Big Screen Book ,1995

Big Screen, Little Screen Rex Reed,1971 Rex Reed, one of the wittiest and most important writers on the entertainment scene today, is distinguished as a critic who is greatly concerned with the quality of visual mass media, as a dynamic adversary of pretentiousness, vulgarity, and mindlessness in the cinema, and as an interviewer/actor who is familiar with the motion picture industry from the inside. His humor is wickedly hilarious, his sarcasm rapier-sharp, his social commentary relevant and often devastating--whether he is discussing the merits of a motion picture, reporting on the hectic, zany events at Cannes, searingly criticizing underground and pornographic movies, or giving a wildly funny tongue-in-cheek rundown of television's Saturday morning cartoons. Collectively, these articles provide fresh in-sights into the workings of the fabulous film industry and a lively overview of the entertainment scene in general over the past two years. Big Screen, Little Screen should be read by all movie and TV enthusiasts--and by anyone concerned with the medium--and the future--of motion pictures and television. Big Screen, Little Screen : a highly readable collection of reviews and articles (originally written for Women's Wear Daily, Holiday, and The New York Times, from 1968 to the present) on a great variety of subjects.--From jacket flap.

Fables of the Law Daniela Carpi,Marett Leiboff,2016-10-24 What can fables and fairytales tell us of law, its practices and ideals? Drawing on real and metaphorical literary and jurisprudential accounts and practices of law, this volume reveals that law has recourse to fables and fairytales as moral exempla, as a new form of law and literature, found in diverse sources ranging from the fables of de La Fontaine and fairytales of Perrault and Grimm to the modern fairytales of True Blood and Harry Potter.

A Companion to Australian Cinema Felicity Collins,Jane Landman,Susan Bye,2019-04-15 The first comprehensive volume of original essays on Australian screen culture in the twenty-first century. A Companion to Australian Cinema is an anthology of original essays by new and established authors on the contemporary state and future directions of a well-established national cinema. A timely intervention that challenges and expands the idea of cinema, this book brings into sharp focus those facets of Australian cinema that have endured, evolved and emerged in the twenty-first century. The essays address six thematically-organized propositions – that Australian cinema is an Indigenous screen culture, an international cinema, a minor transnational imaginary, an enduring auteur-genre-landscape tradition, a televisual industry and a multiplatform ecology. Offering fresh critical perspectives and extending previous scholarship, case studies range from The Lego Movie, Mad Max, and Australian stars in Hollywood, to transnational co-productions, YouTube channels, transmedia and nature-cam documentaries. New research on trends – such as the convergence of television and film, digital transformations of screen production and the shifting roles of women on and off-screen – highlight how established precedents have been influenced by new realities beyond both cinema and the national. Written in an accessible style that does not require knowledge of cinema studies or Australian studies Presents original research on Australian actors, such as Cate Blanchett and Chris Hemsworth, their training, branding, and path from Australia to Hollywood Explores the films and filmmakers of the Blak Wave and their challenge to Australian settler-colonial history and white identity Expands the critical definition of cinema to include YouTube channels, transmedia documentaries, multiplatform changescapes and cinematic remix Introduces readers to founding texts in Australian screen studies A Companion to Australian Cinema is an ideal introductory text for teachers and students in areas including film and media studies, cultural and gender studies, and Australian history and politics, as well as a valuable resource for educators and other professionals in the humanities and creative arts.
