Transitioning the Molecular Tumor Board from Proof of Concept to Clinical Routine: a German Single-center Analysis Rouven Höfflin,Adriana Lazarou,Maria Elena Hess,Meike Reiser,Julius Wehrle,Patrick Metzger,Anna-Verena Frey,Heiko Becker,Konrad Aumann,Kai Berner,Tilman Brummer,Nico Büttner,Christine Dierks,Jesús Duque Afonso,Michel Eisenblätter,Thalia Erbes,Ralph Fritsch,Isabell Xiang Ge,Anna-Lena Geißler,Markus Tobias Grabbert,Steffen Heeg,Dieter Henrik Heiland,Simone Hettmer,Gian Kayser,Alexander Keller,Anita Kleiber,Alexandra Kutilina,Leman Mehmed,Frank Meiß,Philipp Johann Poxleitner,Justyna Rawluk,Juri Ruf,Henning Sebastian Schäfer,Florian Paul Scherer,Khalid Shoumariyeh,Andreas Tzschach,Christoph Peters,Martin Werner,Justus Duyster,Silke Laßmann,Cornelius Miething,Melanie Börries,Anna Lena Illert,Nikolas von Bubnoff,2021 Abstract: Molecular precision oncology faces two major challenges: first, to identify relevant and actionable molecular variants in a rapidly changing field and second, to provide access to a broad patient population. Here, we report a four-year experience of the Molecular Tumor Board (MTB) of the Comprehensive Cancer Center Freiburg (Germany) including workflows and process optimizations. This retrospective single-center study includes data on 488 patients enrolled in the MTB from February 2015 through December 2018. Recommendations include individual molecular diagnostics, molecular stratified therapies, assessment of treatment adherence and patient outcomes including overall survival. The majority of MTB patients presented with stage IV oncologic malignancies (90.6%) and underwent an average of 2.1 previous lines of therapy. Individual diagnostic recommendations were given to 487 patients (99.8%). A treatment recommendation was given in 264 of all cases (54.1%) which included a molecularly matched treatment in 212 patients (43.4%). The 264 treatment recommendations were implemented in 76 patients (28.8%). Stable disease was observed in 19 patients (25.0%), 17 had partial response (22.4%) and five showed a complete remission (6.6%). An objective response was achieved in 28.9% of cases with implemented recommendations and for 4.5% of the total population (22 of 488 patients). By optimizing the MTB workflow, case-discussions per session increased significantly while treatment adherence and outcome remained stable over time. Our data demonstrate the feasibility and effectiveness of molecular-guided personalized therapy for cancer patients in a clinical routine setting showing a low but robust and durable disease control rate over time

Personalized Clinical Decision Making Through Implementation of a Molecular Tumor Board: a German Single-center Experience Rouven Höfflin,Anna-Lena Geißler,Ralph Fritsch,Rainer Helmut Claus,Julius Wehrle,Patrick Metzger,Meike Reiser,Leman Mehmed,Lisa Schäfer-Fauth,Dieter Henrik Heiland,Thalia Erbes,Friedrich Stock,Ágnes Csanádi,Cornelius Miething,Britta Weddeling,Frank Meiß,Dagmar von Bubnoff,Christine Dierks,Isabell Xiang Ge,Volker Brass,Steffen Heeg,Henning Sebastian Schäfer,Tilman Brummer,Justyna Rawluk,Elke Maria Botzenhart,Gian Kayser,Simone Hettmer,Hauke Busch,Christoph Peters,Martin Werner,Justus Duyster,Melanie Börries,Silke Laßmann,Nikolas von Bubnoff,2018 Abstract: Purpose Dramatic advances in our understanding of the molecular pathophysiology of cancer, along with a rapidly expanding portfolio of molecular targeted drugs, have led to a paradigm shift toward personalized, biomarker-driven cancer treatment. Here, we report the 2-year experience of the Comprehensive Cancer Center Freiburg Molecular Tumor Board (MTB), one of the first interdisciplinary molecular tumor conferences established in Europe. The role of the MTB is to recommend personalized therapy for patients with cancer beyond standard-of-care treatment. Methods This retrospective case series includes 198 patients discussed from March 2015 through February 2017. The MTB guided individual molecular diagnostics, assessed evidence of actionability of molecular alterations, and provided therapy recommendations, including approved and off-label treatments as well as available matched clinical trials. Results The majority of patients had metastatic solid tumors (73.7%), mostly progressive (77.3%) after a mean of 2.0 lines of standard treatment. Diagnostic recommendations resulted in 867 molecular diagnostic tests for 172 patients (five per case), including exome analysis in 36 cases (18.2%). With a median turnaround time of 28 days, treatment recommendations were given to 104 patients (52.5%). These included single-agent targeted therapies (42.3%), checkpoint inhibitors (37.5%), and combination therapies (18.3%). Treatment recommendations were implemented in 33 of 104 patients (31.7%), of whom 19 (57.6%) showed stable disease or partial response, including 14 patients (7.1% of the entire population) receiving off-label treatments. Conclusion Personalized extended molecular-guided patient care is effective for a small but clinically meaningful proportion of patients in challenging clinical situations. Limited access to targeted drugs, lack of trials, and submission at late disease stage prevents broader applicability, whereas genome-wide analyses are not a strict requirement for predictive molecular testing

