B. Sham Moteelall

The Common Vision David Marshak,1997 Describes the teachings on child raising and education of Rudolf Steiner, Sri Aurobindo Ghose, and Hazrat Inayat Khan, revealing similarities and differences between these three visions of human nature and growth within the context of spirituality. Details what children need in their schooling at various ages, and visits the theories in action at a second grade classroom in a Waldorf school and at the Sri Aurobindo ashram. Of interest to parents and teachers. Annotation copyrighted by Book News, Inc., Portland, OR

The Church World Council of Churches. Commission on Faith and Order,2013 For twenty years, the delegated representatives of the Orthodox, Protestant, Anglican, Evangelical, Pentecostal and Roman Catholic churches...have sought to uncover a global, multilateral and ecumenical vision of the nature, purpose, and mission of the Church. -- from the Preface  What can be done in order for the Church of the Triune God to grow deeper in communion, to strive further for justice and peace in the world, and to overcome together past and present divisions? The Church: Towards a Common Vision proposes a remarkable answer to this question. Developed by theologians from a wide range of Christian traditions and cultures, this book addresses first the Church's mission, unity, and its being in the Trinitarian life of God. It then discusses the need for growth in communion - in apostolic faith, in sacramental life, and in ministry - as churches divinely called to live in and for the world. (Series: Faith and Order)

Common Man, Mythic Vision Susan Chevlowe,Diana L. Linden,Ben Shahn,Jewish Museum (New York, N.Y.),Allentown Art Museum,1998 A survey of the long and varied career of the great American Social Realist painter Ben Shahn, featuring striking reproductions of paintings, begins with his well-known Depression-era works and goes on to include an appreciation of his lesser-known later paintings. A Common Vision B. Sham Moteelall,2023-04-16 This book titled A Common Vision, is written with the intent that it could, directly or indirectly, benefit many people on Planet Earth. The writing emphasizes, among other topics, mutual respect for all, regardless of origin, wealth, entitlements or status. It delves into various aspects of life with special emphasis on business leadership, management, and other entities. The realization must exist that continuous personal and leadership improvements are critical factors for current and future successes. Denial of such basic factors should not be an option. The suggestions offered here are the results of many years of diverse experiences of the author during various modes of survival. It draws from experiences in a third world country to involvements in corporate business management and a host of additional scholastic and practical life experiences.

A Common Vision Neena Beber,2009 3m, 3f Six lives collide around a transcendent vision in a night sky. Dolores' private anguish becomes a matter of public debate when a respected psychologist convinces her she was abducted by aliens. And to think she thought it was all because she got dumped by some guy. A Common Vision chronicles Dolores' journey when her personal crisis of faith dovetails with a larger cultural phenomenon. The common vision Dolores, her therapist and witnesses share turns out to be as provocative as it is unreliable. And that's what makes part of Beber's vision so uncommonly rewarding. - Robert Hurwitt, San Francisco Examiner For Dolores, the protagonist of Neena Beber's wryly observant comedy A Common Vision, a possible brush with the paranormal sets into motion a series of vexing incidents... A Common Vision dodges cliché after cliché, thanks to Beber's distinctive deadpan comic touch....at the 1997 Humana new play festival, Beber's 10-minute play Misreadings outstripped everything else, short or long, that year in Louisville. Earlier full-length Beber plays, notably the Brief but Exemplary Life of the Living Goddess (as told by herself) and Tomorrowland revealed a writer of odd, uncommon grace and bone-dry wit, recalling short story ace Lorrie Moore as well as the MTV series Daria. (Beber has written five Daria episodes, so that explains that.) - Michael Phillips, Los Angeles Times

The Eye Care Revolution Robert Abel,2014-04-29 Delivers nutritional, herbal, homeopathic, and Asian therapies, along with conventional methods, to prevent and even reverse most vision disorders, including cataracts, glaucoma, and diabetes-related vision loss.

