Swedes of Greater Worcester Eric J. Salomonsson, William O. Hultgren, Philip C. Becker, 2002 By the late nineteenth century, Swedish immigrants began arriving by the thousands in New England, attracted by the area's heavy industry. In particular, the steel and ceramic shops of Worcester provided a livelihood for many of them. As a result, new areas of Swedish settlements developed throughout the surrounding towns. Swedes of Greater Worcester captures the area's Swedish heritage through a collection of images that displays everything from vintage weddings to ski-jumping events and stories known only by the families of the Swedes who first traveled to Worcester. These images represent a time when the Swedish element was a vital and vibrant part of the identity of the greater Worcester area.

Designing Experiments for the Social Sciences Renita Coleman, 2018-08-27 This book is a must for learning about the experimental design—from forming a research question to interpreting the results this text covers it all. –Sarah El Sayed, University of Texas at Arlington Designing Experiments for the Social Sciences: How to Plan, Create, and Execute Research Using Experiments is a practical, applied text for courses in experimental design. The text assumes that students have just a basic knowledge of the scientific method, and no statistics background is required. With its focus on how to effectively design experiments, rather than how to analyze them, the book concentrates on the stage where researchers are making decisions about procedural aspects of the experiment before interventions and treatments are given. Renita Coleman walks readers step-by-step on how to plan and execute experiments from the beginning by discussing choosing and collecting a sample, creating the stimuli and questionnaire, doing a manipulation check or pre-test, analyzing the data, and understanding and interpreting the results. Guidelines for deciding which elements are best used in the creation of a particular kind of experiment are also given. This title offers rich pedagogy, ethical considerations, and examples pertinent to all social science disciplines.

The Power in the Room Jay Gillen, 2019-09-24 How community-centered, peer-to-peer, youth knowledge exchanges are evolving into a strong economic and political foundation on which to build radical public education. Following in the rich traditions in African American cooperative economic and educational thought, teacher-organizer Jay Gillen describes the Baltimore Algebra Project (BAP) as a youth-run cooperative enterprise in which young people direct their peers' and their own learning for a wage. BAP and similar enterprises are creating an educational network of empowered, employed students. Gillen argues that this is a proactive political, economic, and educational structure that builds relationships among and between students and their communities. It's a structure that meets communal needs—material and social, economic and political—both now and in the future. Through the story of the Baltimore Algebra Project, readers will learn why youth employment is a priority, how to develop democratic norms and cultures, how to foster positive community roles for 20–30 year-olds, and how to implement educational accountability from below.

The Lost Templar Journals of Prince Henry Sinclair Book 1 - 1353-1395 Diana J Muir, 2019-07-16 The Journals of Prince Henry Sinclair and his descendants (20 books and a lambskin map) were found by accident in 2005 in a dusty dirty basement in Greeneville, TN. They then lay in a trunk in the back of the closet for almost 9 years before the author realized what she had. Translating the journals from Latin, Old English, and modern English she soon learned the story of her own 17th great-grandfather, Prince Henry Sinclair of Orkney and Scotland. Join the author and her great-grandfathers on a voyage of discovery as you learn about the covenant made between the St. Clair/Sinclair and Wemyss family, the Templars, the Native Americans, and the Freemasons. Travel with us as we search for the artifacts mentioned in the journals and validate the story. Book 1 of 10, tells the story of Henry as a young boy from the age of 8 in 1353 until 1395 when he plans a voyage with Captain Nicolo Zeno and his son Antonio Zeno to Greenland and beyond.

Universal Medical Care from Conception to End of Life Murray Sabrin, PH.D.,2021-08-11 Why has medical care become so complicated--and expensive? Not very long ago, an individual would visit a doctor to be treated for an illness that could not be cured by one of Grandma's recipes. Whether it was a sore throat, earache, or digestive pain, Grandma usually had some homespun medicine to deal with a common health issue. And if Grandma's medicine chest was not able to deal with a family member's illness, a neighborhood doctor was usually available to treat working families at his office, or he would make a house call for a reasonable fee. Fast-forward to today. Is the current system of providing medical care, namely, through employer-based insurance, Medicare, Medicaid, and Obamacare, the optimal methods to provide high-quality, low-cost care to all Americans? The answer is a resounding no. Universal Medical Care from Conception to End of Life: The Case for a Single-Payer System explains why the current system of employer-based insurance and government programs such as Medicare, Medicaid, and Obamacare are financially untenable and yields less than optimal outcomes for patients. Yet there are calls for more top-down approaches to medical care, most notably by Senator Bernie Sanders, who has campaigned for the presidency on a Medicare for All program, essentially putting all Americans under one medical umbrella, where the government would set all the parameters for medical care. Under the individual single-payer system outlined in Sabrin's manifesto, every American adult would be in charge of his or her medical coverage. There would be no more conflicts regarding insurance companies or the government paying for abortion, contraception, and other controversial medical procedures and medications. In a free market, every adult--the single payer--would pay for what he/she needs to achieve optimal health.

