Hollywood's Copyright Wars Peter Decherney,2013-09-01 Beginning with Thomas Edison's aggressive copyright disputes and concluding with recent lawsuits against YouTube, Hollywood's Copyright Wars follows the struggle of the film, television, and digital media industries to influence and adapt to copyright law. Though much of Hollywood's engagement with the law occurs offstage, in the larger theater of copyright, many of Hollywood's most valued treasures, from Modern Times (1936) to Star Wars (1977), cannot be fully understood without appreciating their legal controversies. Peter Decherney shows that the history of intellectual property in Hollywood has not always mirrored the evolution of the law and recounts these extralegal solutions and their impact on American media and culture.

Challenge-Based Learning in the School Library Makerspace Colleen Graves,Aaron Graves,Diana L. Rendina,2017-07-19 An invaluable how-to text that details the workshop model, addresses the design challenges, and explains the best avenues for curriculum-based learning in the school library makerspace. A successful school makerspace needs an enthusiastic maker community, school-wide participation, and staff support. How do you build this type of learning at your school? The innovative team behind Challenge-Based Learning in the School Library Makerspace addresses common questions and concerns and describes step-by-step how to introduce challenge-based learning into the school library makerspace. Intended for librarians and school staff who have already started thinking in terms of makerspaces but need further help sustaining programming and want to know more about Makerspace 2.0, this helpful guide details the workshop model, various real-world design challenges, and the process for implementing curriculum-based learning in the school library makerspace. Readers will be empowered to go beyond the initial implementation of a makerspace and to draw from an arsenal of proven methodologies for designing challenges for student learning. Additionally, the book enables the addition of curriculum connections to library programming, shows how to connect your students to local experts and the global maker community, and eases you into more productive collaboration with other librarians.

Studio Thinking 3 Kimberly M. Sheridan,Shirley Veenema,Ellen Winner,Lois Hetland,2023 Studio Thinking 3 is a new edition of a now-classic text, a research-based account of teaching and learning in high school studio arts classes. It poses a framework that identifies eight habits of mind taught in visual arts and four studio structures by which they are taught. This edition includes new material about how the framework has been used since the original study, with new perspectives from artist-teachers who currently apply the Studio Thinking Framework in their own practice. It also reviews how contemporary organizations, educators, and researchers outside the arts have utilized the framework, highlighting its flexibility to inform teaching and learning. The authors have added a new chapter on assessment to introduce the practical and thoughtful ways that teachers are using Studio Thinking to assess and evaluate students' work, working processes, and thinking in the arts. Praise for Previous Editions of Studio Thinking— "Winner and Hetland have set out to show what it means to take education in the arts seriously, in its own right." —The New York Times "This book is very educational and would be helpful to art teachers in promoting quality teaching in their classrooms." —School Arts Magazine "Studio Thinking is a major contribution to the field." —Arts & Learning Review "The research in Studio Thinking is groundbreaking and important because it is anchored in the actual practice of teaching artists ...The ideas in Studio Thinking continue to provide a vehicle with which to navigate and understand the complex work in which we are all engaged." —Teaching Artists Journal

Handover of Power - Media Andreas Seidl,2022-09-13 Media rethought Do you also sometimes worry about what information you can still trust? And do you also wish for a television programme in which you are more involved? Which media policy can realise freedom of the press and state publication obligations in equal measure? This book tells us: ... how eight democratically run TV channels can engage, educate and inform citizens, and control and publicise the work of government. ... how a fourth power in the state could look like, in which the citizens - depending on the controversy - determine which decisions should be made publicly. ... what path the formation of opinion can take when state and private media are separated and have to disclose their policy stance to their consumers. After 20 years of work on this book series, Andreas Seidl thus ventures a step towards founding a party. In doing so, he entertains his readers both intellectually and visionarily. If this work can give you hope, inspire you or move you to action, it has fulfilled its purpose. Available in German and English

Idea Power Arthur B. VanGundy,1992-01 Is it possible to create creativity? Especially in the workplace, where people are paid to do rather than dream? Absolutely. And in a business climate where companies must do more with less money and fewer resources, Idea Power is the one book to consult. It delivers all the information needed, whether you want to solve specific problems, stimulate new ideas, or start a full-fledged creativity training program. Arthur B. VanGundy has helped clients like Hershey Foods, Xerox, Monsanto, and Hallmark become more creative. He's an expert at helping people view problems from different perspectives and generate new solutions. His jargon-free ideas will help you do the same with all employees - not merely those in R&D or new product development. Creativity training requires knowledge about the creative process and the training tools and techniques available to teach it. Until now, that knowledge has been scattered across a wide variety of sources. Idea Power is the first book to put it all in one place; you simply won't find a better combination of concepts, reference materials, and how-to guidelines on: Business creativity. You'll explore issues involved in organizational innovation . . . See how to overcome obstacles such as politics, poor communication, and the head-in-the-sand syndrome . . . Discover a problem-solving process that's been tested scientifically and found to be highly effective. Creativity training. You'll learn to facilitate problem-solving groups, with a full chapter of creative thinking exercises . . . Design creativity training courses, with help from sample course outlines, training objectives, and a look at existing programs . . . Conduct and facilitate problem-solving retreats, now the preferred setting among many innovative organizations. Idea generation techniques. You'll discover how to get the creative juices flowing in individuals, small groups, or throughout an entire organization. Resources. You'll survey the full range of creativity enhancers - including films, audiocassettes, books, idea generation aids, and cutting-edge software for individuals and groups - and learn to select the best. With U.S. businesses under increasing pressure to innovate, more than a third of them now train their people to think, act, and solve problems more creatively. The payoffs are increased productivity, teamwork, and profitability. Join the innovators in today's idea age by putting Idea Power to work for you.

Best Ideas for Teaching with Technology Justin Reich, Tom Daccord, 2015-02-18 This practical, how-to guide makes it easy for teachers to incorporate the latest technology in their classes. Employing an informal workshop approach, the book avoids technical jargon and pays special attention to the needs of teachers who are expanding the use of computers in their classrooms. The authors focus on what teachers do and how they can do it better, and provide a wide variety of proven tools, tips, and methods for enhancing these activities with technology. Best Ideas for Teaching with Technology provides extensively illustrated tutorials for a wide variety of software, online tools, and teaching techniques. It covers everything from lesson plans, to time management, how to show animation, blogging, podcasts, laptop strategies, and much, much more. In addition, periodic updates to the text will be available on the authors' website.

When Gadgets Betray Us Robert Vamosi, 2011-03-29 Technology is evolving faster than we are. As our mobile phones, mp3 players, cars, and digital cameras become more and more complex, we understand less and less about how they actually work and what personal details these gadgets might reveal about us. Robert Vamosi, an award-winning journalist and analyst who has been covering digital security issues for more than a decade, shows us the dark side of all that digital capability and convenience. Hotel-room TV remotes can be used to steal our account information and spy on what we've been watching, toll-booth transponders receive unencrypted EZ Pass or FasTrak info that can be stolen and cloned, and our cars monitor and store data about our driving habits that can be used in court against us. When Gadgets Betray Us gives us a glimpse into the secret lives of our gadgets and helps us to better understand -- and manage -- these very real risks.
