Desafio para o agora Sr. Santiago D'Paula e todos que se envolvem, diretamente ou não, na socialização desse filho, sem nenhuma perspectiva de tornar-se promissor, numa sociedade cheia de regras.

Is Louise Dreaming? Almir Philip14,2012-02-06 Middle school student Maxmillion has just written an award-winning story about a boy and his family who live on Dextra, a strange planet where the color of the sun changes as often as the seasons. After Max reads his tale in front of his science class, he receives a standing ovation from all but one girl. Louise has no idea what everyone sees in the story. Thirteen-year-old Louise is a normal seventh grader who thinks the world revolves around her. As the only child of devout Christian parents, she has grown into an ornery, spoiled girl who seeks revenge on teachers who give her bad grades, hates attending church, thinks her parents are old-fashioned, and only wants to be with her friends in the town square. But when she has a horrifying nightmare one night that her entire family suddenly disappears, Louise is confronted with the unexplainable and must rely on biblical scripture and prayer to lead her to the answers. In this inspirational tale, the message in a young boys story begins a conflicted teenagers journey as she learns to embrace Christian principles and amend her ways.

A War on Terror? Marianne Wade,Almir Maljevic,2009-11-05 Marianne Wade and Almir Maljevi? Although the worries about terrorism paled in comparison to the economic crisis as a topic during the last US election, one can find plenty of grounds to assume that they remain issue number one in the minds of politicians in Europe. As the German houses of Parliament prepare to call in the mediation committee in the discussion of legislation which would provide the Federal Police – thus far mandated purely with the post-facto investigation of crime – with powers to act to prevent acts of terrorism, Spain’s struggle with ETA and the British Government licks its wounds after a resounding defeat of its latest anti-terrorist proposals by the House of Lords, one cannot but wonder whether post 9/11, the Europeans are not even more concerned with terrorism than their US counterparts. A look at media reports, legislative and judicial activities in either Britain or Germany clearly underlines that those two countries are deeply embroiled in anti-terrorist activity. Can it be that Europe is embroiled in the “War on Terror”; constantly providing for new arms in this conflict? Or is it a refusal to participate in the “War on Terror” that fuels a constant need for Parliaments to grapple with the subject; begrudgingly conceding one increasingly draconian measure after the other? The question as to where Europe stands in the “War on Terror” is a fascinating one, but one, which is difficult to answer.
