SSH Configuration Interface. Design and Implementation of a “student self-service portal” for accessing to Linux-VMs Gheorghe Mironica,2021-11-02 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Computer Science - Software, grade: 1.7, University of Applied Sciences Ulm, course: Computer Science, language: English, abstract: Secure Shell (SSH) is mainly used for managing most of the world’s web servers. It creates a secure channel on top of an unsecured network by using the client-server model. The problem arises with the increase in the number of clients that leads to a corresponding increase in the maintenance work for the server administration. This thesis offers an insight into this problem and the solution to it. The SSH Configuration Interface (SSH CI) is one possible solution to simplify the process. It’s a client-server application that provides a simple but intuitive user interface (UI) to the users, so they can upload their public key directly to the server. The server thereon handles the request and, thus, excludes the need of an administration interaction from this process. The SSH protocol uses encryption to secure the connection between a client and a server. It’s mainly used to log into a remote machine and execute commands, but there are other useful features available like tunneling and forwarding of Transmission Control Protocol (TCP) ports. An SSH connection supports multiple methods of authentication, the most common being the public key authentication. The advantage of it over a simple password, for example, is security and flexibility. Public key authentication provides a security level that even extremely long passwords can’t offer. In a situation where multiple users have access to the same account on the server by using SSH key authentication, it is easy to revoke access to any of them just by deleting their public key from the server. No password has to be shared across the users.

The Rat's Death Gheorghe Andrei Neagu,2015-05-20 As an author, Gheorghe Neagu seems to be a different kind of nonconformist, which did not earn him recognition among readers and the large mass of critics. Observed by Nicolae Manolescu in Literary Romania of the '80s, when claims: I thought that the literary reportage died from Geo Bogza, and what can you see, after 25 years, here it appears in Gheorghe Neagu's writings... The author sets his areas of concern in the apparently normal world, ruled by fantasies and situations typical to Mircea Eliade, but treated in a completely personal manner. Now at his fourth book, the author can afford to laugh at the idea that there was no drawer literature. Most stories in this volume were in waiting at Albatros, Junimea and Romanian Book publishing houses.

Ethnobotany and Biocultural Diversities in the Balkans Andrea Pieroni,Cassandra L. Quave,2014-11-14 This volume addresses recent and ongoing ethnobotanical studies in the Balkans. The book focuses on elaborating the relevance of such studies for future initiatives in this region, both in terms of sustainable and peaceful (trans-regional, trans-cultural) rural development. A multi-disciplinary viewpoint is utilized, with an incorporation of historical, ethnographic, linguistic, biological, nutritional and medical perspectives. The book is also authored by recognized scholars, who in the last decade have extensively researched the Balkan traditional knowledge systems as they pertain to perceptions of the natural world and especially plants. Ethnobotany and Biocultural Diversities in the Balkans is the first ethnobotany book on one of the most biologically and culturally diverse regions of the world and is a valuable resource for both scholars and students interested in the field of ethnobotany.

Water Transport and Biological Membranes Gheorghe Benga,2018-05-04 The main purpose of this book is to provide in-depth presentation of physical techniques for measuring water transport and their applications to a variety of biological membranes, from model membrane systems to cell membranes, and then from isolated cells to multicellular barrier systems, such as epithelia or even whole organisms. This survey of water transport in such a broad range of membrane systems will hopefully contribute to understanding of the structure-function relationships and molecular mechanisms of water permeation. Moreover, the description of various techniques, together with a review of literature will enable the readers to assess whether a technique would be useful in helping to solve his or her particular problem of research and will also expand their competence in these techniques. The book consists of two volumes.

The Vascular Plant Communities of the Retezat National Park (Southern Carpathians) Gheorghe Coldea, Vasile Cristea, 2022-09-26 The floristic studies carried out during the 19th and 20th centuries in the Retezat Massif identified 1,152 plant species and 104 subspecies within the Cormobionta sub-regnum. Of these, about 12% are endemic Carpathian and Dacian-Balkan taxa that induce a regional specificity to the hosting communities. The phytocoenological research led to the description of 67 plant associations, grouped in 28 alliances, 19 orders and 13 vegetation classes. These classes are: Asplenetia trichomanis, Thlaspietia rotundifolii, Salicetia herbaceae, Montio-Cardaminetia, Scheuchzerio-Caricetia fuscae, Oxycocco-Sphagnetia, Molinio-Arrhenatheretia, Caricetia curvulae, Loisleurio-Vaccinietia, Elyno-Seslerietia, Mulgedio-Aconitetia, Carpino-Fagetia and Vaccinio-Piceetia. The following plant associations herein described are new syntaxa: Phyteumo confusi-Junicetum trifidi, Salici kitaibelianae-Dryadetum octopetalae and Aconito taurici-Rumicetum alpine. For the protection of some rare plant species and vulnerable plant associations, two natural reserves are proposed to be created within the “Limestone Retezat” area.
