The stadium century Robert W. Lewis, 2016-12-08 The stadium century traces the history of stadia and mass spectatorship in modern France from the vélodromes of the late nineteenth century to the construction of the Stade de France before the 1998 soccer World Cup. As the book demonstrates, the stadium was at the centre of debates over public health and urban development and proved to be a key space for mobilising the urban crowd for political rallies and spectator sporting events alike. After 1945, the transformed French stadium constituted part of the process of postwar modernisation but also was increasingly connected to global transformations to the spaces and practices of sport. Drawing from a wide range of sources, the stadium century links the histories of French urbanism, mass politics and sport through the stadium in an innovative work that will appeal to historians, students of French history and the history of sport, and general readers alike.

Les territoires de l'excellence sportive Marina Honta, 2002 Ouvrage destiné aux enseignants et aux spécialistes du sport de haut niveau sur le plan universitaire. Il présente, d'une part, la politique de cette activité (statut de l'athlète, structures existantes). D'autre part, il examine l'application de directives administratives récentes en Aquitaine, et enfin illustre le propos par des exemples concrets (vécus et témoignages d'acteurs).

9-2, le Clan du Président Hélène Constanty, Pierre-Yves Lautrou, 2008-02-06 Les présidents de la République ont toujours eu un fief. Si Jacques Chirac a longtemps régné sur la ville de Paris, Nicolas Sarkozy, lui, a choisi la banlieue. Mais pas n'importe laquelle : les Hauts-de-Seine, où se croisent grandes fortunes et «nouveaux riches» de la politique. Sans le 9-2, le président ne serait rien. C'est là qu'il a commencé sa carrière politique : maire de Neuilly à 28 ans, député de Neuilly-Puteaux à 34 ans, président du conseil général à 49 ans... C'est là qu'il a appris le métier avec son «parrain» corse, Charles Pasqua, l'ancien homme fort du département. Il y compte ses amis les plus fidèles, mais aussi les plus encombrants : le couple Balkany à Levallois-Perret, le couple Aeschlimann à Asnières, la famille Ceccaldi-Raynaud à Puteaux, dont les frasques familiales et judiciaires défraient la chronique locale. On y trouve de fidèles alliés aussi, comme l'ex-UDF André Santini, maire d'Issy-les-Moulineaux, dont les bonnes blagues cachent des pratiques locales beaucoup moins drôles. Dans nombre de ces communes tenues par les amis du président se pratiquent, à grande échelle, le clientélisme et le muselage de l'opposition. Entre leurs mains, les logements sociaux deviennent une arme politique redoutable. Nicolas Sarkozy continue par ailleurs de suivre de près le pharaonique projet immobilier de relance du quartier d'affaires de la Défense, qu'il a amorcé en 2006 et qui ravit ses amis promoteurs et grands patrons... ainsi que le nouveau boss du département, Patrick Devedjian. Une plongée inédite au cœur de la droite «bling-bling», qui détient le pouvoir et l'argent dans le département le plus riche de France : le 9-2, où règne le clan du président... Hélène Constanty est journaliste indépendante. Elle a notamment écrit : Internet, les nouveaux maîtres de la planète (Seuil, 2000), Le Lobby de la gâchette (Seuil, 2002), Warren Buffett, l'investisseur intelligent (Eyrolles, 2005), Députés sous influences : le vrai pouvoir des lobbies à l'Assemblée nationale (avec Vincent Nouzille, Fayard, 2005). Pierre-Yves Lautrou est journaliste à L'Express où il couvre depuis plusieurs années les Hauts-de-Seine. Passionné de course au large, il est l'auteur du Roman du Vendée Globe, avec Christophe Agnus (Grasset, 2004), une enquête dans les coulisses du tour du monde en solitaire.

