

Hosain

Daniel Ryan Morse

Attia Hosain Raj Kumar Kaul,Jasbir Jain,2001 The present volume is a diptych volume and the first full-length study of Attia Hosain's work. Attia Hosain (1913-1998), is one of the earliest women writers of the Indian diaspora. R.K. Kaul explores the historical and literary aspects of her work contextualising her within the Indian, and more specifically the urdu, literary tradition while Jasbir Jain goes on. To open out her work in many different ways locating her within the topos of exile. Together the two sections reveal the hidden depths of Hosain's work and bring out not only its thematic richness, the partition theme, the dilemma of the Indian Muslim, the relationship with the raj, the dislocation of the aristocracy, but also the significance of space and of the cultural inheritance as it adapts and evolves.

Nomad Lois Beck,1991-12-19 During 1970 to 1971, Borzu and his people were faced with many difficulties. When the expected winter rains did not fall, pastures and crops shriveled. Unable to sell their starving livestock for any profit, Borzu's people saw their debts to urban merchants and moneylenders increase. At the same time, Iran exercised more bureaucratic control over the Qashqa'i by applying new policies over migratory schedules and the allocation of scarce pastures, and by introducing non-Qashqa'i agriculturalists and livestock investors as legitimate land users. All these measures threatened the nomad's way of life and eventually undermined the role of headmen such as Borzu. Lois Beck details the vicissitudes endured by Borzu's people and the strategies he devised to cope with them.

Radio Empire Daniel Ryan Morse,2020-11-10 Initially created to counteract broadcasts from Nazi Germany, the BBC's Eastern Service became a cauldron of global modernism and an unlikely nexus of artistic exchange. Directed at an educated Indian audience, its programming provided remarkable moments: Listeners in India heard James Joyce reading from Finnegans Wake on the eve of independence, as well as the literary criticism of E. M. Forster and the works of Indian writers living in London. In Radio Empire, Daniel Ryan Morse demonstrates the significance of the Eastern Service for global Anglophone literature and literary broadcasting. He traces how modernist writers used radio to experiment with form and introduce postcolonial literature to global audiences. While innovative authors consciously sought to incorporate radio's formal features into the novel, literature also exerted a reciprocal and profound influence on twentieth-century broadcasting. Reading Joyce and Forster alongside Attia Hosain, Mulk Raj Anand, and Venu Chitale, Morse demonstrates how the need to appeal to listeners at the edges of the empire pushed the boundaries of literary work in London, inspired high-cultural broadcasting in England, and formed an invisible but influential global network. Adding a transnational perspective to scholarship on radio modernism, Radio Empire demonstrates how the history of broadcasting outside of Western Europe offers a new understanding of the relationship between colonial center and periphery.

Modern British Women Writers Vicki K. Janik,Del Ivan Janik,2002-11-30 The 20th century witnessed several major cultural movements, including modernism, anti-modernism, and postmodernism. These and other means of understanding and perceiving the world shaped the literature of that era and, with the rise of feminism, resulted in a particularly rich body of literature by women writers. This reference includes alphabetically arranged entries on 58 British women writers of the 20th century. Some of these writers were born in England, while others, such as Katherine Mansfield and Doris Lessing, came from countries of the former Empire or Commonwealth. The volume also includes entries for women of color, such as Kamala Markandaya and Buchi Emecheta. Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes an overview of the writer's background, an analysis of her works, an assessment of her achievements, and lists of primary and secondary sources. The volume closes with a selected, general bibliography.

Broken Hearts Razique Hosain Shaikh, Hmmm, actually this Novel, this story is also like other love story. In addition to the emotion, drama, sacrifice, the rebellious attitude of boy's and girl's is also included. And the family status game is absolutely there. The only difference is that, it is a successful love story despite being unsuccessful. Unsuccessful that's why because usually if you have loved and married each other then you think and consider as success in. But, Muskaan and Munna fell in love but could not reach the sacred bond of marriage. Munna sacrifices his love and all the happiness for the respect and pride of Muskaan's family and embraced an unsolicited catastrophe. But after several years, when Munna stood up again in front of Muskaan in such a horrendous condition, in the battle of life and death. So, the land went out from Muskaan's feet. Because... Muskaan today is a successful doctor, living happy married life with her rich and famous husband...! So, should she do in these situation...? What would have Muskaan done...? Did Muskaan leave Munna in this death bed and go ahead...? Or did Muskaan help Munna to get out of this swamp...? What, When, How...???

Songs from Kabul John Baily,2011 This book presents the vocal art music of Kabul as performed by Ustad Amir Mohammad. At the heart of Kabul's vocal art music is the ghazal, a highly flexible song form using Persian (or Pashto) texts derived from a variety of sources. Central to the book is the audio CD, containing six ghazals, one mosammat and one Afghan-style tarâna, all recorded by John Baily between 1974 and 1976 in the city of Herat, in western Afghanistan.

Literary Theory and Criticism Arun Gupto,2021-08-30 The book explores key South Asian writings on cultural theory and literary criticism. It discusses the dynamics of textual contents, rhetorical styles, and socio-political issues through an exploration of seminal South Asian scholarship in the Humanities and Social Sciences. The volume examines concepts and methods of critical studies. It also discusses colonial and postcolonial discourses on art, religion, nationalism, identity, representation, resistance, and gender in the South Asian context. The essays are accompanied by textual questions and intertextual discussions on rhetorical, creative, and critical aspects of the selected texts. The exercise questions invite the reader to explore the mechanics of reading about and writing on discursive pieces in South Asian studies. Comprehensive and interdisciplinary, this textbook will be indispensable for students and researchers of South Asian studies, cultural theory, literary criticism, postcolonial studies, literary and language studies, women and gender studies, rhetoric and composition, political sociology, and cultural studies.