In His Milieu Amy Golahny,Mia M. Mochizuki,Lisa Vergara,2006 Gathered in honor of John Michael Montias (1928–2005), the foremost scholar on Johannes Vermeer and a pioneer in the study of the socioeconomic dimensions of art, the essays in In His Milieu are an essential contribution to the study of the social functions of making, collecting, displaying, and donating art. The nearly forty essays here by—all internationally recognized experts in the fields of art history and the economics of art—are especially revealing about the Renaissance and Baroque eras and present new material on such artists as Rembrandt, Van Eyck, Rubens, and da Vinci.

Christoph Von Schmid Christoph Von Schmid,2010-02-01 Set in Germany 100 years ago, A Basket of Flowers by Christoph von Schmid is the tale of a godly young woman and her father who wrongly suffer great persecution, but who learn to trust the sovereign hand of God through every difficult circumstance. Christoph von Schmid's story of A Basket of Flowers centers on James, a godly gardener, and his young daughter, Mary. Their happy and simple life is disrupted when Mary is accused and convicted of theft. At her trial, Mary tells the truth, maintaining her innocence in spite of great pressure. Convicted as thief and accomplice, Mary and her father begin their sentence for the crime. Continuing his lessons about the gospel from nature, James encourages Mary through this trial and prepares her for the next, greater blow in the story of Christoph von Schmid: A Basket of Flowers.

Rot-Grün an der Macht Edgar Wolfrum,2013-07-16 Die rot-grüne Ära war eine Zeit des Umbruchs. Ihre Wirkungen prägen die Bundesrepublik bis heute. Atomausstieg, Agenda 2010, Krieg und Frieden – es waren dramatische Jahre, in denen Tabus gebrochen wurden. Epochale innenpolitische Reformen erhöhten den Pulsschlag der Politik und bewirkten eine gesellschaftliche Polarisierung wie selten zuvor. Soziale Krise, forcierte Globalisierung und internationaler Terrorismus: Um die Jahrtausendwende veränderte sich die Welt in einer rasanten Geschwindigkeit. Mit drei Kriegen wurde die Regierung Schröder-Fischer konfrontiert, im Kosovo, in Afghanistan und im Irak. Mehrmals drohte die Koalition auseinanderzubrechen. Die schwierigen und temporeichen Zeitläufte verlangten den Menschen viel ab. Erfolg und Scheitern lagen auf vielen Feldern nahe beieinander. Auf der Grundlage exklusiven Archivmaterials legt Edgar Wolfrum die erste aus den Quellen gehobene Geschichte Deutschlands zwischen 1998 und 2005 vor. Neues und Überraschendes wird zu Tage gefördert – ein aufregendes Stück Zeitgeschichte, glänzend erzählt. «Ein spannend zu lesendes Buch – anschaulich geschrieben, überzeugend in der Argumentation, entschieden im Urteil. Wer über die rot-grünen Jahre und ihre Auswirkungen mitreden will, sollte den neuen Wolfrum lesen.» Heinrich August Winkler

Pieter Saenredam, The Utrecht Work Liesbeth M. Helmus,2002-01-01 Pieter Saenredam (1597–1665) was one of the magical painters of 17th-century Holland, a time known as the Golden Age of Dutch Art. He spent his career immortalizing the churches of Holland in drawings and paintings. Working through a series of perspective drawings to the finished painting, he made innumerable fine adjustments to architectural details to create what may be justly called spaces of wondrous perfection of proportion and luminosity. Pieter Saenredam, The Utrecht Work is published to coincide with an exhibition of Saenredam’s drawings and paintings, originally held at the Centraal Museum, Utrecht, and on view from April 16 through July 7, 2002 at the Getty Museum. This elegant volume brings together more than sixty drawings and paintings depicting the beautiful and historically venerable churches of the Dutch city of Utrecht.