The Routledge Dictionary of Cultural References in Modern French Michael Mould, 2011-04-27 The Routledge Dictionary of Cultural References in Modern French reveals the hidden cultural dimension of contemporary French, as used in the press, going beyond the limited and purely lexical approach of traditional bilingual dictionaries. Even foreign learners of French who possess a good level of French often have difficulty in fully understanding French articles, not because of any linguistic shortcomings on their part but because of their inadequate knowledge of the cultural references. This cultural dictionary of French provides the reader with clear and concise explanations of the crucial cultural dimension behind the most frequently used words and phrases found in the contemporary French press. This vital background information, gathered here in this innovative and entertaining dictionary, will allow readers to go beyond a superficial understanding of the French press and the French language in general, to see the hidden yet implied cultural significance that is so transparent to the native speaker. Key features: a broad range of cultural references from the historical and literary to the popular and classical, with an in-depth analysis of punning mechanisms. over 3,000 cultural references explained a three-level indicator of frequency over 600 questions to test knowledge before and after reading. The Routledge Dictionary of Cultural References in Modern French is the ideal reference for all undergraduate and postgraduate students of French seeking to enhance their understanding of the French language. It will also be of interest to teachers, translators and Francophiles alike. French students in khâgne, Sciences-Po and schools of journalism will also find this valuable and relevant for their studies.

Housing Disadvantaged People? Jane Ball, 2012-06-25 Social housing appears to offer a solution for the housing of poor and disadvantaged people. The French right to housing offers poor and disadvantaged citizens priority in social housing allocation, and even a legal action against the State to obtain a social home. Despite this, France is suffering a long-lasting housing crisis with disadvantaged people having particular difficulties of access, often despite the efforts of local housing actors. This situation is affected by the European Court of Human Rights and EU decisions limiting diverse national housing and rental policies. Between historic French revolutions and the modern riots, negotiated solutions to social dilemmas emerged. Despite progress in constitutional principles, complex local negotiations still ultimately determine who is housed. Local social landlords, mayors and employee and tenant representatives use their privileges to house their insiders: existing tenants, locals and employees, with rent insufficiently subsidized. 'Insider Outsider' theory is used for an economic analysis of exclusion in social housing allocation: its processes, institutional context, and stigmatizing effects. This highlights the spatial effects of nimbyism, excluding disadvantaged outsiders, and concentrating them in deprived areas. Simultaneously, urban regeneration reduced affordable housing stock and 'social mix' became a reason to refuse a social home. History, comparative law, economic theory and local interviews with housing actors give a detailed picture of what happens in and around French social housing allocation for an interdisciplinary housing policy audience. Constitutional principles appear in an unfamiliar guise as negotiating positions, with the right to property supporting landlords and the right to housing supporting tenants. French debates about the function of social landlords are echoed across Europe and reflected in European policies concerning rights, and the exclusion of disadvantaged minorities.

DU MILLENIUM A L'APOCALYPSE XAVIER-JÉRÔME LE ROUX,

The Best System Money Can Buy Carolyn Warner, 2011-03-15 As the European Union moved in the 1990s to a unified market and stronger common institutions, most observers assumed that the changes would reduce corruption. Aspects of the stronger EU promised to preclude—or at least reduce—malfeasance: regulatory harmonization, freer trade, and privatization of publicly owned enterprises. Market efficiencies would render corrupt practices more visible and less common. In The Best System Money Can Buy, Carolyn M. Warner systematically and often entertainingly gives the lie to these assumptions and provides a framework for understanding the persistence of corruption in the Western states of the EU. In compelling case studies, she shows that under certain conditions, politicians and firms across Europe, chose to counter the increased competition they faced due to liberal markets and political reforms by resorting to corruption. More elections have made ever-larger funding demands on political parties; privatization has proved to be a theme park for economic crime and party profit; firms and politicians collude in many areas where EU harmonization has resulted in a net reduction in law-enforcement powers; and state-led export promotion efforts, especially in the armaments, infrastructure, and energy sectors, have virtually institutionalized bribery. The assumptions that corruption and modernity are incompatible—or that Western Europe is somehow immune to corruption—simply do not hold, as Warner conveys through colorful analyses of scandals in which large corporations, politicians, and bureaucrats engage in criminal activity in order to facilitate mergers and block competition, and in which officials accept private payments for public services rendered. At the same time, the book shows the extent to which corruption is driven by the very economic and political reforms thought to decrease it.