Mead and Merleau-Ponty Sandra B. Rosenthal,Patrick L. Bourgeois,1991-01-01 This book unites George Herbert Mead and Maurice Merleau-Ponty in a shared rejection of substance philosophy as well as spectator theory of knowledge, in favor of a focus on the ultimacy of temporal process and the constitutive function of social praxis. Both Mead and Merleau-Ponty return to the richness of lived experience within nature, and both lead to radically new, insightful visions of the nature of selfhood, language, freedom, and time itself, as well as of the nature of the relation between the so-called tensions of appearance and reality, sensation and object, the individual and the community, freedom and constraint, and continuity and creativity.

Business for the Common Good Kenman L. Wong,Scott B. Rae,2011-01-28 Is business just a way to make money? Or can the marketplace a venue for service to others? Scott B. Rae and Kenman L. Wong seek to explore this and other critical business issues from a uniquely Christian perspective, offering up a vision for work and service that is theologically grounded and practically oriented. Among the specific questions they address along the way are these: What implications does the Christian story have for the vision, mission or sense of purpose that shapes business engagement? What parts of business can be affirmed and practiced as is and what parts need to be rejected or transformed? What challenges exist as attempts are made to live out Christian ideals in a broken world characterized by tight margins, fierce competition and short-term investor pressures? How do Christian values inform specific functional areas of business such as the management of people, marketing and environmental sustainability? Business can be even more than an environment through which individual Christians grow in Christlikeness. In this book you'll discover how it can also be a means toward serving the common good. The Christian Worldview Integration Series, edited by J. P. Moreland and Francis J. Beckwith, seeks to promote a robust personal and conceptual integration of Christian faith and learning, with textbooks focused on disciplines such as education, psychology, literature, politics, science, communications, biology, philosophy, and history.

The Power of Shared Vision Michael H. Cohen, JD, MBA,2015-02-15 The Power of Shared Vision addresses how to develop goals that unite people around a common cause and secure employee ownership of changes that improve the quality of their work. Learn to create a retribution-free communication environment where people can communicate their needs without fear of retribution. Leaders will help team members distinguish problems that can be solved from those work realities that are outside of their control. Understand the reasons why some employees cannot or will not meet job-related expectations and what leaders can do to close the performance gap.

Designing Future Worship Spaces Richard S. Vosko,1996 This book begins a dialog on the impact of scientific discoveries, changes in society, and evolving religious practice in our design of worship spaces.

The Mathematical Sciences in 2025 National Research Council,Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences,Board on Mathematical Sciences and Their Applications,Committee on the Mathematical Sciences in 2025,2013-06-13 The mathematical sciences are part of nearly all aspects of everyday life-the discipline has underpinned such beneficial modern capabilities as Internet search, medical imaging, computer animation, numerical weather predictions, and all types of digital communications. The Mathematical Sciences in 2025 examines the current state of the mathematical sciences and explores the changes needed for the discipline to be in a strong position and able to maximize its contribution to the nation in 2025. It finds the vitality of the discipline excellent and that it contributes in expanding ways to most areas of science and engineering, as well as to the nation as a whole, and recommends that training for future generations of mathematical scientists should be re-assessed in light of the increasingly cross-disciplinary nature of the mathematical sciences. In addition, because of the valuable interplay between ideas and people from all parts of the mathematical sciences, the report emphasizes that universities and the government need to continue to invest in the full spectrum of the mathematical sciences in order for the whole enterprise to continue to flourish long-term.

Forgotten Truth Huston Smith,1992-10-09 This classic companion to The World's Religions articulates the remarkable unity that underlies the world's religious traditions