Coming of Age in the Other America Stefanie DeLuca,Susan Clampet-Lundquist,Kathryn Edin,2016-04-19 Recent research on inequality and poverty has shown that those born into low-income families, especially African Americans, still have difficulty entering the middle class, in part because of the disadvantages they experience living in more dangerous neighborhoods, going to inferior public schools, and persistent racial inequality. Coming of Age in the Other America shows that despite overwhelming odds, some disadvantaged urban youth do achieve upward mobility. Drawing from ten years of fieldwork with parents and children who resided in Baltimore public housing, sociologists Stefanie DeLuca, Susan Clampet-Lundquist, and Kathryn Edin highlight the remarkable resiliency of some of the youth who hailed from the nation's poorest neighborhoods and show how the right public policies might help break the cycle of disadvantage. Coming of Age in the Other America illuminates the profound effects of neighborhoods on impoverished families. The authors conducted in-depth interviews and fieldwork with 150 young adults, and found that those who had been able to move to better neighborhoods—either as part of the Moving to Opportunity program or by other means—achieved much higher rates of high school completion and college enrollment than their parents. About half the youth surveyed reported being motivated by an “identity project”—or a strong passion such as music, art, or a dream job—to finish school and build a career. Yet the authors also found troubling evidence that some of the most promising young adults often fell short of their goals and remained mired in poverty. Factors such as neighborhood violence and family trauma put these youth on expedited paths to adulthood, forcing them to shorten or end their schooling and find jobs much earlier than their middle-class counterparts. Weak labor markets and subpar postsecondary educational institutions, including exploitative for-profit trade schools and under-funded community colleges, saddle some young adults with debt and trap them in low-wage jobs. A third of the youth surveyed—particularly those who had not developed identity projects—were neither employed nor in school. To address these barriers to success, the authors recommend initiatives that help transform poor neighborhoods and provide institutional support for the identity projects that motivate youth to stay in school. They propose increased regulation of for-profit schools and increased college resources for low-income high school students. Coming of Age in the Other America presents a sensitive, nuanced account of how a generation of ambitious but underprivileged young Baltimoreans has struggled to succeed. It both challenges long-held myths about inner-city youth and shows how the process of “social reproduction”—where children end up stuck in the same place as their parents—is far from inevitable.

Mitten im Wind Röthlisberger Thomas,2024-03-15 »Erstaunlich ist, dass der Hund sich innerhalb kurzer Zeit mit der neuen Hausgenossin arrangiert zu haben scheint. Nicht dass sich die beiden gegenseitig den Pelz leckten, man geht sich aus dem Weg, aber man akzeptiert die Gegenwart des anderen. Dem Alten fällt es nach ein paar Tagen auf. Da ist er selbst noch nicht so weit. Da lässt er die regelmäßig aufkeimende Wut über die Katze noch am Hund aus. Nun ist der es ja gewohnt, dem Alten auszuweichen. Frieden herrscht nicht im Haus, da ist der Alte davor. Aber Waffenstillstand, immerhin. Wörter werden gezischt, gefaucht oder geknurr. Die neue, alte Form der Verständigung. So viel hat die Katze schon erreicht. Oder anders gesagt: Es ist wieder ein weibliches Wesen im Haus. Das aber würde der Alte nie zugeben.« »Psychologischer Feinsinn, eine sorgfältige Sprache für Geschichten mit Sogwirkung, dazu das Gesicht einer packenden Landschaft – sie zeichnen Thomas Röthlisbergers Texte aus. Fulfilling the Promise Mandy Savitz-Romer, 2020-07-22 Savitz-Romer offers a strategic approach to school counseling that enables educational leaders to draw on existing staff to create supportive contexts and programs for students. In this model of the “academic home,” counselors serve as the first point of contact for student support, connecting and coordinating services much like primary care physicians coordinate patient care in medical settings. They serve as the hub of a network of supports to prevent students from falling between the cracks. By highlighting promising practices in schools, districts, and states, and the efforts of individual school counselors and leaders, Fulfilling the Promise presents a conceptualization of school counseling that is relevant for all educators, as well as policy makers and funders. In order to create the conditions for school counselors to be most effective, however, systemic barriers must be addressed. This book brings together research, practical experience, and policy recommendations to envision a focused and practical role for school counselors in the twenty-first century.

Brott och straff i Värmland under 1500-talet Lars Erik Westlund, 2018-08-07
Avskräckning, vedergällning och i någon mån »förbättringstanken« kännetecknade straffrätten under 1500-talet. Bland straffarterna märktes dödsstraff, prygel och stympning men framför allt böter, som var den ojämförligt vanligaste påföljden. Tillräckligt höga böter kunde antas ha en allmänpreventiv inverkan, med böter kompenserades målsägaren och andra bötesberättigade parter inte bara moraliskt utan också ekonomiskt, och till skillnad mot andra former av straff möjliggjorde bötesstraff att en tidigare ostraffad kunde återanpassas till samhället. Grövre brott måste dock oftast sonas med livets förlust, inte minst i enlighet med vad som påbjöds i Bibeln med dess mosaiska straffbestämmelser. I denna bok redovisas en genomgång av de bevarade bötes- eller saköreslängderna för Värmland för åren 1503-1600, kompletterade med annat arkivmaterial. Dåtidens lagstiftning rörande de skilda brottstyperna (våldsbrott, stöld, äktenskaps- och sedlighetsbrott o.s.v.) beskrivs utförligt. Också domstolsväsendet, det processuella förfarandet och de förekommande straffen behandlas ingående, både ur ett värmländskt och ur ett allmänt perspektiv.