Itinéraire d'un élu socialiste en Sarkozy Guy Janvier, 2012-04-01 Guy Janvier est élu conseiller général des Hauts-de-Seine en mars 2004 lorsque Nicolas Sarkozy en devient président. S'il prétend vouloir faire de ce département le laboratoire de ses idées, N.

Sarkozy comprend vite l'intérêt qu'il a de ne rien changer au système mis en place par Charles Pasqua. Haut fonctionnaire de l'Etat et titulaire de différents mandats locaux, l'auteur avance des propositions concrètes dans les domaines du logement, de l'éducation, de la famille, des drogues...

Aid to Africa Gordon Cumming, 2017-07-05 The end of the Cold War forced Western donors to rethink their aid relations with Africa. This book looks at two of these donors, France and Britain, and asks whether the development programmes of these former colonial powers have undergone radical changes since the end of the Old World Order. It focuses on the introduction of a controversial new 'regime' trend - political conditionality - and uses policy models to illustrate the driving forces behind this new development strategy and explain substantial differences in France and Britain's practice of political conditionality in Togo and Kenya. Overall, this volume - the first comparative study of French and British aid in the post-Cold War period - offers fresh insights into the evolution of the political assistance agenda and into deeper forces at work within the French and UK policy processes.

Coming into the World Giovanni Battista La Sala, Piergiuseppina Fagandini, Vanna Iori, Fiorella Monti, 2006-01-01 Prominent scientists from perinatal medicine, paediatrics, psychology and sociology will meet in Modena, Italy to explore birth as a complex psychological experience for mother, father and child. The proceedings of this interdisciplinary congress are here published in English to reach the broadest possible scientific audience. The goal is to create a dialogue between humanistic and medical perspectives with regard to conception, pregnancy and birth in an era of rapid biotechnological progress, taking different social and cultural contexts into account.

Counter-Archive Paula Amad, 2010-09-28 Counter-Archive brilliantly reflects the visual character of philosophy, geography, and historiography in twentieth-century France. Organized hermetically and crafted meticulously, this volume offers a wealth of information as it considers film theory.---Tom Conley, Harvard University Tucked Away in a Garden on the edge of Paris is a multimedia archive like no other: Albert Kahn's Archives de la Planete (1908-1931). Kahn's vast photo-cinematographic experiment preserved world memory through the privileged lens of everyday life, and Counter-Archive situates this project in its biographic, intellectual, and cinematic contexts. Tracing the archive's key influences, such as the philosopher Henri Bergson, the geographer Jean Brunhes, and the biologist Jean Comandon, Paula Amad maps an alternative landscape of French cultural modernity, in which vitalist philosophy cross-pollinated with early film theory, documentary film with the avant-grade, cinematic models of temporality with the early Annales school of history, and film's appropriation of the planet with human geography and colonial ideology. At the heart of the book is an insightful meditation upon the transformed concept of the archive in the age of cinema and an innovative argument about film's counter-archival challenge to history. This impressive book carves out a field of interest that, prior to Paula Amad's scrutiny, did not exist. Amad displays extraordinary erudition, assembling a remarkable bibliography of primary sources. She invites us to ponder her ideas in relation to our own digital, counter-archival, image overload.---Antonia Lant, New York University, editor of Red Velvet Seat: Women's Writings on the First Fifty Years of Cinema. Paula Amad handles technical details with flourish and mastery, and the research in the French archives is exhilarating.---Donald Crafton, University of Notre Dame Paula Amad's book is far more than an unusually successful effort to recover and analyze Kahn's unique dream of 'archiving the planet.' It stages a theoretical interrogation of the terms archive, everyday life, and modernity, arguing that the emergence of motion pictures produced a revisionist concept of the archive or what she calls the counter-archive. Her book ultimately mounts a highly original methodological exploration of the intersection of history and theory.---Richard Abel, University of Michigan