No Labels No Labels Foundation,2014-01-11 A group of prominent political leaders and thinkers offers a pathway to cut through the gridlock and make our government work. Every year the President stands before Congress and the American people to deliver a State of the Union Address. What was once an opportunity for honest reflection on accomplishments and goals has become more of a laundry list than a speech—a grab bag of policy ideas, partisan rhetoric, and a healthy dose of wishful thinking. Meanwhile, the gridlock in Washington means that virtually nothing in that speech will amount to anything but talk. Governor Jon Huntsman and Senator Joe Manchin, two of the most respected and straightforward political leaders in America, have a simple solution for Washington's gridlock. It begins with getting our leaders together at the table to agree to goals not just for their party but for the whole country. In this book, Huntsman and Manchin are joined by experts and politicians from both sides of the aisle, including thought leaders from business, economics, and academia. Contributors include two former White House Chiefs of Staff; former OMB Director Alice Rivlin; Glenn Hubbard, Dean of Columbia Business School; nine members of Congress committed to solving Washington's endemic problems; and more contributors from every walk of life. These contributors are all making a loud call for a new process of running the United States of America. “Politics doesn’t have to be a zero-sum game—we are going to share the future, and so we need to find ways to work together...a timely book.” —President Bill Clinton “President Clinton and I disagreed on many things, but we did agree on two very large goals—balanced budgets and welfare reform. These shared goals allowed us to focus energy on bridging the gap between the parties...By proposing four large goals around which to rally the country, No Labels: A Shared Vision for a Stronger America lays the groundwork for a return to meaningful bipartisan accomplishment in Washington.”—Newt Gingrich

The Challenge Continues, Participant Workbook James M. Kouzes,Barry Z. Posner,2010-07-06 Continue Your Leadership Journey With a Deep Dive into Inspire a Shared Vision Over the last twenty-five years, The Leadership Challenge established a reputation as a research-driven, evidence-based leadership development model with a simple, yet profound, principle at its core: leadership is a measurable and learnable set of behaviors. Building a Common Vision for Sustainable Food and Agriculture ,2014 Sustainability is at the heart of FAO's new Strategic Framework and is the specific focus of Strategic Objective 2, which aims at sustainably increasing the provision of goods and services from agriculture, forestry and fisheries. This report is the outcome of intensive consultations and discussions aimed at developing a common approach to FAO's work on sustainability. That process was conducted in a climate of cross-sectoral collaboration that drew on the contributions of leading FAO and external specialists in crops, livestock, forestry, capture fisheries, aquaculture and natural resources. The report provides the vision, the key principles and indications on the way forward to transition towards sustainable food and agriculture. It builds on the Organization's long experience in developing sustainability concepts, approaches and tools, and offers a common platform for a vision of the agriculture sector and of the inter-sectoral synergies that will eventually make agriculture more productive and sustainable.--Publisher's information.

Shared Vision John E. Roueche,George A. Baker,Robert R. Rose,1989 Based on a study of 256 exemplary community college presidents, this book examines the attributes of outstanding leaders and their ability to orchestrate organizational change. Chapter 1 provides the background for the study, emphasizes the importance of leadership, and identifies attributes common to transformational leaders; that is, leaders who work with their followers so that each raises the other to higher levels of motivation and morality. Chapter 2 summarizes leadership theory and offers a discussion of transformational leadership and its place in a rapidly changing society. After chapter 3 reviews the study methodology, chapters 4 and 5 present findings on the demographic and leadership characteristics of the presidents selected for in-depth study. Chapters 6 through 10 discuss key elements of transformational leadership, including shared vision, teamwork and collaborative decision making, institutional climate and the relationship between the institution and the individuals within it, motivation as a means of achieving followers' acceptance of the shared vision, and personal values, integrity, and commitment to learning. Chapter 11 examines women in community college leadership roles. Finally, chapter 12 presents a summary of the research, a discussion of the problems faced by minority leaders, and a review of study implications. The survey instruments and an 85-item bibliography are appended. (ALB)

Churches Respond to the Church Ellen K.. Wondra, Stephanie Dietrich, Ani Ghazaryan Drissi, 2021 This publication and its companion volume collect the responses received to The Church : Towards a Common Vision (TCTCV) between 2013 and 2020. The responses address the Church's mission, unity, and its being in the Trinitarian life of God in order to encourage and advance the churches' growth in communion with each other in apostolic faith, sacramental life, mission, and ministry for the sake of God's world. These responses are of great importance, not only because they test the points of convergence and of difference identified in TCTCV but also because they express the interests and concerns of many member churches and ecclesial bodies engaging in the work for Christian unity. They also provide invaluable insight and guidance for future work on ecclesiology.
