Clouds of Shifting Light Carolanne Wright,2019-12-15 Clouds of Shifting Light a luminous and evocative story of one mother's grief and her search for wholeness in the wilds of Iceland. In the aftermath of her toddler son's tragic and sudden death, Carolanne Wright's life disintegrated. Her health failed her, and her core relationships fractured. But as every day descended into a struggle for sanity, she made a radical decision - to leave her home in the United States and travel the world. In search of healing, Carolanne and her infant daughter traveled the globe to far-flung and exotic places including Thailand, the Republic of Georgia, and Mexico. But it was only after hidden grief came crashing to the surface years later that she made her most extreme choice - to bikepack across Northern California, then the wilds of Iceland, alone. Without experience or training, her journey revealed the wonders of the natural world and the people who inhabit it. Told with searing honesty and fierce humor, this insightful and profound book is a meditation on the joys and sorrows of life-and how what breaks us can ultimately set us free.

Charity Affiliation Carolanne Azan, 2017-04-02 Charity Affiliation: Uncovering a New Key Variable for Cause-Related Marketing The research conducted for this book indicates the presence of a relationship between charity affiliation and consumer purchase preference for Cause-Related Marketing (CRM) campaign products. A better understanding of purchase preference based upon the strength of consumers' affiliation could support or alter current market segmentation and the targeted marketing efforts of both CRM sponsors and charities engaged in CRM. This research suggests a new way to target markets that could assist with the creation of CRM product lines which may be more appealing to consumers. Challenging the traditional market segmentation of CRM products suggests a newer and stronger viewpoint of development and implementation of a CRM strategy to achieve the best outcomes for both for-profit business sponsors and non-profit charities. Marketers at both for-profit and non-profit organizations, and consumers could all be positively impacted by the results of this exploratory research. The Power of Words, 2006-01-01 This volume comprises essays in lexicography, lexicology and semantics by leading international experts in these fields. The contributions cover Old, Middle and Present-Day English and Scots, and specific subjects include medical vocabulary, colour lexemes, and semantic and pragmatic meaning in terms for politeness, money and humour. In the area of Old English studies there are articles on kinship terminology and colour lexemes, and in Middle English a semantic and syntactic study of the overlapping of the verbs dreden and douten. Many of the essays make use of the Historical Thesaurus of English project at the University of Glasgow, and pay tribute to its Director, Professor Christian Kay; e.g., one article demonstrates how the HTE, a project which is at the interface between historical semantics and lexicography, may present a rich resource for information about the lexicalization of concepts within our culture, such as changing social attitudes in the area of will, consent and coercion. Other resources, such as The Linguistic Atlas of Early Middle English, and the Oxford English Dictionary provide a rich source for information on historical lexicography, semantics and editing. A number of essays concern the Scots language, such as an analysis of evaluative terms in modern Scots speech and writing, the rich potential of rhyme in Scots, and the role of lexicon in fronting in Glaswegian.
