heroes in this scathing, complex, and highly readable critique of the dark side of China's predatory capitalism, corruption, and the plight of the underclasses. A movie adaptation and TV series appeared in 2008 in China.
